Bathyscape Goes Down to Discover Trace of Thresher

By JAMES CALOGERO

ABOARD THE USS FORT SNELLING AT SEA (AP) — The Navy today sends its two-man bathyscaphe Trieste a mile and a half to the bottom of the Atlantic with hopes that it will locate the sunken submarine Thresher.

As preparations for the vital descent were completed, Capt. Frank A. Andrews, in charge of search operations, said in a shipboard interview:

"We have evidence to feel we are at the spot where Thresher sank, but you can never know about these things until you get down there and look around. That will be the job of Trieste."

Neutralists Are Attacked Again In Laos War

VIENTIANE (UPI)—Communist Pathet Lao forces attacked neutralist troops for the third straight day today on the embattled Plain of Jars, according to rightwing military sources here.

Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma also issued a communique today confirming the resumption of the Communist bombardments.

Three neutralist soldiers were reported to have been wounded and neutralist defenders also lost some equipment.

Denverite Drowns in Harrison Lake

DENVER (AP) — Dozens of persons searched Harrison Lake without success Sunday for Jean A. Clopp, 26, who was believed drowned after jumping from a one-man raft.

Two companions said Clopp shouted from about 100 feet from shore:

"I think I'll take a swim."

They said he partly disrobed, jumped into the water, shouted for help and disappeared. By the time they could reach him, they said he had vanished.

Morals Charges Filed in British Cabinet Scandal

By COLIN FROST

The 50-year-old osteopath, a key figure in the Profumo scandal, was again refused bail. He went back to jail to await a full hearing Friday.

Nature of the new charges, one accusing Ward of procuring a woman identified as "Miss X," emerged in legal fencing between defense and government lawyers.

Ward was arrested June 8 on charges of living off the earnings of prostitution. The prosecution announced at his first court appearance that it had more serious charges against Ward. Rumors immediately began flying that the charges might involve security or

Insecticides Not Needed; Nature Does Own Work

DENVER (UPI)—Nature apparently has come to the aid of the U.S. Forest Service destroying an infestation of spruce budworms in Pike National Forest just as the agency was about to move in with insecticides.

Dwight Hester, the forest pest control chief at the regional office of the Forest Service here, said spraying of a 3,000-acre area of trees was about to get underway. "And suddenly the worms started dropping dead off the trees," he said.

He explained that "natural factors" apparently had reduced the budworm population to the point that spraying was not needed.

By WILLIAM F. SUNDERLAND

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI promised today that the Vatican will not interfere in the affairs of other states.

In an audience for the Vatican diplomatic corps, the Pope pledged that his reign would continue the battle for world peace based on "the four pillars of truth, justice, love and liberty."

He told the diplomats of some 50 nations in his second official audience that "the Holy See does not propose . . . to intervene in the affairs or interests that pertain to temporal powers."

The United States has no relations with the Vatican so did not have a representative among the diplomats in the red-draped consistorial hall for the audience.

The Pope told the diplomats that "the Holy See is highly honored by your presence here."

"Whether it is a matter for normal diplomatic relations or of extraordinary occasions — such as the recent funeral rites for Pope John XXIII — the presence of the representatives of nations is a highly significant tribute to the spiritual mission of the Holy See."

Some observers said the remark could be interpreted as an indirect "thank you" to the United States since Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was the highest government representative to attend the rites.

Germans Asked By JFK to Join Peace Corps Plan

BONN, Germany (UPI)—President Kennedy appealed today to "dozens" of other free nations to join the United States in organizing peace corps "in a great international effort in the 1960's for peace."

Kennedy made the appeal after a two-hour talk on cold war problems with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in what was termed officially "a very cordial atmosphere." The two leaders conferred against the background of a renewed U.S. pledge to defend Europe at all costs.

The U.S. President said the world faces a "moral crisis," with the United States and Western Europe "islands of prosperity in a sea of poverty." He warned there can be no neutrals in the struggle against poverty and hunger.

Blanket of Dust Brought in by Strong Winds

The blanket of dust which covered the region late Sunday afternoon was brought in by strong winds from the east-south-east, according to weathermen at the U. S. Weather Station at Peterson Field.

The mountains, acting as a barrier, caused the dust to restrict visibility down to five miles at the airport, and even less in some local spots.

Weathermen said the light showers in the Plains east of Colorado Springs weren't enough to soak the ground, thus causing the top layers to become pulverized when dryness again set in.

This was picked up by the winds and was transported into the region. During the time the dust was settling in here, the highest gusts recorded at the weather station ranged up to 31 miles an hour.

The dust began coming in about 5:23 p.m. but had settled out by 10 p.m. Sunday.

Under the dry conditions now prevalent in the Plains area east of Colorado Springs, this is a fairly normal happening, weathermen said, but because of the strong winds the dust was carried on westward.

Britain Ousts Czech Diplomat On Spy Charges

LONDON (AP) — The British government ordered the expulsion of a Czechoslovak diplomat today accused of attempting to obtain British state secrets.

The Foreign Office said that Premysl Holan, a third secretary at the Czech Embassy, had been detected "trying to persuade a member of the public to obtain secret information."

No further details were given by the spokesman. He said Peter Thomas, British parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, summoned Ambassador Zdenek Trhlik to his office this morning and in a 15-minute meeting requested Holan's recall from London.

The reason Thomas gave for the expulsion order was that Holan had been seen trying to persuade a member of the public — whom the spokesman did not identify—to obtain secret information.

At the same time, the spokesman said, Thomas protested against "the abuse of Holan's diplomatic position."

The foreign office spokesman declined to say how many days Holan had been given to pack and get out. He refused to say if the information Holan was said to be seeking was military or political.

The spokesman said he could not elaborate on the information so far given out and would not even indicate if the incident took place in London or elsewhere in Britain.

House Trailer Destroyed by Sudden Blaze

Fire, reported by the Colorado Springs fire department to have been caused by a short in the electric wiring, destroyed a house trailer at the Prospect Lake Trailer Park Sunday. The owner and occupant was Howard Stueland. The family was away at the time and lost all personal belongings in the trailer.

The fire department was called at 7:23 p.m. and Companies 1 and 4 responded led by Capt. Bernard Bailey. The fire had got such a start that the firemen could not check it. The firemen prevented it from spreading to other trailers in the park.

At 1:46 a.m. Sunday Companies 1 and 4 went to 401 S. Nevada Ave., where the car of James Martin, 221 Stevens Dr., was on fire. Damage to the car was confined to the front seat.

Smoke from fireworks set off outside drifted into the house of J. A. Moon, 2203 Pheasant Pl., causing a fire alarm to be turned in at 8:41 p.m. Sunday. Company 6 responded. There was no fire.

Two Americans Wounded in Viet Nam War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Army men were wounded by Communist small arms fire north of Saigon Sunday night.

Amphibious Landing Practiced in Korea

POHANG, South Korea (AP)—A combined force of U.S. and South Korean marines went ashore today on beaches near this port on Korea's east coast in an amphibious landing exercise.

The landing was the climax of training operation Flagpole, delayed for three days by Typhoon Shirley. Sixty-seven ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet and the South Korean navy took part in the war games.

Republicans to Launch Cuba Issue Resolution

By WARREN DUFFEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republicans were set today to introduce a resolution to declare the presence of Soviet troops and equipment in Cuba a "clear violation of the Monroe Doctrine."

The resolution apparently was part of an effort by GOP political strategists to keep the Cuban issue alive for the 1964 campaign by maintaining a steady fire of criticism on the administration.

Republican lawmakers denied there was any coordinated plan of attack. However, there has been a concentrated fire on President Kennedy's Cuban policy in the Senate and House despite news emphasis on civil rights.

Included was a proposal last week by Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., that the United States open the Guantanamo naval base, in Cuba as a "territorial beachhead" for a Cuban government-in-exile. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and other GOP senators endorsed the idea.

The House resolution was drafted by a task force under Rep. James F. Battin, R-Mont., and approved Thursday by the House GOP Policy Committee.

The task force said it felt a congressional resolution last year did not go far enough and that a call for a "more firm and vigorous policy" on Cuba was needed.

The proposed resolution says U. S. policy objectives toward Cuba must be: end of Soviet intervention; establishment of conditions under which the Cuban people may freely exercise their right of self-determination, and an end to Communist sabotage, subversion and guerrilla warfare in the Western Hemisphere.

Many Republicans regard Cuban policy as their best campaign issue for 1964. They do not intend to let it become obscured by racial troubles and any civil rights actions the Kennedy administration may take.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said in his weekly home state radio broadcast Sunday that Allott's proposal was a "most compelling and courageous suggestion of a constructive nature which would put an end to the retreat from freedom which the United States has been leading in the Western Hemisphere."

Goldwater, a leading GOP presidential possibility, said in a Los Angeles speech Friday that the administration should give serious consideration to Allott's proposal.

The only risk, he said, would be that of "incurring Mr. Khrushchev's displeasure." And, he added, "I believe the American people are fully prepared for the consequences of any such development."

Communists Executed by Iraqi Squad

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — An Iraqi firing squad has executed 28 Communists charged with staging a 1959 bloodbath in the northern oil city of Kirkuk that took more than 100 lives, Baghdad radio says.

Earlier Iraqi President Abdel Salam Aref denied in a letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev that three women had been sentenced to death for Communist activities. Khrushchev had appealed to Aref to commute the reported sentences.

Soviet Culture Group Ogles Military Area

OSLO, Norway (AP)—A Soviet cultural delegation visiting Norway's easternmost province of Finnmark showed much greater interest in military installations than in culture, the paper Finnmark Tidende reports.

The paper, published in the far north city of Vardoe, charged specifically that the three Russians took a great many photographs of a military installation near Vardoe from a coastal liner and that they crawled under frames erected for drying cod to get close to military objectives.

Fast Plane More Vital Than Moon, Chenoweth Says

DENVER (UPI)—Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth, R-Colo., said Sunday he was convinced that the proposed supersonic transport plane is much more important to the future of the nation than putting a man on the Moon.

Chenoweth made the evaluation on the basis of a recent trip to France to attend the Paris Air Show, where he saw a model of the plane.

"I was amazed at the development coming out of England, France and Italy," he said. "They are definitely ahead of us in the development of the supersonic plane.

"They had a model of their plane there. I'm now convinced that the development of such a plane by us, which the President talked about at the Air Force Academy (earlier this month), is more important than whether we get to the Moon first or second."

Chenoweth was one of 17 congressmen who went to the show as guests of Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert. Chenoweth, who represents southeast Colorado is a member of the House Committee on Space.

It was his first trip to Paris, but he said there was no chance for sightseeing. "We went to the show, saw it and came back," he said.

Red Chinese Want Equality In Moscow

TOKYO (AP)—Red China has demanded equal footing with the Soviet Union when representatives of the two Communist giants meet in Moscow July 5 to discuss their ideological split.

A joint Chinese-North Korean communique signed in Peking Sunday said: "It is absolutely impermissible to go against the principle of consultation on an equal footing and force the will of one party or country on another."

The communique, issued at the end of a Chinese visit by North Korean President Choi Yong-kun, also brushed aside a Kremlin appeal for an end to public criticism of each other.

Motorist Burns To Death After Plunge of Car

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There still is no identification of a Colorado motorist who burned to death in his car near Hot Sulphur Springs late Saturday night.

T. Sgt. John Cowden, 40, of Lowry Air Force Base in Denver was flown to a Denver hospital with serious burns over his entire body. He was a passenger in the car which plunged off U.S. 34 at a curve and plunged down an embankment.

Patrolman George McNeil said Dobler's car and the truck driven by Leland Tackett, 38, of Goodland, Kan., collided one mile west of Burlington on U.S. 24.

McNeil said Tackett, who was traveling north on a county road, escaped injury.

Body of Denver Banker Found On Jones Pass

Weed's decomposed body, face down, was two miles from the spot where his abandoned car was found last Dec. 7 in the Jones Pass area 50 miles west of Denver.

The 51-year-old vice president of the Colorado National Bank apparently stumbled over a boulder and slid down a 130-foot incline with a 40-foot drop, sheriff's investigator Walt Board said.

The death was ruled accidental, resulting from exposure, by Dr. Freeman Fowler, coroner of Clear Creek County.

Weed's two sons, Arthur and Roger, were among 150 persons who resumed the search Saturday. A brief search last December was cut short by heavy snows.

A note found in Weed's car and identified as in his handwriting said in part:

"I feel as though I was a failure—as a husband, as a father and as a citizen. . ."

Weed was last reported seen at Denver's exclusive University Club, from which he went to his home during his family's absence and changed into outdoor clothing.

Investigators said all evidence indicated Weed stumbled accidentally over the boulder. In his car were found identification, credit cards and $22.50. His pockets were empty except for 32 cents.

The banker left his widow, two sons and a daughter, Hilary. Private funeral service and interment will be held later this week at Milton, Mass., where Weed was born.

He was a graduate of Milton Academy, Harvard University and the Harvard Law School and left Navy service in 1946 as a lieutenant commander.

ABOARD THE USS FORT SNELLING AT SEA (AP) — The Navy today sends its two-man bathyscaphe Trieste a mile and a half to the bottom of the Atlantic with hopes that it will locate the sunken submarine Thresher.

As preparations for the vital descent were completed, Capt. Frank A. Andrews, in charge of search operations, said in a shipboard interview:

"We have evidence to feel we are at the spot where Thresher sank, but you can never know about these things until you get down there and look around. That will be the job of Trieste."

Neutralists Are Attacked Again In Laos War

VIENTIANE (UPI)—Communist Pathet Lao forces attacked neutralist troops for the third straight day today on the embattled Plain of Jars, according to rightwing military sources here.

Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma also issued a communique today confirming the resumption of the Communist bombardments.

Three neutralist soldiers were reported to have been wounded and neutralist defenders also lost some equipment.

Denverite Drowns in Harrison Lake

DENVER (AP) — Dozens of persons searched Harrison Lake without success Sunday for Jean A. Clopp, 26, who was believed drowned after jumping from a one-man raft.

Two companions said Clopp shouted from about 100 feet from shore:

"I think I'll take a swim."

They said he partly disrobed, jumped into the water, shouted for help and disappeared. By the time they could reach him, they said he had vanished.

Morals Charges Filed in British Cabinet Scandal

By COLIN FROST

The 50-year-old osteopath, a key figure in the Profumo scandal, was again refused bail. He went back to jail to await a full hearing Friday.

Nature of the new charges, one accusing Ward of procuring a woman identified as "Miss X," emerged in legal fencing between defense and government lawyers.

Ward was arrested June 8 on charges of living off the earnings of prostitution. The prosecution announced at his first court appearance that it had more serious charges against Ward. Rumors immediately began flying that the charges might involve security or

Insecticides Not Needed; Nature Does Own Work

DENVER (UPI)—Nature apparently has come to the aid of the U.S. Forest Service destroying an infestation of spruce budworms in Pike National Forest just as the agency was about to move in with insecticides.

Dwight Hester, the forest pest control chief at the regional office of the Forest Service here, said spraying of a 3,000-acre area of trees was about to get underway. "And suddenly the worms started dropping dead off the trees," he said.

He explained that "natural factors" apparently had reduced the budworm population to the point that spraying was not needed.

By WILLIAM F. SUNDERLAND

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI promised today that the Vatican will not interfere in the affairs of other states.

In an audience for the Vatican diplomatic corps, the Pope pledged that his reign would continue the battle for world peace based on "the four pillars of truth, justice, love and liberty."

He told the diplomats of some 50 nations in his second official audience that "the Holy See does not propose . . . to intervene in the affairs or interests that pertain to temporal powers."

The United States has no relations with the Vatican so did not have a representative among the diplomats in the red-draped consistorial hall for the audience.

The Pope told the diplomats that "the Holy See is highly honored by your presence here."

"Whether it is a matter for normal diplomatic relations or of extraordinary occasions — such as the recent funeral rites for Pope John XXIII — the presence of the representatives of nations is a highly significant tribute to the spiritual mission of the Holy See."

Some observers said the remark could be interpreted as an indirect "thank you" to the United States since Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was the highest government representative to attend the rites.

Germans Asked By JFK to Join Peace Corps Plan

BONN, Germany (UPI)—President Kennedy appealed today to "dozens" of other free nations to join the United States in organizing peace corps "in a great international effort in the 1960's for peace."

Kennedy made the appeal after a two-hour talk on cold war problems with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in what was termed officially "a very cordial atmosphere." The two leaders conferred against the background of a renewed U.S. pledge to defend Europe at all costs.

The U.S. President said the world faces a "moral crisis," with the United States and Western Europe "islands of prosperity in a sea of poverty." He warned there can be no neutrals in the struggle against poverty and hunger.

Blanket of Dust Brought in by Strong Winds

The blanket of dust which covered the region late Sunday afternoon was brought in by strong winds from the east-south-east, according to weathermen at the U. S. Weather Station at Peterson Field.

The mountains, acting as a barrier, caused the dust to restrict visibility down to five miles at the airport, and even less in some local spots.

Weathermen said the light showers in the Plains east of Colorado Springs weren't enough to soak the ground, thus causing the top layers to become pulverized when dryness again set in.

This was picked up by the winds and was transported into the region. During the time the dust was settling in here, the highest gusts recorded at the weather station ranged up to 31 miles an hour.

The dust began coming in about 5:23 p.m. but had settled out by 10 p.m. Sunday.

Under the dry conditions now prevalent in the Plains area east of Colorado Springs, this is a fairly normal happening, weathermen said, but because of the strong winds the dust was carried on westward.

Britain Ousts Czech Diplomat On Spy Charges

LONDON (AP) — The British government ordered the expulsion of a Czechoslovak diplomat today accused of attempting to obtain British state secrets.

The Foreign Office said that Premysl Holan, a third secretary at the Czech Embassy, had been detected "trying to persuade a member of the public to obtain secret information."

No further details were given by the spokesman. He said Peter Thomas, British parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, summoned Ambassador Zdenek Trhlik to his office this morning and in a 15-minute meeting requested Holan's recall from London.

The reason Thomas gave for the expulsion order was that Holan had been seen trying to persuade a member of the public — whom the spokesman did not identify—to obtain secret information.

At the same time, the spokesman said, Thomas protested against "the abuse of Holan's diplomatic position."

The foreign office spokesman declined to say how many days Holan had been given to pack and get out. He refused to say if the information Holan was said to be seeking was military or political.

The spokesman said he could not elaborate on the information so far given out and would not even indicate if the incident took place in London or elsewhere in Britain.

House Trailer Destroyed by Sudden Blaze

Fire, reported by the Colorado Springs fire department to have been caused by a short in the electric wiring, destroyed a house trailer at the Prospect Lake Trailer Park Sunday. The owner and occupant was Howard Stucland. The family was away at the time and lost all personal belongings in the trailer.

The fire department was called at 7:23 p.m. and Companies 1 and 4 responded led by Capt. Bernard Bailey. The fire had got such a start that the firemen could not check it. The firemen prevented it from spreading to other trailers in the park.

At 1:46 a.m. Sunday Companies 1 and 4 went to 401 S. Nevada Ave., where the car of James Martin, 221 Stevens Dr., was on fire. Damage to the car was confined to the front seat.

Smoke from fireworks set off outside drifted into the house of J. A. Moon, 2203 Pheasant Pl., causing a fire alarm to be turned in at 8:41 p.m. Sunday. Company 6 responded. There was no fire.

Two Americans Wounded in Viet Nam War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Army men were wounded by Communist small arms fire north of Saigon Sunday night.

Amphibious Landing Practiced in Korea

POHANG, South Korea (AP)—A combined force of U.S. and South Korean marines went ashore today on beaches near this port on Korea's east coast in an amphibious landing exercise.

The landing was the climax of training operation Flagpole, delayed for three days by Typhoon Shirley. Sixty-seven ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet and the South Korean navy took part in the war games.

Republicans to Launch Cuba Issue Resolution

By WARREN DUFFEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republicans were set today to introduce a resolution to declare the presence of Soviet troops and equipment in Cuba a "clear violation of the Monroe Doctrine."

The resolution apparently was part of an effort by GOP political strategists to keep the Cuban issue alive for the 1964 campaign by maintaining a steady fire of criticism on the administration.

Republican lawmakers denied there was any coordinated plan of attack. However, there has been a concentrated fire on President Kennedy's Cuban policy in the Senate and House despite news emphasis on civil rights.

Included was a proposal last week by Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., that the United States open the Guantanamo naval base, in Cuba as a "territorial beachhead" for a Cuban government-in-exile. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and other GOP senators endorsed the idea.

The House resolution was drafted by a task force under Rep. James F. Battin, R-Mont., and approved Thursday by the House GOP Policy Committee.

The task force said it felt a congressional resolution last year did not go far enough and that a call for a "more firm and vigorous policy" on Cuba was needed.

The proposed resolution says U. S. policy objectives toward Cuba must be: end of Soviet intervention; establishment of conditions under which the Cuban people may freely exercise their right of self-determination, and an end to Communist sabotage, subversion and guerrilla warfare in the Western Hemisphere.

Many Republicans regard Cuban policy as their best campaign issue for 1964. They do not intend to let it become obscured by racial troubles and any civil rights actions the Kennedy administration may take.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S. D., said in his weekly home state radio broadcast Sunday that Allott's proposal was a "most compelling and courageous suggestion of a constructive nature which would put an end to the retreat from freedom which the United States has been leading in the Western Hemisphere."

Goldwater, a leading GOP presidential possibility, said in a Los Angeles speech Friday that the administration should give serious consideration to Allott's proposal.

The only risk, he said, would be that of "incurring Mr. Khrushchev's displeasure." And, he added, "I believe the American people are fully prepared for the consequences of any such development."

Communists Executed by Iraqi Squad

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — An Iraqi firing squad has executed 28 Communists charged with staging a 1959 bloodbath in the northern oil city of Kirkuk that took more than 100 lives, Baghdad radio says.

Earlier Iraqi President Abdel Salam Aref denied in a letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev that three women had been sentenced to death for Communist activities. Khrushchev had appealed to Aref to commute the reported sentences.

Soviet Culture Group Ogles Military Area

OSLO, Norway (AP)—A Soviet cultural delegation visiting Norway's easternmost province of Finnmark showed much greater interest in military installations than in culture, the paper Finnmark Tidende reports.

The paper, published in the far north city of Vardoe, charged specifically that the three Russians took a great many photographs of a military installation near Vardoe from a coastal liner and that they crawled under frames erected for drying cod to get close to military objectives.

Fast Plane More Vital Than Moon, Chenoweth Says

DENVER (UPI)—Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth, R-Colo., said Sunday he was convinced that the proposed supersonic transport plane is much more important to the future of the nation than putting a man on the Moon.

Chenoweth made the evaluation on the basis of a recent trip to France to attend the Paris Air Show, where he saw a model of the plane.

"I was amazed at the development coming out of England, France and Italy," he said. "They are definitely ahead of us in the development of the supersonic plane.

"They had a model of their plane there. I'm now convinced that the development of such a plane by us, which the President talked about at the Air Force Academy (earlier this month), is more important than whether we get to the Moon first or second."

Chenoweth was one of 17 congressmen who went to the show as guests of Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert. Chenoweth, who represents southeast Colorado is a member of the House Committee on Space.

It was his first trip to Paris, but he said there was no chance for sightseeing. "We went to the show, saw it and came back," he said.

Red Chinese Want Equality In Moscow

TOKYO (AP)—Red China has demanded equal footing with the Soviet Union when representatives of the two Communist giants meet in Moscow July 5 to discuss their ideological split.

A joint Chinese-North Korean communique signed in Peking Sunday said: "It is absolutely impermissible to go against the principle of consultation on an equal footing and force the will of one party or country on another."

The communique, issued at the end of a Chinese visit by North Korean President Choi Yong-kun, also brushed aside a Kremlin appeal for an end to public criticism of each other.

Motorist Burns To Death After Plunge of Car

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There still is no identification of a Colorado motorist who burned to death in his car near Hot Sulphur Springs late Saturday night.

T. Sgt. John Cowden, 40, of Lowry Air Force Base in Denver was flown to a Denver hospital with serious burns over his entire body. He was a passenger in the car which plunged off U.S. 34 at a curve and plunged down an embankment.

Patrolman George McNeil said Dobler's car and the truck driven by Leland Tackett, 38, of Goodland, Kan., collided one mile west of Burlington on U.S. 24.

McNeil said Tackett, who was traveling north on a county road, escaped injury.

Body of Denver Banker Found On Jones Pass

Weed's decomposed body, face down, was two miles from the spot where his abandoned car was found last Dec. 7 in the Jones Pass area 50 miles west of Denver.

The 51-year-old vice president of the Colorado National Bank apparently stumbled over a boulder and slid down a 130-foot incline with a 40-foot drop, sheriff's investigator Walt Board said.

The death was ruled accidental, resulting from exposure, by Dr. Freeman Fowler, coroner of Clear Creek County.

Weed's two sons, Arthur and Roger, were among 150 persons who resumed the search Saturday. A brief search last December was cut short by heavy snows.

A note found in Weed's car and identified as in his handwriting said in part:

"I feel as though I was a failure—as a husband, as a father and as a citizen. . ."

Weed was last reported seen at Denver's exclusive University Club, from which he went to his home during his family's absence and changed into outdoor clothing.

Investigators said all evidence indicated Weed stumbled accidentally over the boulder. In his car were found identification, credit cards and $22.50. His pockets were empty except for 32 cents.

The banker left his widow, two sons and a daughter, Hilary. Private funeral service and interment will be held later this week at Milton, Mass., where Weed was born.

He was a graduate of Milton Academy, Harvard University and the Harvard Law School and left Navy service in 1945 as a lieutenant commander.

Geologist Says Fryingpan Dam Site Is Terrible

DENVER (UPI) — A Denver geoogist charged Saturday the Bureau of Reclamation couldn't have picked a worse site for the Ruedi Dam, part of the Fryingpan-Arkansas Project, but a bureau spokesman said its proposed site is a good one.

W. A. Newton, a geologist and business executive, said the site the bureau has picked for the dam will be subject to extreme leakage landslides and uninhabitable shorelines.

H. P. Dugan, Director of the bureau's Region 7 headquarters here, countered that "exhaustive analysis of the geoolgic data collected so far confirmed the bureau's previous conclusion that the reservoir site will quite adequately perform the function for which it will be designed."

Dugan said two sites for the dam are being studied, however — one at the original site about 13 miles east of Basalt on the Fryingpan River and the other about 2,000 feet downstream.

Newton said the dam should be located 10 miles downstream, a site he said would be "far superior" for flood control, recreation and "greater watershed capture."

Ruedi Dam is the main Western Slope unit in the $170 million Fryingpan - Arkansas Project. The principal aim of the project is diversion of water from the Western Slope through a tunnel to the Arkansas River to provide supplemental water for the arid Arkansas Valley of southeast Colorado.

Newton charged the Bureau of Reclamation has spent half a million dollars during the past eight months to determine if the proposed reservoir site would hold water and that the report of the study is being withheld deliberately.

"Given the same problem, a competent engineering and geological firm could have given the answer in half the time at a fraction of the cost," he said. "This smacks of waste of the taxpayers' money..."

Newton insisted he has no intention of discrediting any phase of the Fryingpan-Arkansas Project, but added: "Geologically, a more unfavorable location for a dam or reservoir could hardly be found."

Dugan denied this.

"Beginning with the early planning of Ruedi reservoir, the bureau has been familiar with the geology of the area ..." he said.

"The first work scheduled on the project was extensive geologic exexploration of the reservoir site to make certain of our prevous conclusions."

Dugan said the bureau would choose between the two sites it is styding by the end o the summer.

"The engineering work on Ruedi dam and reservoir is on schedule and actual construction can start next spring if funds are approriat by Congress," Dugan said.

The Fryingpan - Arkansas Project was authorized by Congress in 1962 after a 0-year fight. Then $600,000 was approlriated to get preliminary engineering studies under way. Ruedi is expected to cost about $12.8 million.

Kennedy Carries Unity Campaign To West Germany

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BONN (AP)—President Kennedy carries his personal campaign for greater Allied unity into policy talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today, seeking some way to bring key European nations into partnership with the United States in the nuclear defense of the West.

U.S. officials predicted the strategy and timing of the U.S. proposal for creation of a NATO nuclear missile navy would be chief among the divisive issues Kennedy would discuss with Adenauer and other West German leaders.

The United States and West Germany agree on the need for such a force. The problem facing Kennedy and Adenauer is now to obtain the agreement of other allies, particularly Britain and Italy. Neither the President nor the chancellor wants an exclusively German-American nuclear force, officials said.

The President was reported be in excellent spirits following the triumphant welcome he received Sunday as he journeyed from Wahn Airport in brisk sunny weather through the crowded streets of Cologne and Bonn. More than half a million people cheered his progress, and members of his party agreed his trip had gotten off to a highly successful start.

Looking at the clamoring thousands at one point, Kennedy said: "Gee whiz, it's too bad these people aren't American voters."

"It certainly was a nice welcome," he told German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. "It could not have been better."

For most of the long, slow automobile trip, which ran from mid-morning until mid-afternoon, when he arrived at the U.S. Embassy residence in nearby Bad Godesberg, television carried the scene all over Western Europe. Kennedy's words were carried to millions within and beyond the borders of Germany.

The several brief speeches he made, at the airport and in the central squares in Cologne and Bonn, were addressed to the German crowds before him. But his words were also aimed at the larger audiences whose acceptance and support he sought. The themes he sounded were the need for unity in the West, for growth in the Atlantic alliance, and for confidence in U.S. defense pledges to Europe.

The President did not mention French President Charles de Gaulle by name. But much that he said was designed to answer De Gaulle's argument that Western Europe needs its own independent nuclear force or national forces—such as France is building—because it cannot rely on U.S. protection in some future crisis with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy aimed a direct blow at De Gaulle's challenge on this point in his very first statement. Responding to Adenauer's welcome at the Wahn Airport, he told the Europeans:

"So long as our presence is desired and required, our forces and commitments will remain. For your safety is our safety, your liberty is our liberty, and any attack on your soil is an attack upon our own. Our fortunes are one."

While thus renewing the American pledge to the European allies Kennedy took care to stress also a peace theme, in line with his recent call for improved relations between the Soviet Union and the West.

"We are allies in the only war we seek," he said, "the war against poverty, hunger, disease and ignorance, in our own countries and around the world."

Kennedy was expected to develop these themes further in a news conference he scheduled for late today and a major policy speech he will give in Frankfurt Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday he will visit West Berlin, before going on to Ireland, England and Italy.

Parking Meters Robbed by Romance

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The key to the romantic tableau that stopped an Irish visitor in his tracks last weekend fit the Tulsa treasury rather than the heart of a girl who hugged her beau in public.

Desmond Hayes, 21, from Limerick, Ireland, knew that Americans are openly affectionate. But what he saw on a Tulsa sidewalk wasn't just affection.

A couple was locked in am embrace. They broke apart, walked to a parking meter, embraced again. They made their way down the street, embrace by embrace, meter by meter.

Hayes approached, heard coins clinking and called police.

A parking meter separated the sidewalk lovers each time they clinched. The passionate paid had a homemade parking meter key and police said they had more than $100 in change when arrested.

New Center for Retarded Children Opened

DENVER (AP) — The new Maryville Center for Children in Englewood was awarded a state license Saturday as the first such facility to be approved by the state of Colorado.

Dr. Nolie Mumey is board chairman of the unique institution established by physicians Homes & Hospitals, Inc., as a means of trying new methods in treatment of the retarded.

The 400-bed hospital was praised by David Hamil, state instutions director, and by Dr. Roy L. Cleere, director of public health.

"We're mighty glad to get this institution going," Hamil said. "We hope it will relieve the pressure on Wheat Ridge and Grand Junction."

There are 450 retarded and handicapped children on the waiting list for those two state institutions.

Dr. Cleere said the Maryville Center is the first privately owned facility of its type to be awarded a state license, approved by the State Board of Health this week.

He said the aims of the Maryville doctors, widely known in treatment of retarded children, are those of the state.

The administrator of Maryville, James Smtih, said the state license should permit parents of retarded children to obtain the benefits of private medical insurance 'for the long-term care required for these disabilities."

Neither the President nor the chancellor wants an exclusively German-American nuclear force, officials said.

The President was reported be in excellent spirits following the triumphant welcome he received Sunday as he journeyed from Wahn Airport in brisk sunny weather through the crowded streets of Cologne and Bonn. More than half a million people cheered his progress, and members of his party agreed his trip had gotten off to a highly successful start.

Looking at the clamoring thousands at one point, Kennedy said: "Gee whiz, it's too bad these peoiple aren't American voters."

"It certainly was a nice welcome," he told German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. "It could not have been better."

For most of the long, slow automobile trip, which ran from mid-morning until mid-afternoon, when he arrived at the U.S. Embassy residence in nearby Bad Godesberg, television carried the scene all over Western Europe. Kennedy's words were carried to millions within and beyond the borders of Germany.

The several brief speeches he made, at the airport and in the central squares in Cologne and Bonn, were addressed to the German crowds before him. But his words were also aimed at the larger audiences whose acceptance and support he sought. The themes he sounded were the need for unity in the West, for growth in the Atlantic alliance, and for confidence in U.S. defense pledges to Europe.

The President did not mention French President Charles de Gaulle by name. But much that he said was designed to answer De Gaulle's argument that Western Europe needs its own independent nuclear force or national forces—such as France is building—because it cannot rely on U.S. protection in some future crisis with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy aimed a direct blow at De Gaulle's challenge on this point in his very first statement. Responding to Adenauer's welcome at the Wahn Airport, he told the Europeans:

"So long as our presence is desired and required, our forces and commitments will remain. For your safety is our safety, your liberty is our liberty, and any attack on your soil is an attack upon our own. Our fortunes are one."

While thus renewing the American pledge to the European allies Kennedy took care to stress also a peace theme, in line with his recent call for improved relations between the Soviet Union and the West.

"We are allies in the only war we seek," he said, "the war against poverty, hunger, disease and ignorance, in our own countries and around the world."

Kennedy was expected to develop these themes further in a news conference he scheduled for late today and a major policy speech he will give in Frankfurt Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday he will visit West Berlin, before going on to Ireland, England and Italy.

Last year there were 7,372 reported cases of mail carriers being bitten by dogs.

Parking Meters Robbed by Romance

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The key to the romantic tableau that stopped an Irish visitor in his tracks last weekend fit the Tulsa treasury rather than the heart of a girl who hugged her beau in public.

Desmond Hayes, 21, from Limerick, Ireland, knew that Americans are openly affectionate. But what he saw on a Tulsa sidewalk wasn't just affection.

A couple was locked in am embrace. They broke apart, walked to a parking meter, embraced again. They made their way down the street, embrace by embrace, meter by meter.

Hayes approached, heard coins clinking and called police.

A parking meter separated the sidewalk lovers each time they clinched. The passionate paid had a homemade parking meter key and police said they had more than $100 in change when arrested.

New Center for Retarded Children Opened

DENVER (AP) — The new Maryville Center for Children in Englewood was awarded a state license Saturday as the first such facility to be approved by the state of Colorado.

Dr. Nolie Mumey is board chairman of the unique institution established by physicians Homes & Hospitals, Inc., as a means of trying new methods in treatment of the retarded.

The 400-bed hospital was praised by David Hamil, state instutions director, and by Dr. Roy L. Cleere, director of public health.

"We're mighty glad to get this institution going," Hamil said. "We hope it will relieve the pressure on Wheat Ridge and Grand Junction."

There are 450 retarded and handicapped children on the waiting list for those two state institutions.

Dr. Cleere said the Maryville Center is the first privately owned facility of its type to be awarded a state license, approved by the State Board of Health this week.

He said the aims of the Maryville doctors, widely known in treatment of retarded children, are those of the state.

The administrator of Maryville, James Smtih, said the state license should permit parents of retarded children to obtain the benefits of private medical insurance 'for the long-term care required for these disabilities."

Four Atom Subs Are Launched By U.S. Navy

By WILLIAM D. CLARK

GROTON, Conn. (UPI) — The United States made naval history Saturday by launching four nuclear submarines in simultaneous ceremonies.

The subs' combined armaments are capable of destroying any belligerent nation in the world.

The occasion also marked the first simultaneous christening in the 66-year history of submarine construction. The super-Polaris sub Tecumseh and the attack sub Flasher — one of each type of America's awesome underseas weaponry—went off the ways together here at the Electric Boat Shipyards of General Dynamics Corp.

Flasher is a sistership of the ill-fated Threhser, which sank in the Atlantic April 10 with 129 men aboard. Thresher was the lead boat of the class.

Mrs. Paul B. Fay Jr., wife of the undersecretary of the Navy, and Mrs. Robert Sikes, wife of Florida's 1st district congressman, smashed the traditional bottles of domestic champagne against the blunt-nosed, beribboned prows of he Tecumseh and Flasher to trigger them into the Thames River.

A similar ceremony was performed on the Daniel Boone at Mare Island, by Mrs. James H. Wakelin Jr., wife of the assistant secretary of the Navy for research and development.

At Newport News, 14-year-old Rosalie J. Calhoun helped launch the John C. Calhoun. Rosalie was one of the youngest sponsors of a submarine and a great-great-great-granddaughter of the famed South Carolina statesman for whom the ship was named.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) – One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results – here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids – without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) – discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

Germans Asked By JFK to Join Peace Corps Plan

a visit to West Germany, delivered this warning as he watched the birth of a West German peace corps modeled on that in the United States.

Earlier, Kennedy and Adenauer, 87, sat down in the chancellor's office, alone except for interpreter, and discussed efforts to reach a nuclear test ban accord with the Soviets, trade relations between member nations of the Atlantic community and the Kennedy-sponsored project for a multi-lateral nuclear force inside NATO.

At the same time their foreign ministers and other officials met in another room to discuss German reunification, the Berlin problem and international conditions in Communist East Germany, including the latest Red border restrictions. The officials, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, also discussed the multi-lateral force project.

Kennedy then drove to the nearby Villa Hammerschmidt, the West German presidential residence, to call on President Heinrich Luebke. It was there that Kennedy attended the peace corps ceremony.

The U.S. President had a private talk with Luebke and stayed on for lunch at the villa before returning to the chancellory for further talks with Adenauer in the afternoon.

led to a small area of the Atlantic by what they described as a fairly heavy concentration of debris at the bottom and three separate magnetic contacts.

The spot is 220 miles off Boston and only a few hundred yards from the last known position of Thresher when she sank with the loss of 129 men in a test dive last April 10.

A 10-foot wide yellow buoy, named Bagel II because it resembles a bagel, or doughnut, marks the descent spot of Trieste. The buoy is held taut by a half-inch nylon line weighted with two old locomotive wheels of 750 pounds each. It is equipped with electronic fingers and sonar equipment to serve as a guide for Trieste.

Dr. Joseph L. Worzel, chief scientist aboard the Lamont Observatory research vessel Conrad which planted the buoy, said the ship's under-water camera photographed debris as recently as Sunday morning.

He described the new find as a "Big chunk of debris," but refused to elaborate pending an examination of the photograph by Navy officials in Washington.

Capt. Andrews said other significant pieces of debris photographed or recovered from the key area were a battery plate and a sheet of metal measuring about 120 square feet. He said the battery plate dragged to the surface was of the type used inside the pressure hull in Thresher class submarines.

Andrews described the big piece of metal with insultation backing as resembling the baffling around sonar gear on Navy ships.

Also photographed at the bottom in that area recently were an air bottle and pieces of piping.

A Navy court of inquiry last week reported destruction of the atomic submarine most likely resulted from the rupture of an engine room pipe under heavy sea pressure.

In addition to the debris, the Conrad reported three excellent magnetic contacts at the ocean bottom, one on June 12 and two others June 14.

The Trieste has been in reading since it was brought to Boston April 26 from the Pacific. She arrived at the dive scene Sunday afternoon after a four-day tow by the salvage ship USS Preserver.

The USS Fort Snelling arrived at the scene several hours earlier after accompanying the Trieste part of the way. Aboard the Fort Snelling were Capt. Andrews and a corps of newsmen. The Snelling also carried a 50-foot unnamed vessel which serves as Trieste's "mother ship" hoverig above her and maintaining constant telephone and television contact.

blackmail, but Ward's attorneys said the latest accusations concerned neither.

Defense attorney James Burge said the first five new charges are expansions of the original charge. The sixth, he continued, "refers to a lady, Miss X, being procured on Jan. 5, 1963, and is all really part of the same allegation."

The other two charges accuse Ward of advising "an unknown person" to commit a crime—"unlawfully using an instrument to procure the miscarriage of a woman," Burge said.

George Wigg, Labor party expert on defense and security, charged that three Americans who have been working out of London were behind an international blackmail syndicate providing call girls for top men in London and New York.

Wigg said the three Americans fled London after exposure of some ramifications of former British War Minister John Profumo's affair with call girl Christine Keeler. Wigg did not name them.

Wigg, who first called attention in the House of Commons to rumors about Profumo and Christine, added in newspaper and television interviews that another major government scandal involving security risks will be exposed within six months.

British newspapers reported that two U.S. Air Force men have been recalled from Britain to Washington for questioning.

The reports said they were Airman Charles Lee Wright of Mount Vernon, Ill., and Sgt. George Hopkins of Bellaire, Ohio.

Both were stationed at 3rd Air Force headquarters at Ruislip, west of London, and both had known Christine, who was the mistress of an assistant Soviet naval attache at the same time she was having an affair with Profumo.

The two Americans were shipped out of Britain Friday after being questioned at Ruislip. They will be interrogated in the Pentagon, papers reported.

Christine has said she once spent some time in the south of France with a high-ranking U.S. naval officer. Her friend Mandy Rice-Davies, 18, says she was on weekending terms with an American diplomat in Paris.

The pro-Labor Daily Mirror gave its entire front page today to denying the nationwide rumor that royalty is mixed up in the affair.

Under the headline "Prince Philip and the Profumo Scandal" it said:

"The foulest rumor which is being circulated about the Profumo scandal has involved the royal family.

"The name mentioned in this rumor has been Prince Philip's.

"The rumor is utterly unfounded."

It said three members of the royal Family — Prince Philip, Princess Marina and Princess Alexandra—had sat for portraits by Ward, also an artist.

But it added that this was Ward's only contact with any member of the family.

Christine also told the weekly News of the World that no members of the royal family "are involved in my story." She said she also had not met any government ministers except Profumo.

Pike Medal Given For Japan Mayor

Among the presents from Colorado Springs which Dr. Takanobu Furukoshi will carry to the mayor of Fujiyoshida, Japan, is the Zebulon Pike Commemorative Medal.

Made of solid silver, the medal commemorates the 100th year anniversary of the discovery of Pikes Peak in 1806. The medal was minted in 1906 in limited quantity at the Philadelphia mint under an act of the U. S. Congress.

It is considered a collector's item by coin experts. The few remaining after the 1906 celebration were put in a bank vault of the First National Bank of Colorado Springs, and lay unnoticed for many years.

In 1955 when the old bank was razed for the new building, the medals were found and presented to the Historical Society of the Pikes Peak Region. Since then, they have been reserved for official presentation to distinguished and honored visitors to Colorado Springs.

The mayor of the Colorado Springs Sister City, Noboru Horiuchi, will receive the medal from Dr. Furukoshi on the latter's return to his home city.

'Others Unknown' Charged Also in Murder of Evers

Pierce said police questioned Beckwith, but did not elaborate.

One of 15,000 telescopic sights and a fingerprint on it led the FBI to Beckwith at Greenwood. They found five of the imported Japanese six-power Golden Hawk sights went to Mississippi, all to a Grenada gun dealer.

One was traced to Beckwith, a gun collector, whom the FBI questioned Friday night without getting any answers.

Saturday night at a meeting arranged by Greenwood attorney Yerger Moorehead, a relative of Beckwith, FBI agents arrested Beckwith under provisions of the 1957 Civil Rights Act.

"Beckwith and others unknown conspired to injure, oppress and intimidate Medgar Evers in the free exercise and enjoyment of rights and privileges secured to him by the Constitution," the FBI said.

Evers was state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Capt. Ralph Hargrove, chief of the Jackson police identification bureau, fingerprinted Beckwith Sunday and said his prints matched one on the scope attached to a rifle that fired the fatal shot.

It was Hargrove who first discovered the latent print—one invisible to the eye but brought out by chemicals.

Jackson detectives discovered the gun in mid-morning of June 12, about 10 hours after Evers was shot down in his driveway, in a honeysuckle thicket near where officers believe the shot was fired.

Beckwith, a member of the diehard segregationist Citizens Council and described as a man who hated Negroes, faces death in the state's gas chamber if convicted on the murder charge.

His attorneys are also members of the Citizens Council, as are the mayor, commissioners and most prominent persons in Greenwood, located in a county with a 2-1 Negro majority and 30 miles from Indianola, where the Citizens Council was born in 1945. Lott is city attorney and attorney for the voter registrar of Leflore County.

State Dist. Atty. Bill Waller said Beckwith woud go before the Hinds County grand jury convening July 1 and that he would have a preliminary hearing if he requested it.

Beckwith, a 5-foot-7, 160-pound man, was driven to the Jackson police station Saturday night by five FBI men. He wore a dark suit, white shirt and expensive tie and a Shriner's pin on his lapel.

Opening of Bids Slated for New Junior High School

lot and that construction is expected to be completed in August of next year.

Contracts have already been awarded for grading of the site and for structural steel for the project.

It was the steel contract for more than $75,000, which was let to a Denver firm last month, which led to charges by Tom Pearce of the Jordan & Knight Welding Co. here.

Peace said that he and other local firms were unable to bid for the project because district officials ordered that "Construction News," an area construction organ, not print an announcement that bids were to be opened.

Officials denied this and other charges by Pearce. They pointed out that a legal ad had appeared in an area newspaper and that nothing was unusual in the manner in which the bidding was carried out.

Plans for the new building call for construction of three buildings — the academic area, gymnasium and industrial arts building all of which are to be joined by covered walks.

Food Poisoning Bane of Picnickers

The great American holiday — the July 4th weekend — is almost here again.

For millions of American families it will be a four-day holiday this year. And for almost every family the long holiday weekend will bring at least one family picnic.

The July 4th picnic is as traditional in America as the hot dog — which often is a main staple of the picnic lunch. Even the flies and the ants have a big time at picnics.

But now and then picnics end in tragedy — the tradegy of food poisoning. Most foods spoil quickly in hot weather and away from refrigeration. If there are a few staphylococcic bacteria present, they need only a few hours of time and a warm tempeature to grow rapidly. Some foods can become poisoned in as little as five or six hours on a hot day.

There are some easy and simple ways to avoid food poisoning on a picnic. One valuable item is a good portable icebox. Chill the foods thoroughly in the refrigerator at home. Use plenty of ice. Make sure the lid is tight. This will keep your perishables fresh.

Take along the sandwich ingredients in the original wrappings and containers and make up your picnic lunch on the spot, just before mealtime. Take the ham in a sealed can and open it at mealtime. The same applies to mayonnaise. Keep the boiled eggs and potatoes separate in the ice box, and mix the potato salad at the last minute.

Stick to canned foods and sealed jars and bottles that can be opened just before serving. Be careful about pies and cream-filled bakery items. They spoil very fast on a hot day. Fresh fruits keep better and will make good desserts.

It's actually not very difficult to insure safe picnic meals. Just follow your home practice of refrigerating those foods that need it. If you make up a hamper of sandwiches, load it into your hot auto trunk, head for the beach and eat many hours later — well, you're asking for trouble.

Walking Vital To Good Health Heart Group Says

Ordinarily, most people would not dream of swallowing live goldfish, crowding eight-deep into a telephone booth, breaking up a defenseless piano, or taking a spin in a laundromat machine. But let a craze hit, and we're off!

That's what hapepned with the 50-mile hike the President suggested for the Marines. Politicians pulled out their walking shoes; photographers and business men pushed away from heavy luncheons; secretaries covered their typewriters. Off on the 50-mile trek!

Now as any member of the corps will tell you, our Marines are in excellent physical condition — they spend a lot of time staying that way, too. They are in condition for the 50-mile hike.

However, for a lot of Americans, the longest distance regularly walked is from the driveway to the house. For them to embark on a 50-mile hike is like expecting the baby to run before he can crawl.

Exercise is necessary to maintain good health, but it should be tailored to the individual. It should also be taken in gradually increasing doses. Strenuous exertion for a person unaccustomed to any exercise may be harmful, according to the Colorado Heart Association.

Hiking is a fine form of exercise, especially rewarding during the clear summer and autumn weather. If a Sunday drive out to the country is a family custom, keep it up — but don't drive all the time.

Park the car at a good place — a state park or a place with hills and trees and flowers and nary a hotdog stand or "no trespassing" sign in sight — and go exploring on foot.

Stop every now and again to catch your breath and teach your youngsters (or learn along with them) a few lessons about the natural beauty of the surroundings; the plant life, clouds, moss and trees, the birds, squirrels, or other animals you may see.

Whether you gather arrowheads or wildflowers or come home empty-handed, it's a delightful way to spend time with your family, get fresh air and provide a work-out for your muscles, including your heart muscle.

In many big cities, members of walking clubs hike to historic sites or other points of interest within the city limits. Usually these walking tours are organized for weekends when more people are free to participate.

But don't reserve walking for weekends. Make some walking part of your every day routine. Get into the habit of leaving the car behind if you have only a short distance to go, The Colorado Heart Association suggests.

After a few weeks you'll find you won't get so winded when you climb stairs or carry the groceries home.

To enjoy walking to the utmost, pretend you are a Marine. Breathe deep; straighten your shoulders; hold your head up, your stomach in. A couple of miles of walking like this each day will help keep your weight down, firm your muscles, ease workaday tensions and put you and your heart in much better shape for any athletic vacation you may be planning. You'll look better in a bathing suit too.

Edwin V. Berry, YMCA Man, Dies

Edwin Victor Berry, 2211 W. Pikes Peak Ave., died Saturday at 87 at a local nursing home. He was a well known former YMCA secretary and was a lifelong member of the Methodist Church.

Later he was a director of physical education in Iola, Kan., and then was made general secretary of the YMCA in Hutchinson, Kan., which office he held for 10 years, afterwards becoming YMCA secretary in Albuquerque, N.M. He then came to Colorado Springs for his wife's health. Mrs. Berry died Dec. 5, 1949. In 1953 Mr. Berry was married to Beatrice Campbell, who survives him. Germans Asked By JFK to Join Peace Corps Plan a visit to West Germany, delivered this warning as he watched the birth of a West German peace corps modeled on that in the United States.

Earlier, Kennedy and Adenauer, 87, sat down in the chancellor's office, alone except for interpreter, and discussed efforts to reach a nuclear test ban accord with the Soviets, trade relations between member nations of the Atlantic community and the Kennedy-sponsored project for a multi-lateral nuclear force inside NATO.

At the same time their foreign ministers and other officials met in another room to discuss German reunification, the Berlin problem and international conditions in Communist East Germany, including the latest Red border restrictions. The officials, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, also discussed the multi-lateral force project.

Kennedy then drove to the nearby Villa Hammerschmidt, the West German presidential residence, to call on President Heinrich Luebke. It was there that Kennedy attended the peace corps ceremony.

The U.S. President had a private talk with Luebke and stayed on for lunch at the villa before returning to the chancellory for further talks with Adenauer in the afternoon.

led to a small area of the Atlantic by what they described as a fairly heavy concentration of debris at the bottom and three separate magnetic contacts.

The spot is 220 miles off Boston and only a few hundred yards from the last known position of Thresher when she sank with the loss of 129 men in a test dive last April 10.

A 10-foot wide yellow buoy, named Bagel II because it resembles a bagel, or doughnut, marks the descent spot of Trieste. The buoy is held taut by a half-inch nylon line weighted with two old locomotive wheels of 750 pounds each. It is equipped with electronic fingers and sonar equipment to serve as a guide for Trieste.

Dr. Joseph L. Worzel, chief scientist aboard the Lamont Observatory research vessel Conrad which planted the buoy, said the ship's under-water camera photographed debris as recently as Sunday morning.

He described the new find as a "Big chunk of debris," but refused to elaborate pending an examination of the photograph by Navy officials in Washington.

Capt. Andrews said other significant pieces of debris photographed or recovered from the key area were a battery plate and a sheet of metal measuring about 120 square feet. He said the battery plate dragged to the surface was of the type used inside the pressure hull in Thresher class submarines.

Andrews described the big piece of metal with insultation backing as resembling the baffling around sonar gear on Navy ships.

Also photographed at the bottom in that area recently were an air bottle and pieces of piping.

A Navy court of inquiry last week reported destruction of the atomic submarine most likely resulted from the rupture of an engine room pipe under heavy sea pressure.

In addition to the debris, the Conrad reported three excellent magnetic contacts at the ocean bottom, one on June 12 and two others June 14.

The Trieste has been in reading since it was brought to Boston April 26 from the Pacific. She arrived at the dive scene Sunday afternoon after a four-day tow by the salvage ship USS Preserver.

The USS Fort Snelling arrived at the scene several hours earlier after accompanying the Trieste part of the way. Aboard the Fort Snelling were Capt. Andrews and a corps of newsmen. The Snelling also carried a 50-foot unnamed vessel which serves as Trieste's "mother ship" hoverig above her and maintaining constant telephone and television contact.

blackmail, but Ward's attorneys said the latest accusations concerned neither.

Defense attorney James Burge said the first five new charges are expansions of the original charge. The sixth, he continued, "refers to a lady, Miss X, being procured on Jan. 5, 1963, and is all really part of the same allegation."

The other two charges accuse Ward of advising "an unknown person" to commit a crime—"unlawfully using an instrument to procure the miscarriage of a woman," Burge said.

George Wigg, Labor party expert on defense and security, charged that three Americans who have been working out of London were behind an international blackmail syndicate providing call girls for top men in London and New York.

Wigg said the three Americans fled London after exposure of some ramifications of former British War Minister John Profumo's affair with call girl Christine Keeler. Wigg did not name them.

Wigg, who first called attention in the House of Commons to rumors about Profumo and Christine, added in newspaper and television interviews that another major government scandal involving security risks will be exposed within six months.

British newspapers reported that two U.S. Air Force men have been recalled from Britain to Washington for questioning.

The reports said they were Airman Charles Lee Wright of Mount Vernon, Ill., and Sgt. George Hopkins of Bellaire, Ohio.

Both were stationed at 3rd Air Force headquarters at Ruislip, west of London, and both had known Christine, who was the mistress of an assistant Soviet naval attache at the same time she was having an affair with Profumo.

The two Americans were shipped out of Britain Friday after being questioned at Ruislip. They will be interrogated in the Pentagon, papers reported.

Christine has said she once spent some time in the south of France with a high-ranking U.S. naval officer. Her friend Mandy Rice-Davies, 18, says she was on weekending terms with an American diplomat in Paris.

The pro-Labor Daily Mirror gave its entire front page today to denying the nationwide rumor that royalty is mixed up in the affair.

Under the headline "Prince Philip and the Profumo Scandal" it said:

"The foulest rumor which is being circulated about the Profumo scandal has involved the royal family.

"The name mentioned in this rumor has been Prince Philip's.

"The rumor is utterly unfounded."

It said three members of the royal Family — Prince Philip, Princess Marina and Princess Alexandra—had sat for portraits by Ward, also an artist.

But it added that this was Ward's only contact with any member of the family.

Christine also told the weekly News of the World that no members of the royal family "are involved in my story." She said she also had not met any government ministers except Profumo.

'Others Unknown' Charged Also in Murder of Evers

Pierce said police questioned Beckwith, but did not elaborate.

One of 15,000 telescopic sights and a fingerprint on it led the FBI to Beckwith at Greenwood. They found five of the imported Japanese six-power Golden Hawk sights went to Mississippi, all to a Grenada gun dealer.

One was traced to Beckwith, a gun collector, whom the FBI questioned Friday night without getting any answers.

Saturday night at a meeting arranged by Greenwood attorney Yerger Moorehead, a relative of Beckwith, FBI agents arrested Beckwith under provisions of the 1957 Civil Rights Act.

"Beckwith and others unknown conspired to injure, oppress and intimidate Medgar Evers in the free exercise and enjoyment of rights and privileges secured to him by the Constitution," the FBI said.

Evers was state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Capt. Ralph Hargrove, chief of the Jackson police identification bureau, fingerprinted Beckwith Sunday and said his prints matched one on the scope attached to a rifle that fired the fatal shot.

It was Hargrove who first discovered the latent print—one invisible to the eye but brought out by chemicals.

Jackson detectives discovered the gun in mid-morning of June 12, about 10 hours after Evers was shot down in his driveway, in a honeysuckle thicket near where officers believe the shot was fired.

Beckwith, a member of the diehard segregationist Citizens Council and described as a man who hated Negroes, faces death in the state's gas chamber if convicted on the murder charge.

His attorneys are also members of the Citizens Council, as are the mayor, commissioners and most prominent persons in Greenwood, located in a county with a 2-1 Negro majority and 30 miles from Indianola, where the Citizens Council was born in 1945. Lott is city attorney and attorney for the voter registrar of Leflore County.

State Dist. Atty. Bill Waller said Beckwith woud go before the Hinds County grand jury convening July 1 and that he would have a preliminary hearing if he requested it.

Beckwith, a 5-foot-7, 160-pound man, was driven to the Jackson police station Saturday night by five FBI men. He wore a dark suit, white shirt and expensive tie and a Shriner's pin on his lapel.

Pike Medal Given For Japan Mayor

Among the presents from Colorado Springs which Dr. Takanobu Furukoshi will carry to the mayor of Fujiyoshida, Japan, is the Zebulon Pike Commemorative Medal.

Made of solid silver, the medal commemorates the 100th year anniversary of the discovery of Pikes Peak in 1806. The medal was minted in 1906 in limited quantity at the Philadelphia mint under an act of the U. S. Congress.

It is considered a collector's item by coin experts. The few remaining after the 1906 celebration were put in a bank vault of the First National Bank of Colorado Springs, and lay unnoticed for many years.

In 1955 when the old bank was razed for the new building, the medals were found and presented to the Historical Society of the Pikes Peak Region. Since then, they have been reserved for official presentation to distinguished and honored visitors to Colorado Springs.

lot and that construction is expected to be completed in August of next year.

Contracts have already been awarded for grading of the site and for structural steel for the project.

It was the steel contract for more than $75,000, which was let to a Denver firm last month, which led to charges by Tom Pearce of the Jordan & Knight Welding Co. here.

Peace said that he and other local firms were unable to bid for the project because district officials ordered that "Construction News," an area construction organ, not print an announcement that bids were to be opened.

Officials denied this and other charges by Pearce. They pointed out that a legal ad had appeared in an area newspaper and that nothing was unusual in the manner in which the bidding was carried out.

Plans for the new building call for construction of three buildings — the academic area, gymnasium and industrial arts building all of which are to be joined by covered walks.

Food Poisoning Bane of Picnickers

The great American holiday — the July 4th weekend — is almost here again.

For millions of American families it will be a four-day holiday this year. And for almost every family the long holiday weekend will bring at least one family picnic.

The July 4th picnic is as traditional in America as the hot dog — which often is a main staple of the picnic lunch. Even the flies and the ants have a big time at picnics.

But now and then picnics end in tragedy — the tradegy of food poisoning. Most foods spoil quickly in hot weather and away from refrigeration. If there are a few staphylococcic bacteria present, they need only a few hours of time and a warm tempeature to grow rapidly. Some foods can become poisoned in as little as five or six hours on a hot day.

There are some easy and simple ways to avoid food poisoning on a picnic. One valuable item is a good portable icebox. Chill the foods thoroughly in the refrigerator at home. Use plenty of ice. Make sure the lid is tight. This will keep your perishables fresh.

Take along the sandwich ingredients in the original wrappings and containers and make up your picnic lunch on the spot, just before mealtime. Take the ham in a sealed can and open it at mealtime. The same applies to mayonnaise. Keep the boiled eggs and potatoes separate in the ice box, and mix the potato salad at the last minute.

Stick to canned foods and sealed jars and bottles that can be opened just before serving. Be careful about pies and cream-filled bakery items. They spoil very fast on a hot day. Fresh fruits keep better and will make good desserts.

It's actually not very difficult to insure safe picnic meals. Just follow your home practice of refrigerating those foods that need it. If you make up a hamper of sandwiches, load it into your hot auto trunk, head for the beach and eat many hours later — well, you're asking for trouble.

Walking Vital To Good Health Heart Group Says

Ordinarily, most people would not dream of swallowing live goldfish, crowding eight-deep into a telephone booth, breaking up a defenseless piano, or taking a spin in a laundromat machine. But let a craze hit, and we're off!

That's what hapepned with the 50-mile hike the President suggested for the Marines. Politicians pulled out their walking shoes; photographers and business men pushed away from heavy luncheons; secretaries covered their typewriters. Off on the 50-mile trek!

Now as any member of the corps will tell you, our Marines are in excellent physical condition — they spend a lot of time staying that way, too. They are in condition for the 50-mile hike.

However, for a lot of Americans, the longest distance regularly walked is from the driveway to the house. For them to embark on a 50-mile hike is like expecting the baby to run before he can crawl.

Exercise is necessary to maintain good health, but it should be tailored to the individual. It should also be taken in gradually increasing doses. Strenuous exertion for a person unaccustomed to any exercise may be harmful, according to the Colorado Heart Association.

Hiking is a fine form of exercise, especially rewarding during the clear summer and autumn weather. If a Sunday drive out to the country is a family custom, keep it up — but don't drive all the time.

Park the car at a good place — a state park or a place with hills and trees and flowers and nary a hotdog stand or "no trespassing" sign in sight — and go exploring on foot.

Stop every now and again to catch your breath and teach your youngsters (or learn along with them) a few lessons about the natural beauty of the surroundings; the plant life, clouds, moss and trees, the birds, squirrels, or other animals you may see.

Whether you gather arrowheads or wildflowers or come home empty-handed, it's a delightful way to spend time with your family, get fresh air and provide a work-out for your muscles, including your heart muscle.

In many big cities, members of walking clubs hike to historic sites or other points of interest within the city limits. Usually these walking tours are organized for weekends when more people are free to participate.

But don't reserve walking for weekends. Make some walking part of your every day routine. Get into the habit of leaving the car behind if you have only a short distance to go, The Colorado Heart Association suggests.

After a few weeks you'll find you won't get so winded when you climb stairs or carry the groceries home.

To enjoy walking to the utmost, pretend you are a Marine. Breathe deep; straighten your shoulders; hold your head up, your stomach in. A couple of miles of walking like this each day will help keep your weight down, firm your muscles, ease workaday tensions and put you and your heart in much better shape for any athletic vacation you may be planning. You'll look better in a bathing suit too.

Edwin V. Berry, YMCA Man, Dies

Edwin Victor Berry, 2211 W. Pikes Peak Ave., died Saturday at 87 at a local nursing home. He was a well known former YMCA secretary and was a lifelong member of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Berry was born Oct. 27, 1875, in York County, Pa. His family moved to Warren County, Ill., when he was 10 years old and he attended public schools there and went to Cottonwood College and later to George Williams College, Chicago, where he specialized in physical education.

He joined the Young Men's Christian Association in Monomuth, Ill., where he taught physical education and was later appointed secretary. Later he was a director of physical education in Iola, Kan., and then was made general secretary of the YMCA in Hutchinson, Kan., which office he held for 10 years, afterwards becoming YMCA secretary in Albuquerque, N.M. He then came to Colorado Springs for his wife's health. Mrs. Berry died Dec. 5, 1949. In 1953 Mr. Berry was married to Beatrice Campbell, who survives him. The Nature of 'The Establishment'

We have been hearing quite a bit about the "Establishment."

In the present climate, wherein much fear exists as a result of communism, Castro and Khrushchev, there is a tendency for peope to believe that the so-called "Establishment" is a part of a sinister plot. Actually, it isn't. It is the way people behave.

Philosophers have long noted that bodies of thought or belief tend to be formed at intellectual levels, attracting their followers and influencing contemporary life. These bodies of thought are often called "schools" altho there may be no formalized institution at all.

A group of persons who tend to read the same books, who accept fairly well the same kind of objectives, who have similar backgrounds and ambitions will form a "school." They may never know each other tho they might drift together. But they will work, sometimes knowingly and sometimes unknowingly, for ends which they will hold in common. They may even adopt identical or similar means by which they hope to attain their goals.

The dominating "school" of thought in a given area, be it local, state-wide, or national, tends to become what is called "The Establishment."

No one is quite certain just why these things occur nor how they occur, but occur they do. Still, there are certain factors here that do appear.

The "Establishment" is invariably made up of "influential" people.

They may or they may not occupy governmental posts. Those who are not acquainted with the processes of influence are often led to believe that the government and the "Establishment" are one and the same. But they are not.

As a matter of fact, when a national "Establishment" occurs the government very frequently seeks to pattern itself to the order of these influential people in the Establishment, altho few if any of the really influential people might consent to serve in politics.

This is often true in communities, also, altho here there is usually less resistance to participation in government by the truly influential.

If we take a small community and observe its development, we might very quickly come to learn how an "Establishment" as such, comes into existence.

A community is founded by a "leader" or "leaders." These will be the pioneer settlers, but they do not have to date back to what we call "pioneer days" altho they not infrequently do.

The persons who tend to find admission into the "Establishment" are frequently the first businessmen, particularly when they are in certain lines of business. Bankers as such are often "Establishment" people. So are authors, ministers, professors, large holders of real estate, or retired persons of means.

But there is no rule here, for there are bankers and many others in every walk of life who, by their professions, might be eligible for the "Establishment" but who will never "arrive."

What is important to admission into the "Establishment" are two things: 1) an acceptance of the general school of belief held by the original persons of influence. 2) A willingness to follow the lead of those in influential position, who are already in the "Establishment."

Such persons, tho they begin as clerks, will finally be accepted. Others, tho they begin as millionaires, will not be.

This is a truly fascinating behavioral pattern and we will have more to say about it in subsequent writings.

Specifics

The Elite Behind the Throne

One of the key factors to the formation and perpetuation of an "Establishment" in the behavioral sense, is the individual quality of holding to broad interests beyond the immediate business of each member. The man who contents himself with becoming a personal success in life and who tends to mind his own business will usually not join the Establishment.

But it should immediately be made clear that no Establishment worthy of the name ever "elects" officers or formally admits members. There are no dues, no bylaws, no rules of procedure. A person "joins" the Establishment when his thinking and his behavior indicate that he follows the beliefs held by the influential people in the group; that he is willing to listen to them; that he is willing to obey them; that he is willing to do favors for them.

This is never spelled out. Establishment people may not even know for a time that they are "in" and that others are not. When they recognize that their circle of operation includes the most influential people and when their own advice and counsel is eagerly sought, their words listened to in awe, then they may grow aware of the fact that they have "joined."

Members of this curious elite are, in a sense, the "men with a plan." That is, they have a fairly well formulated rationale respecting the behavior of others. Their interests are broad. They believe that their community should have the benefit of Project Y and Institution X but that it should NOT have Project Z nor Institution W. They will subtly let their views be known. Primarily, they will be good communicators. They will make it appear that their point of view is "right" for the community and anyone opposed is automatically "wrong."

In this way they distribute a kind of status to those who support them and those who are courageous enough to differ or to actively oppose find themselves among the pariahs.

If you observe the behavior of persons in small communities, or even large ones, it doesn't take long for you to find out who the Establishment elite are. These are the persons who are asked to endorse nearly everything, but who are choosy and endorse only those things in harmony with broad "school" thinking or objective. You will see them serving in hundreds of "honorary" capacities. You will discover that they tend to advance each other within their exclusive circle.

Non-establishment people are often fooled as a result of this readily seen cohesion. Not infrequently they will suppose that a plot or a conspiracy, or at least a working organization, is what keeps these people together and moving as they do. It is even whispered darkly at times that bribery is used by the Establishment when it tries to get its way with government.

But these suppositions are usually false. The Establishment does not have to descend to such obvious and crude methods. Politicians usually owe their careers to Establishment members and are only too eager to perform as bidden.

Indeed, it is not unknown for the politicians to get together to decide on a course of action, only to find that one of their number, a man with contacts in the Establishment, will positively go back on his word and bolt the concensus because word has reached him that the Establishment would be displeased with such and such an action.

Our personal view regarding the Establishment is that it is harmless save at the point where it employs government to its own ends. At this point, it is no better than any other user of force.

"We've decided there's more to life than yard work."

To The Point

The Foreign Aid Budget

By RUSSELL KIRK

Among the recommendations of General Lucius Clay for improvement and reduction (if modest) in quantity of the American foreign-aid program, there is a fairly bold declaration that aid should be discontinued entirely in certain countries unable to profit by it, or which misuse the funds and materials.

General Clay's report suggests that Indonesia should be denied further help, for almost all the money sent to Java has gone down the drain, and Soekarno has moved steadily closer to the Communist bloc, acquired Soviet Russian armaments, and menaced his neighbors. Countries like Nepal, too, and Afghanistan — so the Clay report runs — may as well be crossed off the list of recipients, for aid there, in whatever quantity, cannot suffice to defend them against a Russian threat or to change markedly their economies.

General Clay and his colleagues were reported to have thought of adding Brazil — where the government has made no attempt to check inflation, and gives some aid and comfort to the Fidelistas — to the blacklist; but still Brazil was not so denominated in the final report, perhaps because influential people in Washington still fondly dream of a Brazilian reformation.

It is curious that nothing was said about withdrawing aid from certain other countries whose record is as bad as that of Indonesia. Not only has our massive aid been ineffectual in a number of states, but it has done positive harm both to the recipient countries and to their neighbors.

Take Egypt. Here American aid has made no significant contribution toward alleviating Egypt's severe economic and agricultural difficulties. But American funds have enabled Nassar to divert his other revenues to purchasing heavy armaments from Soviet Russia, and to pursuing military intrigues against Israel and the Yemen, and to overawe Syria and Iraq. We have actually disturbed the peace of the Levant by enormous grants to this dictator.

Take Ghana. Here the dictator Nkrumah hides within his palace-fortress, not daring to show his face for fear of assassination. His economic policies have been ruinous; they include the socializing of key industries and the destruction of the security and independence of the native farmer. American aid enables him to retain his power over that unhappy country. And Nkrumah votes with the Soviet bloc.

Take Algeria. Despite the generosity both of America and of France, the Algerian regime becomes steadily more repressive, confiscates private property arbitrarily, allows only one party to exist, and professes its admiration for Fidel Castro. Ben Bella has established a center for encouraging rebellion against Portugal and other allies of the United States. Must we pay him for his disservices?

By denying further largess to these nations, we not only would reduce our enormous budget, but would impress upon other recipients the necessity for proper employment of our grants in aid.

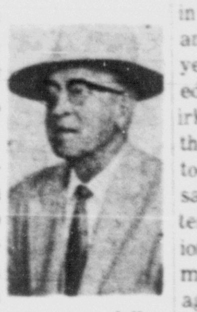
The Old Mountaineer

Thoughts by The Wayside

By FRANK McDONOUGH JR.

The old Quaker saying, "Everyone is queer, except thee and me — and sometimes thou art a little queer," is a thought which comes to all of us at some time or another. How many other folks can you think of who are one hundred per cent perfect? In your own mind, the other fellow has a point of diversion from the normal which is not exactly what you think the normal to be. The sooner we all realize that the other fellow has a right to his own viewpoint, has a right to conduct himself within lawful bounds, and to arrange his life and thinking according to his own wishes, the sooner we will all arrive at a true state of our own peaceful minds. So as a premise I shall admit that I am a little queer and that it is your right to think of me as such.



Having been reared in a conservative family, I find that in my older years I am still a conservative. I was rather shocked when our President, in a Los Angeles political speech a year ago branded all conservatives as extremists. An extremist in any line can be placed in the class of being queer, so I begin to wonder how queer I am actually. Living in this arid climate all my life, and realizing how life giving and yet scarce water is, I was trained in its careful use. It always irked me that men would leave the athletic shower baths and fail to turn off the water. Untold thousands of gallons of precious water are wasted daily in that fashion right here in our own community. Facing a present shortage, there nevertheless is sufficient water to irrigate and keep beautiful and green our street parkways. Yet in the flooding process of irrigation, wasted water is permitted to run down the gutters and into the sewers. We do not need to be stingy in the use of water except in times of extreme shortage, but we could always be careful, wise in our use, and hence be true conservatives. If that makes me queer, that is exactly what I am.

Of course, the President was speaking politically, and for political effect. He put the brand of extremism on all who are opposed to wasteful expenditures. That, of course, is because he has been reared in the luxury of wealth, and has never had to learn the lesson that there is a vast difference between frugality and waste, between debt and solvency, between extravagance and soundness. To him, anyone on the conservative side of these phases of life, is an extremist.

I do not agree. There are certain fundamentals in physical and spiritual laws, and when one obeys these laws he is a conservative. One who breaches them is an extremist. One who goes far back into the centuries and gives obedience to the Mosais Decalogue is a true conservative and according to modern parlance is a right winger. One who goes back to our revolutionary days and is loyal to the precepts of the founding fathers is not a reactionary, but merely conservative. True, there is always room for advance in human thought and action, but these must not take us away from the fundamentals by way of the new frontier, new deal, or otherwise. Compensation for the bearing of illegitimate children is not really advance thinking — it is mere political hypocrisy. Compensation out of public funds for not working, or for not growing crops, is not advance thinking—is is pure political bribery. The pendulum will surely swing back to normalized thinking, and away from the present wild, impractical, foggy dreaminess. It will do so surely if we conservatives, right wingers and fundamentalists stand our ground.

It is well to be conservative in your associations with others and the societies which you join. Realizing that one should not necessarily be a lone wolf, I have tried to limit my affiliations, and be somewhat selective. In my day I have joined one cultural society, one patriotic society, one church, one group for civic service, and one fraternal organization. That is about as conservative as you can get, altho if you are a woman and belong to the DAR you are spat upon by the red-tinged parlor pinks. One can be really careless and foolish about joining everything that comes along, and I am glad that I never joined the Ku Klux Klan nor the Mafia because they are truly extremists. I have never joined the John Birch Society, probably because nobody has ever asked me. Their basic tenets are truly conservative when compared to the extremes of the new frontier, altho their leaders might well tone down their language.

A small group, being conservatives and non-joiners, decided that it was high time for a new organization. So they formed one. They call it the Caucasian Branch of the Civil Liberties League. There is a saying that if you give certain folks an inch, they will take a mile. Under outside or ill-advised agitation, the interracial turbulence is getting dangerously out of bounds. There are plenty of white folks who are thoroly sympathetic with the basic fact that all men are created equal and entitled to equal opportunity under the law. But this same group cannot get it thru their thick skulls exactly why they should be deprived of their own right to select their own friends, develop their own institutions, meet and eat and talk with folks of their own choosing. Those rights are as sacred to white people as they are to people of other races. The admitted fact that the rights of some are entitled to be advanced, does not mean that the rights of others should be submerged.

So with watchful eye on the preservation of their own rights, and entirely sympathetic to the rights of others, the Caucasian Branch of the Civil Liberties League is fast coming into being.

Question Box

Question No. 254: "What idol is causing Americans the most trouble?"

That is an interesting question, because we cannot correct our beliefs until we know what they are.

It would seem to us that too many American people are worshipping or are loyal to or have reverence for the will of the majority; that they put the majority above the inalienable rights that belong to the individual. This is contrary to both the Hebrew and Christian religions. And when people believe that the majority determines right, then we have no standard, as Washington pointed out, to which men of virtue and character can repair.

And we cannot determine right from wrong unless we have a moral absolute. And a moral absolute certainly is not the will of the majority. It is an eternal, natural law that governs the universe and applies equally to all individuals.

If we are not using the majority as an idol, then how do we arrive at the right of the majority to force the minority to pay for schooling that they think will corrupt the youth and manhood of our country? Just what standard of right justifies the majority forcing the minority to pay for and even submit his children to schools sanctioned by the agents of the majority, which invariably means some politician?

If we are not worshipping the idol of the majority, why do we force people to pay taxes to send foreign aid all over the world? If we are not worshipping the idol of the majority, why do we have protective tariffs and immigration restrictions, if we do not believe that the agents of the majority have a right to do things that no individual has a moral right to do?

Of course, when the state or the majority attempts to do things that the individual would regard as harmful to his fellowman, we have a double standard, or really no standard at all. That undoubtedly is the reason crime is increasing, unemployment constantly threatening us, our debts increasing, and in almost constant wars. Man cannot serve two masters.

God or Order or Nature is one. Idols have always degraded and debauched those who worshipped them.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

These Days

You Can't Penalize Ingenuity

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The worst thing about Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman's plans for rigid control of this country's wheat production is that it would have forbidden farmers to exercise any ingenuity. Extended over the whole range of agriculture, strict controls of both acreage plantings and sales would soon bring a dead halt to the technological farm revolution that has made the U.S. the best-fed nation in history.

This columnist believes that the attempt to control acreage allotments is self-defeating in the long run. But an individual farmer can live with acreage controls and still feel that he has some incentive to do the best job he can with what he actually does plant. The farm journals are filled with stories of how Jim So-and-so, limited to X number of acres by the girl down at the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, managed to increase his yield per acre by planting a new disease-resistant variety of seed, or by adding this or that trace of mineral to his fertilizer, or by using better insect and weed control.

The challenge to get the most out of the least space has made practically all of American agriculture intensive. There has been a devastating war on ticks and mites, on weeds, on grasshoppers and green bugs. The fun of the game has been exhilarating to many farmers who have put up with acreage allotments with the sure knowledge that they could exercise their ingenuity in spite of the "ASC Office."

True enough, the farmer's ingenuity creates terrible social headaches in the form of surpluses. But whenever a dictatorial bureaucracy tries to take the free play of individualism out of farming, a different sort of social headache results. The farmer who has no incentive to get more from what he is doing becomes apathetic. And, one fine day, the bureaucracy that is charged with regimenting agriculture finds that it has a famine on its hands.

This has happened in every country that has tried to make the farmer an order-taker instead of an order-giver. It happened in Russia when the ancient serfdom of the czars was re-established in the guise of the collective farm. The Kulaks, anticipating the loss of any free play for their ingenuity, killed and ate their cows, and the Soviets have suffered from a meat shortage ever since. In Yugoslavia, dictator Tito, who had a better knowledge of the peasantry than happened to be the case with the Russian Politburo, did not go to the extreme of trying to kill off individual peasant agriculture. In acting thus he has roused the ire of China's Mao Tse-tung, the holier-than-thou Marxist of Peking. But Tito has been sitting pretty with his own peasants, who have gone on producing.

The case of Red China is the most recent example of what happens when you try to turn the farmer into a 100 per cent order-taker. As Valentin Chu tells the story of Mao Tse-tung's agricultural heavy-handedness in a sprightly book called "Ta Ta, Tan Tan: The Inside Story of Communist China," the experience of the Chinese in attempting to regiment the peasants would be comical if it were not so tragic in the starvation that has resulted. In 1958 Mao pronounced it the "Year of the Miracle," and reports were issued that collectivist discipline had resulted in getting eight million pounds of cabbage from a single acre, to say nothing of 12,175 apples from a single apple tree in Manchuria. A year later, despite Peking's manipulation of statistics, Mao's government had to admit that great shortages, unheard of even in China, had occurred in wheat, edible oil, vegetables, meat, tea, silk, cotton, hemp and tobacco.

To save the day, the Red Chinese have had to restore some freedom to the peasant to make his own decisions. Refugees in Hong Kong report that Chinese peasant families are now permitted to have their own garden plots, on which they can raise food both for themselves and for sale.

If Secretary Freeman had succeeded in turning the American wheat farmer into a complete order-taker, it would not have resulted in starvation. But farmers were afraid that strict regimentation in one crop would lead to strict controls in other things, particularly in cattle. With strict regimentation a meat shortage could occur even within the space of a single year.

Cultivate Patience

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

In 1961 I became involved in a situation which made me believe I required the services of an attorney. Out of a small field, I selected a man who seemed to be disliked by a few other lawyers. He listened patiently while I recited the facts of the case, then he asked a few pertinent questions, then I waited, impatiently.

The attorney advised me not to take the legal action I had contemplated. He went even further and told me he would not institute such legal action on my behalf despite the facts of the case. I was impatient and disappointed. The attorney advised me to have patience, to wait and to forget about the case until the other party took legal action. If legal action was instituted against me, he told me, he would be happy to take the case and he was sure we would have no trouble, thereafter.

Despite my impatience I followed his advice. The situation was resolved within a few months and it wasn't even necessary for me to go to court. The final outcome saved me several hundred dollars and a few headaches and I learned a lesson in patience, a real feat for an impatient man.

During our conferences, I also managed to get a few ideas which were not directly connected with my problem, and the other night a guest at our motel asked me a couple of questions to which I was able to make replies based upon my conversations with the lawyer. Our guest asked this question: If you owned a business, employing a hundred people, and wanted to fight the withholding tax law, how would you go about it? Would you cultivate an acquaintance with your congressman or senators, sue the government or what?

To begin with, I would study the situation to see how much of the business could be turned over to people who would handle their share of the business as independent contractors. I know one business who employs secretarial hel on a day by day basis thru neighborhood secretarial service, for instance. While continuing with this study, I would begin to scout around for a tough, non-conformist attorney who was not afraid to tangle with government. I would ask him to gather every bit of evidence he could find which would indicate that the withholding laws were enacted as a war-time emergency economy measure. I would ask his advice about the best way to create a situation which would result in government action against me. I would ask him to begin preparing a defense against any and every action government might take and then I would ask him to join me in cultivating great patience while we waited to see what would happen, after first removing most of my capital from the immediate grasp of bureaucracy.

The man who asked me the questions told me he asked questions of this kind regularly when friends or acquaintances complained about various aspects of tyrannical government. He said he had never received an answer not connected with some kind of political action. He is in the process of liquidating a business because one lawyer after another advised him to just put up with things and quit worrying about injustice and bureaucratic idiocy. He will now sell his business and the process of liquidating his holdings is almost completed. He spent a week in this area talking with miners and owners of mines and I don't even know where he lives or what kind of a business is being liquidated. I rarely ask questions; I listen or answer questions. It's easier that way.

Impatience, wishful thinking and badly advised and unthinking political action have accomplished absolutely nothing of value over a period of many years. Patience, realistic thinking and a stern adherence to the principles of the philosophy of freedom can accomplish no less.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

U.N. Deficit Still Grows

From Life Lines

Last year, American taxpayers were told that the United Nations was nearly $200 million in debt and would be bankrupt if the U.S. did not buy $100 million in U.N. bonds.

The U.S. bought the bonds, but the U.N. is still in debt. The U.N. is said to be facing a cumulative operating deficit of $250 million at the end of 1963.

Two U.S. senators who serve as delegates to the U.N. General Assembly recently gave a reason for the shaky financial status of the U.N. They reported that "there is a continuing lack of fiscal responsibility among United Nations members."

The budget of the U.N., however, keeps growing. From $50 million in 1957, it reached the $80 million mark last year. That figure did not include the $10 million a month spent for "keeping the peace" in the Congo and on the Gaza Strip.

Where does the money come from? As its share of assessments, the United States pays 32 per cent; Russia less than 15 per cent. The rest of the world is supposed to make up the difference.

Last August, our government picked up a United Nations tab of $65 million. The money was used, in part, to reduce U.N. assessments of Cuba and other communist-bloc countries. Then the International Court of Justice handed down an advisory opinion that all U.N. members must pay their regular dues, plus their share of special peace-keeping assessments, or lose their vote. Russia, eight communist-bloc nations, and 40 other countries have ignored the ruling and have refused to contribute to the "peace-keeping" operations.

Russia owes more than $70 million on the regular budget and the Near East and Congo emergency accounts. This Russian default was largely financed by the $200 million sale of U.N. bonds, of which the United States bought $100 million. Considering that Russia uses the U.N. as a springboard for espionage and a sounding board for propaganda, this amounts to paying the piper while he plays your funeral dirge.

Eight communist satellites, Albania, Bulgaria, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Mongolia, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia have refused to pay their total assessment of $13,081,575. Thus the total the communists owe comes to $83,430,068, or 42 per cent of the total current deficit on all U.N. accounts.

Meanwhile, the United Nations sends millions of dollars to Cuba and other communist countries for special U.N. projects. A recent example is the U.N.'s gift of $1.5 million to Cuba to help Castro unravel his self-imposed agricultural problems. American taxpayers furnished 40 per cent of this Special Fund; Castro has never paid his share. After an aroused American citizenry protested this action, our officials expressed "regrets" and we were assured that "no American money would be used on the Cuban project." If no American money were used, there would be no projects.

Less than a week after the "regrets" were expressed, the U.N. announced that 11 new projects would be started in Cuba. One which should be of particular interest to American taxpayers is being carried out by the United Nations' Civil Aviation Organization, to which we also contribute. It has programmed for communist Cuba a grant to be used to send 12 Cubans to flight school where they'll learn to fly Russian Mig fighter planes, such as those which recently attacked an American fishing boat in international waters.

So long as the United States is a member of the United Nations, it will have to support such projects.

GETTYSBURG

To the Editor:

I am quite sure that the First Minnesota made a bayonet charge at the Battle of Gettysburg. But when I read the account in your paper, it was not there.

It must have been at the time of Pickett's charge, and intended to slow down Pickett to give reenforcements time to get there. My grandfather was in the First Minnesota. His name was Josiah King Smith. He was one of those who survived the charge.

It looks to me as tho it might have been at about the time Pickett's men reached the stone walls. It was handed down to me that the First was not to fire a shot until they were in among the Confederates, to conserve ammunition. It was told to me that the First Minnesota was all the North had at that point before the charge.

The Nature of 'The Establishment'

We have been hearing quite a bit about the "Establishment."

In the present climate, wherein much fear exists as a result of communism, Castro and Khrushchev, there is a tendency for peope to believe that the so-called "Establishment" is a part of a sinister plot. Actually, it isn't. It is the way people behave.

Philosophers have long noted that bodies of thought or belief tend to be formed at intellectual levels, attracting their followers and influencing contemporary life. These bodies of thought are often called "schools" altho there may be no formalized institution at all.

A group of persons who tend to read the same books, who accept fairly well the same kind of objectives, who have similar backgrounds and ambitions will form a "school." They may never know each other tho they might drift together. But they will work, sometimes knowingly and sometimes unknowingly, for ends which they will hold in common. They may even adopt identical or similar means by which they hope to attain their goals.

The dominating "school" of thought in a given area, be it local, state-wide, or national, tends to become what is called "The Establishment."

No one is quite certain just why these things occur nor how they occur, but occur they do. Still, there are certain factors here that do appear.

The "Establishment" is invariably made up of "influential" people.

They may or they may not occupy governmental posts. Those who are not acquainted with the processes of influence are often led to believe that the government and the "Establishment" are one and the same. But they are not.

As a matter of fact, when a national "Establishment" occurs the government very frequently seeks to pattern itself to the order of these influential people in the Establishment, altho few if any of the really influential people might consent to serve in politics.

This is often true in communities, also, altho here there is usually less resistance to participation in government by the truly influential.

If we take a small community and observe its development, we might very quickly come to learn how an "Establishment" as such, comes into existence.

A community is founded by a "leader" or "leaders." These will be the pioneer settlers, but they do not have to date back to what we call "pioneer days" altho they not infrequently do.

The persons who tend to find admission into the "Establishment" are frequently the first businessmen, particularly when they are in certain lines of business. Bankers as such are often "Establishment" people. So are authors, ministers, professors, large holders of real estate, or retired persons of means.

But there is no rule here, for there are bankers and many others in every walk of life who, by their professions, might be eligible for the "Establishment" but who will never "arrive."

What is important to admission into the "Establishment" are two things: 1) an acceptance of the general school of belief held by the original persons of influence. 2) A willingness to follow the lead of those in influential position, who are already in the "Establishment."

Such persons, tho they begin as clerks, will finally be accepted. Others, tho they begin as millionaires, will not be.

This is a truly fascinating behavioral pattern and we will have more to say about it in subsequent writings.

Specifics

The Elite Behind the Throne

One of the key factors to the formation and perpetuation of an "Establishment" in the behavioral sense, is the individual quality of holding to broad interests beyond the immediate business of each member. The man who contents himself with becoming a personal success in life and who tends to mind his own business will usually not join the Establishment.

But it should immediately be made clear that no Establishment worthy of the name ever "elects" officers or formally admits members. There are no dues, no bylaws, no rules of procedure. A person "joins" the Establishment when his thinking and his behavior indicate that he follows the beliefs held by the influential people in the group; that he is willing to listen to them; that he is willing to obey them; that he is willing to do favors for them.

This is never spelled out. Establishment people may not even know for a time that they are "in" and that others are not. When they recognize that their circle of operation includes the most influential people and when their own advice and counsel is eagerly sought, their words listened to in awe, then they may grow aware of the fact that they have "joined."

Members of this curious elite are, in a sense, the "men with a plan." That is, they have a fairly well formulated rationale respecting the behavior of others. Their interests are broad. They believe that their community should have the benefit of Project Y and Institution X but that it should NOT have Project Z nor Institution W. They will subtly let their views be known. Primarily, they will be good communicators. They will make it appear that their point of view is "right" for the community and anyone opposed is automatically "wrong."

In this way they distribute a kind of status to those who support them and those who are courageous enough to differ or to actively oppose find themselves among the pariahs.

If you observe the behavior of persons in small communities, or even large ones, it doesn't take long for you to find out who the Establishment elite are. These are the persons who are asked to endorse nearly everything, but who are choosy and endorse only those things in harmony with broad "school" thinking or objective. You will see them serving in hundreds of "honorary" capacities. You will discover that they tend to advance each other within their exclusive circle.

Non-establishment people are often fooled as a result of this readily seen cohesion. Not infrequently they will suppose that a plot or a conspiracy, or at least a working organization, is what keeps these people together and moving as they do. It is even whispered darkly at times that bribery is used by the Establishment when it tries to get its way with government.

But these suppositions are usually false. The Establishment does not have to descend to such obvious and crude methods. Politicians usually owe their careers to Establishment members and are only too eager to perform as bidden.

Indeed, it is not unknown for the politicians to get together to decide on a course of action, only to find that one of their number, a man with contacts in the Establishment, will positively go back on his word and bolt the concensus because word has reached him that the Establishment would be displeased with such and such an action.

Our personal view regarding the Establishment is that it is harmless save at the point where it employs government to its own ends. At this point, it is no better than any other user of force.

By RUSSELL KIRK

Among the recommendations of General Lucius Clay for improvement and reduction (if modest) in quantity of the American foreign-aid program, there is a fairly bold declaration that aid should be discontinued entirely in certain countries unable to profit by it, or which misuse the funds and materials.

General Clay's report suggests that Indonesia should be denied further help, for almost all the money sent to Java has gone down the drain, and Soekarno has moved steadily closer to the Communist bloc, acquired Soviet Russian armaments, and menaced his neighbors. Countries like Nepal, too, and Afghanistan — so the Clay report runs — may as well be crossed off the list of recipients, for aid there, in whatever quantity, cannot suffice to defend them against a Russian threat or to change markedly their economies.

General Clay and his colleagues were reported to have thought of adding Brazil — where the government has made no attempt to check inflation, and gives some aid and comfort to the Fidelistas — to the blacklist; but still Brazil was not so denominated in the final report, perhaps because influential people in Washington still fondly dream of a Brazilian reformation.

It is curious that nothing was said about withdrawing aid from certain other countries whose record is as bad as that of Indonesia. Not only has our massive aid been ineffectual in a number of states, but it has done positive harm both to the recipient countries and to their neighbors.

Take Egypt. Here American aid has made no significant contribution toward alleviating Egypt's severe economic and agricultural difficulties. But American funds have enabled Nassar to divert his other revenues to purchasing heavy armaments from Soviet Russia, and to pursuing military intrigues against Israel and the Yemen, and to overawe Syria and Iraq. We have actually disturbed the peace of the Levant by enormous grants to this dictator.

Take Ghana. Here the dictator Nkrumah hides within his palace-fortress, not daring to show his face for fear of assassination. His economic policies have been ruinous; they include the socializing of key industries and the destruction of the security and independence of the native farmer. American aid enables him to retain his power over that unhappy country. And Nkrumah votes with the Soviet bloc.

Take Algeria. Despite the generosity both of America and of France, the Algerian regime becomes steadily more repressive, confiscates private property arbitrarily, allows only one party to exist, and professes its admiration for Fidel Castro. Ben Bella has established a center for encouraging rebellion against Portugal and other allies of the United States. Must we pay him for his disservices?

By denying further largess to these nations, we not only would reduce our enormous budget, but would impress upon other recipients the necessity for proper employment of our grants in aid.

The Old Mountaineer

Thoughts by The Wayside

By FRANK McDONOUGH JR.

The old Quaker saying, "Everyone is queer, except thee and me — and sometimes thou art a little queer," is a thought which comes to all of us at some time or another. How many other folks can you think of who are one hundred per cent perfect? In your own mind, the other fellow has a point of diversion from the normal which is not exactly what you think the normal to be. The sooner we all realize that the other fellow has a right to his own viewpoint, has a right to conduct himself within lawful bounds, and to arrange his life and thinking according to his own wishes, the sooner we will all arrive at a true state of our own peaceful minds. So as a premise I shall admit that I am a little queer and that it is your right to think of me as such.

Having been reared in a conservative family, I find that in my older years I am still a conservative. I was rather shocked when our President, in a Los Angeles political speech a year ago branded all conservatives as extremists. An extremist in any line can be placed in the class of being queer, so I begin to wonder how queer I am actually. Living in this arid climate all my life, and realizing how life giving and yet scarce water is, I was trained in its careful use. It always irked me that men would leave the athletic shower baths and fail to turn off the water. Untold thousands of gallons of precious water are wasted daily in that fashion right here in our own community. Facing a present shortage, there nevertheless is sufficient water to irrigate and keep beautiful and green our street parkways. Yet in the flooding process of irrigation, wasted water is permitted to run down the gutters and into the sewers. We do not need to be stingy in the use of water except in times of extreme shortage, but we could always be careful, wise in our use, and hence be true conservatives. If that makes me queer, that is exactly what I am.

Of course, the President was speaking politically, and for political effect. He put the brand of extremism on all who are opposed to wasteful expenditures. That, of course, is because he has been reared in the luxury of wealth, and has never had to learn the lesson that there is a vast difference between frugality and waste, between debt and solvency, between extravagance and soundness. To him, anyone on the conservative side of these phases of life, is an extremist.

I do not agree. There are certain fundamentals in physical and spiritual laws, and when one obeys these laws he is a conservative. One who breaches them is an extremist. One who goes far back into the centuries and gives obedience to the Mosais Decalogue is a true conservative and according to modern parlance is a right winger. One who goes back to our revolutionary days and is loyal to the precepts of the founding fathers is not a reactionary, but merely conservative. True, there is always room for advance in human thought and action, but these must not take us away from the fundamentals by way of the new frontier, new deal, or otherwise. Compensation for the bearing of illegitimate children is not really advance thinking — it is mere political hypocrisy. Compensation out of public funds for not working, or for not growing crops, is not advance thinking— is is pure political bribery. The pendulum will surely swing back to normalized thinking, and away from the present wild, impractical, foggy dreaminess. It will do so surely if we conservatives, right wingers and fundamentalists stand our ground.

It is well to be conservative in your associations with others and the societies which you join. Realizing that one should not necessarily be a lone wolf, I have tried to limit my affiliations, and be somewhat selective. In my day I have joined one cultural society, one patriotic society, one church, one group for civic service, and one fraternal organization. That is about as conservative as you can get, altho if you are a woman and belong to the DAR you are spat upon by the red-tinged parlor pinks. One can be really careless and foolish about joining everything that comes along, and I am glad that I never joined the Ku Klux Klan nor the Mafia because they are truly extremists. I have never joined the John Birch Society, probably because nobody has ever asked me. Their basic tenets are truly conservative when compared to the extremes of the new frontier, altho their leaders might well tone down their language.

A small group, being conservatives and non-joiners, decided that it was high time for a new organization. So they formed one. They call it the Caucasian Branch of the Civil Liberties League. There is a saying that if you give certain folks an inch, they will take a mile. Under outside or ill-advised agitation, the interracial turbulence is getting dangerously out of bounds. There are plenty of white folks who are thoroly sympathetic with the basic fact that all men are created equal and entitled to equal opportunity under the law. But this same group cannot get it thru their thick skulls exactly why they should be deprived of their own right to select their own friends, develop their own institutions, meet and eat and talk with folks of their own choosing. Those rights are as sacred to white people as they are to people of other races. The admitted fact that the rights of some are entitled to be advanced, does not mean that the rights of others should be submerged.

So with watchful eye on the preservation of their own rights, and entirely sympathetic to the rights of others, the Caucasian Branch of the Civil Liberties League is fast coming into being.

Question Box

Question No. 254: "What idol is causing Americans the most trouble?"

That is an interesting question, because we cannot correct our beliefs until we know what they are.

It would seem to us that too many American people are worshipping or are loyal to or have reverence for the will of the majority; that they put the majority above the inalienable rights that belong to the individual. This is contrary to both the Hebrew and Christian religions. And when people believe that the majority determines right, then we have no standard, as Washington pointed out, to which men of virtue and character can repair.

And we cannot determine right from wrong unless we have a moral absolute. And a moral absolute certainly is not the will of the majority. It is an eternal, natural law that governs the universe and applies equally to all individuals.

If we are not using the majority as an idol, then how do we arrive at the right of the majority to force the minority to pay for schooling that they think will corrupt the youth and manhood of our country? Just what standard of right justifies the majority forcing the minority to pay for and even submit his children to schools sanctioned by the agents of the majority, which invariably means some politician?

If we are not worshipping the idol of the majority, why do we force people to pay taxes to send foreign aid all over the world? If we are not worshipping the idol of the majority, why do we have protective tariffs and immigration restrictions, if we do not believe that the agents of the majority have a right to do things that no individual has a moral right to do?

Of course, when the state or the majority attempts to do things that the individual would regard as harmful to his fellowman, we have a double standard, or really no standard at all. That undoubtedly is the reason crime is increasing, unemployment constantly threatening us, our debts increasing, and in almost constant wars. Man cannot serve two masters.

God or Order or Nature is one. Idols have always degraded and debauched those who worshipped them.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

These Days

You Can't Penalize Ingenuity

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The worst thing about Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman's plans for rigid control of this country's wheat production is that it would have forbidden farmers to exercise any ingenuity. Extended over the whole range of agriculture, strict controls of both acreage plantings and sales would soon bring a dead halt to the technological farm revolution that has made the U.S. the best-fed nation in history.

This columnist believes that the attempt to control acreage allotments is self-defeating in the long run. But an individual farmer can live with acreage controls and still feel that he has some incentive to do the best job he can with what he actually does plant. The farm journals are filled with stories of how Jim So-and-so, limited to X number of acres by the girl down at the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, managed to increase his yield per acre by planting a new disease-resistant variety of seed, or by adding this or that trace of mineral to his fertilizer, or by using better insect and weed control.

The challenge to get the most out of the least space has made practically all of American agriculture intensive. There has been a devastating war on ticks and mites, on weeds, on grasshoppers and green bugs. The fun of the game has been exhilarating to many farmers who have put up with acreage allotments with the sure knowledge that they could exercise their ingenuity in spite of the "ASC Office."

True enough, the farmer's ingenuity creates terrible social headaches in the form of surpluses. But whenever a dictatorial bureaucracy tries to take the free play of individualism out of farming, a different sort of social headache results. The farmer who has no incentive to get more from what he is doing becomes apathetic. And, one fine day, the bureaucracy that is charged with regimenting agriculture finds that it has a famine on its hands.

This has happened in every country that has tried to make the farmer an order-taker instead of an order-giver. It happened in Russia when the ancient serfdom of the czars was re-established in the guise of the collective farm. The Kulaks, anticipating the loss of any free play for their ingenuity, killed and ate their cows, and the Soviets have suffered from a meat shortage ever since. In Yugoslavia, dictator Tito, who had a better knowledge of the peasantry than happened to be the case with the Russian Politburo, did not go to the extreme of trying to kill off individual peasant agriculture. In acting thus he has roused the ire of China's Mao Tse-tung, the holier-than-thou Marxist of Peking. But Tito has been sitting pretty with his own peasants, who have gone on producing.

The case of Red China is the most recent example of what happens when you try to turn the farmer into a 100 per cent order-taker. As Valentin Chu tells the story of Mao Tse-tung's agricultural heavy-handedness in a sprightly book called "Ta Ta, Tan Tan: The Inside Story of Communist China," the experience of the Chinese in attempting to regiment the peasants would be comical if it were not so tragic in the starvation that has resulted. In 1958 Mao pronounced it the "Year of the Miracle," and reports were issued that collectivist discipline had resulted in getting eight million pounds of cabbage from a single acre, to say nothing of 12,175 apples from a single apple tree in Manchuria. A year later, despite Peking's manipulation of statistics, Mao's government had to admit that great shortages, unheard of even in China, had occurred in wheat, edible oil, vegetables, meat, tea, silk, cotton, hemp and tobacco.

To save the day, the Red Chinese have had to restore some freedom to the peasant to make his own decisions. Refugees in Hong Kong report that Chinese peasant families are now permitted to have their own garden plots, on which they can raise food both for themselves and for sale.

If Secretary Freeman had succeeded in turning the American wheat farmer into a complete order-taker, it would not have resulted in starvation. But farmers were afraid that strict regimentation in one crop would lead to strict controls in other things, particularly in cattle. With strict regimentation a meat shortage could occur even within the space of a single year.

Cultivate Patience

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

In 1961 I became involved in a situation which made me believe I required the services of an attorney. Out of a small field, I selected a man who seemed to be disliked by a few other lawyers. He listened patiently while I recited the facts of the case, then he asked a few pertinent questions, then I waited, impatiently.

The attorney advised me not to take the legal action I had contemplated. He went even further and told me he would not institute such legal action on my behalf despite the facts of the case. I was impatient and disappointed. The attorney advised me to have patience, to wait and to forget about the case until the other party took legal action. If legal action was instituted against me, he told me, he would be happy to take the case and he was sure we would have no trouble, thereafter.

Despite my impatience I followed his advice. The situation was resolved within a few months and it wasn't even necessary for me to go to court. The final outcome saved me several hundred dollars and a few headaches and I learned a lesson in patience, a real feat for an impatient man.

During our conferences, I also managed to get a few ideas which were not directly connected with my problem, and the other night a guest at our motel asked me a couple of questions to which I was able to make replies based upon my conversations with the lawyer. Our guest asked this question: If you owned a business, employing a hundred people, and wanted to fight the withholding tax law, how would you go about it? Would you cultivate an acquaintance with your congressman or senators, sue the government or what?

To begin with, I would study the situation to see how much of the business could be turned over to people who would handle their share of the business as independent contractors. I know one business who employs secretarial hel on a day by day basis thru neighborhood secretarial service, for instance. While continuing with this study, I would begin to scout around for a tough, non-conformist attorney who was not afraid to tangle with government. I would ask him to gather every bit of evidence he could find which would indicate that the withholding laws were enacted as a war-time emergency economy measure. I would ask his advice about the best way to create a situation which would result in government action against me. I would ask him to begin preparing a defense against any and every action government might take and then I would ask him to join me in cultivating great patience while we waited to see what would happen, after first removing most of my capital from the immediate grasp of bureaucracy.

The man who asked me the questions told me he asked questions of this kind regularly when friends or acquaintances complained about various aspects of tyrannical government. He said he had never received an answer not connected with some kind of political action. He is in the process of liquidating a business because one lawyer after another advised him to just put up with things and quit worrying about injustice and bureaucratic idiocy. He will now sell his business and the process of liquidating his holdings is almost completed. He spent a week in this area talking with miners and owners of mines and I don't even know where he lives or what kind of a business is being liquidated. I rarely ask questions; I listen or answer questions. It's easier that way.

Impatience, wishful thinking and badly advised and unthinking political action have accomplished absolutely nothing of value over a period of many years. Patience, realistic thinking and a stern adherence to the principles of the philosophy of freedom can accomplish no less.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

U.N. Deficit Still Grows

From Life Lines

Last year, American taxpayers were told that the United Nations was nearly $200 million in debt and would be bankrupt if the U.S. did not buy $100 million in U.N. bonds.

The U.S. bought the bonds, but the U.N. is still in debt. The U.N. is said to be facing a cumulative operating deficit of $250 million at the end of 1963.

Two U.S. senators who serve as delegates to the U.N. General Assembly recently gave a reason for the shaky financial status of the U.N. They reported that "there is a continuing lack of fiscal responsibility among United Nations members."

The budget of the U.N., however, keeps growing. From $50 million in 1957, it reached the $80 million mark last year. That figure did not include the $10 million a month spent for "keeping the peace" in the Congo and on the Gaza Strip.

Where does the money come from? As its share of assessments, the United States pays 32 per cent; Russia less than 15 per cent. The rest of the world is supposed to make up the difference.

Last August, our government picked up a United Nations tab of $65 million. The money was used, in part, to reduce U.N. assessments of Cuba and other communist-bloc countries. Then the International Court of Justice handed down an advisory opinion that all U.N. members must pay their regular dues, plus their share of special peace-keeping assessments, or lose their vote. Russia, eight communist-bloc nations, and 40 other countries have ignored the ruling and have refused to contribute to the "peace-keeping" operations.

Russia owes more than $70 million on the regular budget and the Near East and Congo emergency accounts. This Russian default was largely financed by the $200 million sale of U.N. bonds, of which the United States bought $100 million. Considering that Russia uses the U.N. as a springboard for espionage and a sounding board for propaganda, this amounts to paying the piper while he plays your funeral dirge.

Eight communist satellites, Albania, Bulgaria, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Mongolia, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia have refused to pay their total assessment of $13,081,575. Thus the total the communists owe comes to $83,430,068, or 42 per cent of the total current deficit on all U.N. accounts.

Meanwhile, the United Nations sends millions of dollars to Cuba and other communist countries for special U.N. projects. A recent example is the U.N.'s gift of $1.5 million to Cuba to help Castro unravel his self-imposed agricultural problems. American taxpayers furnished 40 per cent of this Special Fund; Castro has never paid his share. After an aroused American citizenry protested this action, our officials expressed "regrets" and we were assured that "no American money would be used on the Cuban project." If no American money were used, there would be no projects.

Less than a week after the "regrets" were expressed, the U.N. announced that 11 new projects would be started in Cuba. One which should be of particular interest to American taxpayers is being carried out by the United Nations' Civil Aviation Organization, to which we also contribute. It has programmed for communist Cuba a grant to be used to send 12 Cubans to flight school where they'll learn to fly Russian Mig fighter planes, such as those which recently attacked an American fishing boat in international waters.

So long as the United States is a member of the United Nations, it will have to support such projects.

GETTYSBURG

To the Editor:

I am quite sure that the First Minnesota made a bayonet charge at the Battle of Gettysburg. But when I read the account in your paper, it was not there.

It must have been at the time of Pickett's charge, and intended to slow down Pickett to give reenforcements time to get there. My grandfather was in the First Minnesota. His name was Josiah King Smith. He was one of those who survived the charge.

It looks to me as tho it might have been at about the time Pickett's men reached the stone walls. It was handed down to me that the First was not to fire a shot until they were in among the Confederates, to conserve ammunition. It was told to me that the First Minnesota was all the North had at that point before the charge.

Rail Issues Stand Out in Otherwise Mixed Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Rail issues stood out today in an otherwise mixed stock market.

Trading was moderately active.

Price changes of most key issues were fractional with a few extending to a point or so.

Trading in Whirlpool Corp. was delayed until a big batch of sell orders could be matched. The stock opened off 3 points at 46 on a block of 3,000 shares and then sank 2 more points. The company said indications were that its finance subsidiary, Appliance Buyers Credit Corp., faces a write-down of several million dollars in its accounts receivable.

Although the steel industry had achieved its lowest-cost labor settlement since 1944, steel issues were down.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was ahead .9 at 274.9 with industrials up 1.1, rails up 1.2 and utilities up .1.

Among the rails, Southern Railway and Illinois Central advanced a point or so. Also up were the Pennsylvania and Chesapeake & Ohio. New York Central was down a small fraction.

In the nonferrous metals group, Anaconda, Homestake and International Nickel were up fractionally.

Twentieth Century-Fox advanced a point. Zenith and Control Corp. added about half a point.

Among the motors, only General Motors was able to go ahead slightly. Ford and Chrysler lost fractions.

United Aircraft, Douglas and Lockheed moved up somewhat.

Pan American World Airways and American Tobacco showed minimal losses.

The American Stock Exchange prices were mixed in moderate trading. Trading in Rayette was held up because of a heavy influx of buy orders. Advancing were Aerosol, Electric Communication Louisiana Land, National Video Video and Valve Corp. Losers included Syntex, Paddington, Massey Ferguson and Canadian Javelin.

Corporate bonds were higher and governments were unchanged.

LONDON (UPI) — An extract from the English version of a Continental handbook on camping reads:

"The turkey isn't an enemy of camping. On the contrary to other southern countries people are only coming to your tent on a wave and this only if you wave them away as they signal different from us, so if you want them to come here you have to wave away and the other way around."

AWAY SHE GOES

HITCHIN, England (UPI)—The day after Don Parker bought his 40-year-old wife a new car two weeks ago she went for her first drive and hasn't been seen since.

"I am completely mystified," Parker said today. "Beryl never indicated she would do a thing like this."

NEW YORK (AP)—Rail issues stood out today in an otherwise mixed stock market.

Trading was moderately active.

Price changes of most key issues were fractional with a few extending to a point or so.

Trading in Whirlpool Corp. was delayed until a big batch of sell orders could be matched. The stock opened off 3 points at 46 on a block of 3,000 shares and then sank 2 more points. The company said indications were that its finance subsidiary, Appliance Buyers Credit Corp., faces a write-down of several million dollars in its accounts receivable.

Although the steel industry had achieved its lowest-cost labor settlement since 1944, steel issues were down.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was ahead .9 at 274.9 with industrials up 1.1, rails up 1.2 and utilities up .1.

Among the rails, Southern Railway and Illinois Central advanced a point or so. Also up were the Pennsylvania and Chesapeake & Ohio. New York Central was down a small fraction.

In the nonferrous metals group, Anaconda, Homestake and International Nickel were up fractionally.

Twentieth Century-Fox advanced a point. Zenith and Control Corp. added about half a point.

Among the motors, only General Motors was able to go ahead slightly. Ford and Chrysler lost fractions.

United Aircraft, Douglas and Lockheed moved up somewhat.

Pan American World Airways and American Tobacco showed minimal losses.

The American Stock Exchange prices were mixed in moderate trading. Trading in Rayette was held up because of a heavy influx of buy orders. Advancing were Aerosol, Electric Communication Louisiana Land, National Video Video and Valve Corp. Losers included Syntex, Paddington, Massey Ferguson and Canadian Javelin.

Corporate bonds were higher and governments were unchanged.

AT ANY RATE, WAVE

LONDON (UPI) — An extract from the English version of a Continental handbook on camping reads:

"The turkey isn't an enemy of camping. On the contrary to other southern countries people are only coming to your tent on a wave and this only if you wave them away as they signal different from us, so if you want them to come here you have to wave away and the other way around."

AWAY SHE GOES

HITCHIN, England (UPI)—The day after Don Parker bought his 40-year-old wife a new car two weeks ago she went for her first drive and hasn't been seen since.

"I am completely mystified," Parker said today. "Beryl never indicated she would do a thing like this."

Two Injured As Car Hits Culvert Sunday

Two persons were injured and an estimated $1,000 damage done when a car struck a concrete culvert Sunday night on E. Hunter Avenue in Stratton Meadows, the State Patrol reported.

The driver of the car, James P. Hammonds, 22, 1618 S. Nevada Ave., was taken to Penrose Hospital with an arm injury.

A passenger in the car, William P. Mohrenweiser, 15, of the same address, received a laceration on his lower lip and had several teeth loosened in the wreck. He was treated at Penrose also.

State Patrolman Lloyd M. Carothers said the car was westbound when it skidded off the left side of the gravel road and hit the culvert.

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

BONN, Germany (AP)—President Kennedy flunked in American history Sunday.

The man who can reel off figures in billions about budgets and bombs undoubtedly raised cries of indignation in sun-bathed St. Augustine, Fla., when he told a crowd in the Cologne city hall square:

"As a citizen of Boston, which takes pride in being the oldest city in the United States..."

The oldest city in the United States is St. Augustine, founded in 1565. Boston was founded in 1630.

Then, at dinner Sunday night, the President goofed again when he stirred the ghosts of the Battle of the Little Big Horn.

Speaking of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, he said:

"He covers a long period of history. When he was born in 1876, Bismarck was chancellor of Germany and Ulysses S. Grant was president of the United States, and two years after his birth, to indicate how young the United States is, General Custer and 500 of his cavalry were to be wiped out by Sitting Bull and the Sioux Indians, so we are not a very old country."

Custer made his last stand on June 25, 1876, not 1878. The losses were not 500 men but Custer and 276 of his soldiers.

Kennedy's historical honkers also appeared in the official texts released after the events.

Robinson Meets Joey Giardello In Bout Tonight

Robinson, 43, a five-times holder of the middleweight crown, and Giardello, nearly 33 and still the No. 3 contender of the 160-pound set, clash in the featured 10-rounder at Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

Sugar Ray no longer is ranked among the top ten but his magic name will lure a large crowd, including Cassius Clay. They'll all be hoping to see the former boxing great display a little of his old time form.

Giardello, who will be 33 on July 16, has won three straight including decisions this year over Wilf Greaves and Ernie Burford. The Philadelphian's record is 82-22-7, including 28 knockouts. He is in his 13th year of pro fighting.

Robinson, in his 23rd year of fighting for cash, has a 150-12-3 record, including 98 knockouts.

Chuck Stearns Wins Water Ski Tournament

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP)—Chuck Stearns of Bellflower, Calif., amassed 2,575 points and won the men's championship Sunday in the 5th annual Masters Water Ski Tournament.

Jeannette Brown, 16, of Cypress Gardens, Fla., competing in her first masters, captured the women's title with a perfect score of 3,000 points.

Stearns, who won the masters championship in 1961, also won his fifth national title here last August. Larry Penacho of San Diego, the defending Masters champion, suffered an injury while jumping recently and was unable to defend his title.

Roland Hillier of Orlando, Fla., finished second in the men's division with 2,560 points. Mike Osborn of Winter Haven, Fla., was third with 2,512.

Dicksie Ann Hoyt of Fairhaven, N.J., took runnerup honors in the women's division with 2,675 points, and Nancy Schnering of Sarasota, Fla., was third with 2,615.

Stearns was second in jumping, third in tricks and sixth in slalom.

Governor's Cup Goes to Musson

GUNTERSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Ron Musson piloted Miss Bardahl of Seattle to an average speed of 100.446 miles per hour to win the $10,000 Governor's Cup Hydroplane Regatta.

Musson won two earlier heats Sunday for a total of 1,200 points over the Guntersville Lake course for the over-all championship.

Notre Dame, driven by Col. Warner Gardner of Detroit placed second in the over-all standings with 894 points. He won one heat and finished third and fourth in two others.

The ladies showed their approval of Bykovsky by electing him a member of the congress presidium. He became the only men to participate in an official capacity in the four-day meeting which has the announced aim of forwarding women's rights, peace and disarmament.

Car Stolen; Then Wrecked

Frank Sturtevant of 2245 Ivanhoe Dr. reported to the sheriff's office Sunday that someone had taken his car and wrecked it.

According to Deputy Sheriff Harry Orvis the vehicle, a 1960 sports car, was in front of Sturtevant's home Saturday night. The ignition switch was broken and tho it was in the lock position and the keys not in the car, it could still be driven.

The vehicle was found at Frontier Drive. Tracks indicated it had been driven at a high rate of speed round a corner, had jumped the curb and then crashed into a bank.

Company Courses Found Worthwhile By Most Students

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—After 16 years of preparing for jobs, graduates are pouring out of colleges just now—and many are being plunked right into corporate versions of classrooms.

Most who already have travelled the post-college course of company training say they found it worthwhile. But many are critical of their business-type teachers.

Almost all of the 2,000 or so companies that recruit prospects in the nation's colleges—at an average cost of $1,000 per graduate hired—have some sort of program for teaching them the facts of corporate life. The companies, and most of the graduates who have gone through the company mill, give the results high marks in a survey by the National Industrial Conference Board.

But one of last year's trainees says his most valuable experience was "the training program that I endured." He explains:

"I decided if I could put up with all that I did on the program, I could put up with anything. And I have. I have been called on for many things that I don't think a well-organized program would have taught me. Like cadets, I wouldn't do it again but I am proud to have gone through it."

More typical perhaps was another's appraisal of his company's policy of easing a trainee into a problem and leting him solve it himself. He says: "This self-development gave me the ability to make decisions that were my own, and not decisions that follow from someone telling me how to make the decision."

Views of 1,074 graduates who have completed training were tabulated by the conference board. The large majority called their business supervisors capable. But 291 found the instruction weak and without challenge, and 176 labeled the training too academic and short on actual doing. Some echoed the post-trainee who said:

"Some supervisors did not understand the purpose of the training program, and showed little or no interest in my presence on the job."

"A college education is not essential for success in a training course," another reported, "nor in a job afterwards."

Speaking for the majority was the college grad who sums up this way: "The constant movement from department to department made my first year exciting and challenging. Working in various areas made the complex system seem simple, and of course working with new people gives a good insight into the type of people and their feelings about the bosses, the system and their particular jobs."

Why did the graduates accept the particular job offer? They give a multitude of reasons. Most often mentioned were: 538 because of the company's reputation and future potential; 483 because of the salary; 408 because of advancement possibilities. Many mentioned all three.

And were their expectations fulfilled? Only 25 per cent are dissatisfied with their pay; 28 per cent with advancement possibilities; 22 per cent with job assignments and 12 per cent with their relations with the higher-ups.

Lefferdink Group Plans Investor Meeting Thursday

The estimated 1,500 stockholders in the Pikes Peak Region who were involved in any way in the Allen Lefferdink enterprises are invited to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Acacia Hotel.

A group in Denver, headed by Architect Walter Simon, has been busy recently studying and determining if something couldn't be salvaged from all the various investments.

This group is known as the Consolidated Stockholders Protective Committee. Secretary of this organization is Charles Schoenecke, Denver.

What has been accomplished by this group to date will be explained at the Thursday meeting, he said.

There will be some explination about assets of the corporations, if there are any, and what possibly could be done to redeem any of these assets.

Many other pertinent questions pertaining to the corporations will also probably be discussed, he said.

Some of the corporations involved include Allied Colorado Enterprises, Boulder Acceptance Corporation, Denver Acceptance Corporation and some 10 smaller companies. Stockholders in these various companies should be present at the Thursday meeting.

'Dream Holiday' Won by Faricy

A Las Vegas "Dream Holiday" for two has been won by Owen Faricy, president of Owen Faricy Motor Co., in a nationwide contest for Rambler dealers sponsored by American Motors Sales Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Faricy will leave for Las Vegas Tuesday, June 25, and spend four days and three nights at the new Tropicana Hotel. Activities will include fashion shows, sight-seeing, cruising on one of the man-made wonders of the world — Lake Mead — golfing and swimming.

American Motors' executives will be on hand to act as hosts.

Faricy won the all-expense trip for two by selling the greatest number of cars in his dealer classification during the three-month sales contest.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohu and Statson questions whether there is enough aggressive buying interest in cyclical stocks to offset the profit-taking going on in the blue chips.

Thurlow's advice is to take profits in the better grade stocks that have lost their forward momentum and buy some of the better acting cyclical issues in hopes of a mild summer rally. He believes the next stock market movement of consequence will be a decline, but that is not due for some time yet.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel and Co. says it may require a period of consolidation before the Dow-Jones industrials hit new all-time highs.

Standard & Poor's notes that total paper production during 1963 is expected to score a further moderate gain over the record 37.6 million tons last year. Paperboard prices eased somewhat in recent months despite strong demand, Standard's says, but firm to stronger prices are likely later this year.

Two Injured As Car Hits Culvert Sunday

Two persons were injured and an estimated $1,000 damage done when a car struck a concrete culvert Sunday night on E. Hunter Avenue in Stratton Meadows, the State Patrol reported.

The driver of the car, James P. Hammonds, 22, 1618 S. Nevada Ave., was taken to Penrose Hospital with an arm injury.

A passenger in the car, William P. Mohrenweiser, 15, of the same address, received a laceration on his lower lip and had several teeth loosened in the wreck. He was treated at Penrose also.

State Patrolman Lloyd M. Carothers said the car was westbound when it skidded off the left side of the gravel road and hit the culvert.

By RICHARD K, O'MALLEY

BONN, Germany (AP)—President Kennedy flunked in American history Sunday.

The man who can reel off figures in billions about budgets and bombs undoubtedly raised cries of indignation in sun-bathed St. Augustine, Fla., when he told a crowd in the Cologne city hall square:

"As a citizen of Boston, which takes pride in being the oldest city in the United States..."

The oldest city in the United States is St. Augustine, founded in 1565. Boston was founded in 1630.

Then, at dinner Sunday night, the President goofed again when he stirred the ghosts of the Battle of the Little Big Horn.

Speaking of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, he said:

"He covers a long period of history. When he was born in 1876, Bismarck was chancellor of Germany and Ulysses S. Grant was president of the United States, and two years after his birth, to indicate how young the United States is, General Custer and 500 of his cavalry were to be wiped out by Sitting Bull and the Sioux Indians, so we are not a very old country."

Custer made his last stand on June 25, 1876, not 1878. The losses were not 500 men but Custer and 276 of his soldiers.

Kennedy's historical honkers also appeared in the official texts released after the events.

Robinson Meets Joey Giardello In Bout Tonight

Robinson, 43, a five-times holder of the middleweight crown, and Giardello, nearly 33 and still the No. 3 contender of the 160-pound set, clash in the featured 10-rounder at Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

Sugar Ray no longer is ranked among the top ten but his magic name will lure a large crowd, including Cassius Clay. They'll all be hoping to see the former boxing great display a little of his old time form.

Giardello, who will be 33 on July 16, has won three straight including decisions this year over Wilf Greaves and Ernie Burford. The Philadelphian's record is 82-22-7, including 28 knockouts. He is in his 13th year of pro fighting.

Robinson, in his 23rd year of fighting for cash, has a 150-12-3 record, including 98 knockouts.

Stearns, who won the masters championship in 1961, also won his fifth national title here last August. Larry Penacho of San Diego, the defending Masters champion, suffered an injury while jumping recently and was unable to defend his title.

Roland Hillier of Orlando, Fla., finished second in the men's division with 2,560 points. Mike Osborn of Winter Haven, Fla., was third with 2,512.

Dicksie Ann Hoyt of Fairhaven, N.J., took runnerup honors in the women's division with 2,675 points, and Nancy Schnering of Sarasota, Fla., was third with 2,615.

Stearns was second in jumping, third in tricks and sixth in slalom.

Musson won two earlier heats Sunday for a total of 1,200 points over the Guntersville Lake course for the over-all championship.

Notre Dame, driven by Col. Warner Gardner of Detroit placed second in the over-all standings with 894 points. He won one heat and finished third and fourth in two others.

The vehicle was found at Frontier Drive. Tracks indicated it had been driven at a high rate of speed round a corner, had jumped the curb and then crashed into a bank.

Company Courses Found Worthwhile By Most Students

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—After 16 years of preparing for jobs, graduates are pouring out of colleges just now—and many are being plunked right into corporate versions of classrooms.

Most who already have travelled the post-college course of company training say they found it worthwhile. But many are critical of their business-type teachers.

Almost all of the 2,000 or so companies that recruit prospects in the nation's colleges—at an average cost of $1,000 per graduate hired—have some sort of program for teaching them the facts of corporate life. The companies, and most of the graduates who have gone through the company mill, give the results high marks in a survey by the National Industrial Conference Board.

But one of last year's trainees says his most valuable experience was "the training program that I endured." He explains:

"I decided if I could put up with all that I did on the program, I could put up with anything. And I have. I have been called on for many things that I don't think a well-organized program would have taught me. Like cadets, I wouldn't do it again but I am proud to have gone through it."

More typical perhaps was another's appraisal of his company's policy of easing a trainee into a problem and leting him solve it himself. He says: "This self-development gave me the ability to make decisions that were my own, and not decisions that follow from someone telling me how to make the decision."

Views of 1,074 graduates who have completed training were tabulated by the conference board. The large majority called their business supervisors capable. But 291 found the instruction weak and without challenge, and 176 labeled the training too academic and short on actual doing. Some echoed the post-trainee who said:

"Some supervisors did not understand the purpose of the training program, and showed little or no interest in my presence on the job."

"A college education is not essential for success in a training course," another reported, "nor in a job afterwards."

Speaking for the majority was the college grad who sums up this way: "The constant movement from department to department made my first year exciting and challenging. Working in various areas made the complex system seem simple, and of course working with new people gives a good insight into the type of people and their feelings about the bosses, the system and their particular jobs.

Why did the graduates accept the particular job offer? They give a multitude of reasons. Most often mentioned were: 538 because of the company's reputation and future potential; 483 because of the salary; 408 because of advancement possibilities. Many mentioned all three.

And were their expectations fulfilled? Only 25 per cent are dissatisfied with their pay; 28 per cent with advancement possibilities; 22 per cent with job assignments and 12 per cent with their relations with the higher-ups.

Lefferdink Group Plans Investor Meeting Thursday

The estimated 1,500 stockholders in the Pikes Peak Region who were involved in any way in the Allen Lefferdink enterprises are invited to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Acacia Hotel.

A group in Denver, headed by Architect Walter Simon, has been busy recently studying and determining if something couldn't be salvaged from all the various investments.

This group is known as the Consolidated Stockholders Protective Committee. Secretary of this organization is Charles Schoenecke, Denver.

What has been accomplished by this group to date will be explained at the Thursday meeting, he said.

There will be some explination about assets of the corporations, if there are any, and what possibly could be done to redeem any of these assets.

Many other pertinent questions pertaining to the corporations will also probably be discussed, he said.

Some of the corporations involved include Allied Colorado Enterprises, Boulder Acceptance Corporation, Denver Acceptance Corporation and some 10 smaller companies. Stockholders in these various companies should be present at the Thursday meeting.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohu and Statson questions whether there is enough aggressive buying interest in cyclical stocks to offset the profit-taking going on in the blue chips.

Thurlow's advice is to take profits in the better grade stocks that have lost their forward momentum and buy some of the better acting cyclical issues in hopes of a mild summer rally. He believes the next stock market movement of consequence will be a decline, but that is not due for some time yet.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel and Co. says it may require a period of consolidation before the Dow-Jones industrials hit new all-time highs.

Standard & Poor's notes that total paper production during 1963 is expected to score a further moderate gain over the record 37.6 million tons last year. Paperboard prices eased somewhat in recent months despite strong demand, Standard's says, but firm to stronger prices are likely later this year.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE ....

Dear Friends:

Today...let's discuss the kitchen drawer in which we all keep our daily clutter...accumulated!

This the drawer, ordinarily next to the kitchen stove, where we keep our favorite knives and spoons and no telling what else.

While you are reading this, think to yourself, "Now what IS in that drawer?" (Bet you can't make a complete list before you look!)

How much of it is really necessary?

What do I actually need?

Can you find your favorite knife immediately? And spoon?

When you clean it, do you just remove all the "stuff," get the crumbs out, line it with new paper and replace everything and let it go?

Don't!

You will be right back where you started. Still having to knock everything aside to find that favorite spoon or knife.

Let's play "beat-the-coffee-pot." This is a game that members of the Heloise clan use. Put the pot on and while it is heating...get something done!

While you are waiting for that coffee or tea, REMOVE the entire drawer from its cupboard and place it on your drainboard. Put some newspaper down on the drainboard and literally pour out everything in the drawer onto the paper.

Just look at all that excess junk and clutter! Whatever do we need all this mess for? We have only two hands. There are umpteen spoons and only four burners on the stove. How could anyone use umpteen at one time?

Wipe out the drawer. If you have roaches, now is the time to paint something on the underneath side of the drawer. Look for roach eggs at the same time.

Line the drawer, whether it be with newspaper, a paper sack or bag, adhesive-backed paper, cardboard, foil, waxed paper, etc.

Now...DON'T throw all that stuff back in the drawer.

Stop, look and think.

"What do I really use every day?" Pick out your favorite butcher knife, paring knife (not five of them...remember that you have only two hands again and can use only one at a time!), spatula, egg turner, can opener and not MORE than four spoons. Replace these in your drawer.

Where you will probably have your downfall is when it comes to the spoons. Just how many spoons (old at that) do you have in that cluttered drawer? Six or eight perhaps (This is the average!). You know, you only have four burners on your stove, and can't possibly use more than four while cooking a meal.

Now, you are going to say, "But I have had these spoons for years and can't throw them away. You don't have to. If they have sentimental value...get a big brown paper bag and put all these excess items in it. Test yourself.

Put the bag with all these excess items in the garage or closet. If you don't go into that old kitchen grab-bag within a week, then it's a proven test that you could do without it. If you decide later you have to have it... it's always there.

How many bottle openers do you have? About six? You can open only one bottle or can at a time. We just keep them because they were free and we think someday one might not work. We can still open only one bottle or can at a time so pick up the best two and put them back in the drawer.

Go through all your equipment this way.

What you can do without, you don't need. Get rid of it so you CAN find something quickly. Saves your time and nerves. Eliminates excess cleaning, clutter, etc.

Don't faint when you see how little will be in this favorite drawer after this cleaning. It pays off.

You will have a glorious feeling tomorrow when you open this drawer and find what you are looking for immediately.

Simplicity is the answer to our problems.

Scholarship Trust Fund Announced by WES at CC

Creation of a permanent trust fund to insure the perpetuation of its long standing scholarship program for Colorado College students was announced today by Women's Educational Society.

Mrs. Carroll B. Malone, president of the society, said the initial capital of the trust, totalling $58,122, derives from scholarship grants made to the society thru bequests and other gifts to the organization.

Income from the trust will be used to aid Colorado College students selected by a scholarships committee from the society.

Mrs. Malone explained that the trust agreement was intended to formalize the society's scholarship procedures. The funds will be managed by a group of six trustees, selected by virtue of the offices they hold in the society.

As a permanent trust benefiting the college, the fund is eligible for matching under the Ford Foundation's challenge grant to Colorado College, Mrs. Malone said. The $58,122 will earn from Ford a 40 per cent bonus of $23,228.

Armin B. Barney, chairman of the college board of trustees, hailed the society's action as "another example of the dedication of the Woman's Educational Society to the long term advancement of Colorado College.

"This carefully thought out trust procedure should give potential donors to the society new assurance that they are building perpetual scholarship help for deserving students of the college. All of us in the college are grateful that this action comes at a time when it qualifies as well for inclusion in the Ford matching program."

Details of the trust arrangement were worked out by a committee of society members chaired by Mrs. William Preston and also including Mrs. Otis A. Barnes, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. William Armstrong, Miss Christine Moon, Mrs. Ben Wendelken, Mrs. Charles Carey, and Mrs. Malone.

Initial trustees are Mrs. Malone, as president; Mrs. Charles Carey, as treasurer and member of the finance committee; Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Otis Barnes, as members of the finance committee and Robberts T. Simcock, as treasurer of the college.

In addition to its scholarship program, the Woman's Educational Society has been active in successful building projects for the college from its earliest days. Its achievements include construction of the Dorothea Cornick Dance Studio, remodeling of the women's gymnasium, furnishing the WES conference room in Rastall Center, installation of a sprinkling system, renovation of Perkins Hall and construction and furnishing of Montgomery Hall.

DENTAL ADJUSTMENT

CHICAGO (UPI) — The loss of a person's natural teeth and the prospect of wearing dentures may have psychological repercussions, according to Dr. Earl Pound, of the University of Southern California Dental School.

He told a meeting of the American Dental Association that these worries, permitted to linger, can create a mental trauma that may be difficult to overcome. He said the wearing of partial dentures during the transition to full dentures helps some patients to a less fearful adjustment.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average per capita expenditure for medical care of persons 65 or over during 1961 was $315, two and one-half times the $128 average for persons under 65, reports Donald P. Kent, director of the Office of Aging.

Figured another way: approximately 20 per cent of all expenditures made for personal health services in the United States in '61 went for the care of the nine per cent of the population aged 65 and over.

Reason: the city is putting canal-name signs on its 140 canals. They are like the sreet-name signs used in less liquid towns. The signs, coated with reflective material, can be seen at night from distances of several hundred feet in the headlights of approaching boats.

Teenage Daughter Startles Parents With Engagement

BOONTON, New Jersey (AP)—"We were stunned when Janet wanted to announce her engagement to Paul Perkins when she'd known him only three weeks," says Mrs. P.H. Sibley.

"Janet had just graduated from high school; in fact, Paul proposed to her that evening. She had been accepted at three good nursing schools and now she wanted to give this all up for marriage. I think that upset us the most."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sibley talked to the couple several times, reminding Janet she was only 18, and had had no training in running a home, and suggesting they both wait till they had known each other longer.

"The more we counseled, the more adamant they both were," says Mrs. Sibley. "They had their minds made up before they talked to us, and the points we made just irritated them. We didn't want them to elope because of our disapproval, so we finally agreed."

Though Mrs. Sibley was totally unprepared to have her only child become a teen-age bride, she embarked on plans for an informal wedding in the church both Janet and Paul attended.

In spite of her original disapproval, Mrs. Sibley, as well as her husband, were comforted by the fact that Paul was 25, had a good position as a chemical engineer and so would not have financial problems.

"I think if he'd been a teenager too, we'd have said a flat no. But Paul with his education can always get a good job. He hopes some day to be a plant designer."

Her marriage to Paul uprooted Janet from the security of her parents' home to housekeeping in Paducah, Ky., where Paul had just taken a new position.

But Janet has adjusted rapidly to her new life. She and Paul have a garden apartment, and Janet, says her mother, "is having fun learning how to cook."

Funds May Be Taken Away in Race Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy issued an executive order Saturday giving the government power to withdraw federal funds from any construction projects in which Negro workers are discriminated against.

The President extended the authority of his Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity to cover any federally assisted construction contracts.

It would require contractors on such projects as buildings or highways to grant equal employment chances to Negroes. These contractors would have to notify labor unions of this necessity.

Kennedy announced more than a week ago that he would issue the order.

It gives far-reaching new authority to the equal employment committee which heretofore was empowered to guard against discrimination in federal jobs or among direct federal contractors.

MOVING?

Save money by having extension telephones installed in your new home or apartment when you move in, not later on when there would be an additional service connection charge.

You'll especially appreciate the usefulness of extension phones as you're getting settled. You're receiving lots of calls, making lots of calls. Then, you'll discover that extensions are favorite additions to your home. Choose from three styles—seven colors.

Hospital Benefits from Settlement of Suit

DETROIT (UPI) —A remark that I'd rather give the money to charity rather than to those people" has resulted in a $680 gift to a Denver hospital.

The remark, made by Joseph Rich, a real estate company official in Detroit, came during a suit in common pleas court to get back $340 he paid for two months rent in advance to the owners of the Shelbourne Apartments Inc.

Rich took the suit to court after he found that he could not move in until May 1. The owners of the apartment contended that the lease stated the move-in date was May 1.

Rich made his remark, and added to Judge Benjamin Stanczyk, "if they match my check, judge, you pick the charity, and I'll forget the lawsuit."
the lawsuit."

The secretary of the corporation, Abraham Satovsky, readily agreed.

Stanczyk picked the National Jewish hospital in Denver to receive the gift.

"They do wonderful things there," Stanczyk said. He explained he worked there as an x-ray technician when he was in the Army.

Labrador Named Top Retriever at Show

Jack Love, field trial chairman, said Pepper's Jiggs made the 10 tests "in spectacular style" and was charged with "only one small mistake," in the fifth series of tests.

Fifty-nine dogs from 19 states were entered in the four - day trials.

Judges announced only the championship placing.

Hospital Benefits from Settlement of Suit

DETROIT (UPI) —A remark that I'd rather give the money to charity rather than to those people" has resulted in a $680 gift to a Denver hospital.

The remark, made by Joseph Rich, a real estate company official in Detroit, came during a suit in common pleas court to get back $3.40 he paid for two months rent in advance to the owners of the Shelbourne Apartments Inc.

Rich took the suit to court after he found that he could not move in until May 1. The owners of the apartment contended that the lease stated the move-in date was May 1.

Rich made his remark, and added to Judge Benjamin Stanczyk, "if they match my check, judge, you pick the charity, and I'll forget the lawsuit."
the lawsuit."

The secretary of the corporation, Abraham Satovsky, readily agreed.

Stanczyk picked the National Jewish hospital in Denver to receive the gift.

"They do wonderful things there," Stanczyk said. He explained he worked there as an x-ray technician when he was in the Army.

Six Defendants Are Released in Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Six defendants were set free Saturday by a military court conducting the mass trial of hundreds of young cadets and others who took part in the abortive revolt last month against the rightist coalition of Prime Minister Ismet Inonu.

More than 1,600 were put in jail after eight persons were killed and at least 24 injured in the May 21 attempt.

Labrador Named Top Retriever at Show

Jack Love, field trial chairman, said Pepper's Jiggs made the 10 tests "in spectacular style" and was charged with "only one small mistake," in the fifth series of tests.

Fifty-nine dogs from 19 states were entered in the four-day trials.

Judges announced only the championship placing.

MEL FERRER'S ACCIDENT EXAGGERATED RUMOR

HOLLYWOOD.—Those rumors about Mel Ferrer's accident on the set of "Roman Empire" were like Mark Twain's death. First of all, he wasn't in Spain; he was in Paris doing something for a picture he made there. Then he flew to New York, where Audrey Hepburn met him to see a very private preview of the film she did in Paris with Cary Grant. Now Audrey's back at Warners working on "My Fair Lady," and Mel's in Spain finishing the Sam Bronston film.

Don't know why this surprised me but it did. I've see Mary Martin do everything on stage—fly, wash that man out of her hair nine times a week. And now, by cracky, she's going to sing while standing on her head in her new play. Well, Elsie Mendl stood upside down until she was 90—But she never sang.

Jackie Gleason came to town with two secretaries, a stand-in, and valet; walked into a housewarming Jack Haley arranged at his new Beverly home. Paramount's trying to get a fashion mag to photograph Jackie in his glamor duds.

Over the weekend, I reread Maj. George Jordan's "Diary," and agree with the rest of his fans—he was 10 years ahead of his time. Called him up to find out what he's doing. The major was out of action four months with a kidney ailment. But had just finished a lecture tour (30 states—500 cities). He got on a radio station in Shreveport for 15 minutes; so many calls came in, they kept him two hours. He loves playing Paul Revere, and goes anywhere, any time to wake up Americans. They even let him speak at the Harvard club in Washington, D.C., and were so intrigued they had him back the following week just to answer questions.

Note from Bob Hope: "Thanks for letting the world know my real age. Hope I'm around when you have your 60th so I can scream extra loud. P. W. Why don't we make another Christmas tour with yourself, Mike Connoly, and Shirley MacLaine?" O. K., kid, Shirley and I are packing.

77 Sunset Strip will have a new look this fall—and about time! Only member of the cast to survive was Efrem Zimbalist Jr., who'll carry the show with a big name guest each week. He gets a honey for the first show—Jo Van Fleet.

Mala Powers postcards: "Stopped off in Central City, Colo., on my way to Denver where I'm doing six plays at the Elitch Garden theater—'Always Juliet,' followed by 'Moon Is Blue' and four more." The picture of the old Opera house sure brought back memories of the time I was there for a drama critique with Burns Mantle. After stalling the car on a one-way, winding road, I was finally delivered by the local undertaker, then bedded down in an eagle nest with a skylight. My secretary swears that when it was quiet, I came out with, "Everything about me is swollen but my ego."

Now Audrey's back at Warners working on "My Fair Lady," and Mel's in Spain finishing the Sam Bronston film.

Don't know why this surprised me but it did. I've see Mary Martin do everything on stage—fly, wash that man out of her hair nine times a week. And now, by cracky, she's going to sing while standing on her head in her new play. Well, Elsie Mendl stood upside down until she was 90—But she never sang.

Over the weekend, I reread Maj. George Jordan's "Diary," and agree with the rest of his fans—he was 10 years ahead of his time. Called him up to find out what he's doing. The major was out of action four months with a kidney ailment. But had just finished a lecture tour (30 states—300 cities). He got on a radio station in Shreveport for 15 minutes; so many calls came in, they kept him two hours. He loves playing Paul Revere, and goes anywhere, any time to wake up Americans. They even let him speak at the Harvard club in Washington, D.C., and were so intrigued they had him back the following week just to answer questions.

Note from Bob Hope: "Thanks for letting the world know my real age. Hope I'm around when you have your 60th so I can scream extra loud. P. W. Why don't we make another Christmas tour with yourself, Mike Connoly, and Shirley MacLaine?" O. K., kid, Shirley and I are packing.

77 Sunset Strip will have a new look this fall—and about time! Only member of the cast to survive was Efrem Zimbalist Jr., who'll carry the show with a big name guest each week. He gets a honey for the first show—Jo Van Fleet.

Mala Powers postcards: "Stopped off in Central City, Colo., on my way to Denver where I'm doing six plays at the Elitch Garden theater—'Always Juliet,' followed by 'Moon Is Blue' and four more." The picture of the old Opera house sure brought back memories of the time I was there for a drama critique with Burns Mantle. After stalling the car on a one-way, winding road, I was finally delivered by the local undertaker, then bedded down in an eagle nest with a skylight. My secretary swears that when it was quiet, I came out with, "Everything about me is swollen but my ego."

Walker, Hargis Will Speak At Rally Slated Saturday

Former Gen. Edwin A. Walker and Dr. Billy James Hargis, two of the nation's leading anti-communist conservatives, will speak here Saturday at a rally in the City Auditorium.

The pair will also carry their Americanism rally into Pueblo. They will speak at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Pueblo City Auditorium.

The rally here will begin at 7 p.m.

It will mark Walker's first speaking appearance in this area. According to Hargis, head of the Christian Crusade Anti-Communist Youth University in Manitou Springs, the general will spend most of the summer at The Summit in Manitou lecturing at classes.

He and Hargis recently completed a nationwide speaking tour which carried them into 38 cities in 25 states.

The controversial Walker, who was placed in a mental institution by order of the federal government during the race roits at the University of Mississippi last fall and later released, was shot at last month by an unknown assailant.

He was released from the mental hospital after Dr. Charles Smith, government psychiatrist, who ordered Walker held, testified he had never examined the man.

Walker was relieved of his command in Germany two years ago by President Kennedy for indoctrinating troops under his command with anti-communist and conservative ideas.

He was offered a command of a larger force in the South Pacific, but declined. Since then he has been a leading speaker against liberalism and communism.

During the rally Saturday, Gen. Walker will discuss, "The Choice Before U.S. or U.N.?"

Dr. Hargis, founder and director of the anti-communist movement, Christian Crusade, said that the former general will speak intermitently at The Summit during the summer university sessions which are open to the Public.

Hargis said he will discuss "Americas's Divorcement From God" at the rally.

"We are indeed fortunate to get Gen. Walker to Colorado for these appearances," Hargis said. "He is a very busy man. Tremendous crowds have heard him all over the United States because people want to meet in person this man who has given up so much for his convictions."

The fiery evangelist has described Walker as "walking history."

"We urge all freedom-loving patriots thruout Colorado to support these two rallies and work for capacity attendance in both cities on these dates. This will be Gen. Walker's only appearance in Colorado," Hargis said.

Hargis said that admission to the rally will be a $1 contribution to Hargis' Christian Crusade at the door of the auditorium.

School Aid Given To Orphans Of Veterans

Orphans of deceased veterans planning to enter school this fall under the War Orphans Education Assitance program should file application immediately, E. R. Benke, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Denver, advised today.

Vocational or educational counseling, to assist the orphan in the selection of a goal and the development of a program, is required.

After counseling, an educational plan must be submitted showing the selection goal, the program of education, school he plans to attend, and an estimate of the total cost of the education.

Final VA approval for the program cannot be given until all of the above has been accomplished, Benke said.

The program is for children of deceased veterans whose death was the result of service-connected disability or disease.

Generally, only those orphans between the ages of 18 and 23 who have finished high school, or if not high school graduates, have passed their compulsory school age, are eligible.

However, vocational or restorative training may be authorized for an orphan with physical or mental disability at an earlier age.

Education or training up to 36 months, with monthly allowances of up to $110, may be authorized. Monthly allowances for those taking special restorative training may be increased.

Orphans or their guardians interested in the program should contact the VA office at the Denver Federal Center for further information, Benke said.

Valuable Car Radio Stolen Here Sunday

A $100 car radio was stolen from an automobile belonging to James Kash of 110 Hayes Dr. Sunday, the sheriff's office reported Sunday.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Orvis said the vehicle was parked outside Kash's home and that the antenna and power leads had been cut and the support screws taken out. The radio is a Mercury de luxe model from a 1958 Mercury station wagon.

ACM National Conference To Offer Information Aids

Selective dissemination of information (SDI) to keep technical personnel abreast of the mounting flood of scientific and technican information is now feasible with computer based systems. This is accomplished by use of a "keyword profile" which indicates the interest of the system users.

The profile is automatically compared with keywords extracted from published articles.

Depending on the degree of match, a reply care which includes the abstract is prepared to notify the user of the availability of the information. If the abstract is not adequate, the reply card serves as an order form for the document itself.

SDI will be discussed in detail at the 1963 ACM National Conference to be held in Denver, Colorado Aug. 27-30, by A. B. Barnes and A. Resnick, IBM Corp., Yorktown Heights, N. Y. It is just one of a number of offerings in the general subject area of information retrieval which will be featured at the conference.

"New Methods in Automatic Abstracting" will be detailed by H. P. Edmundson of Thompson Ramo Wooldridge, Inc., Canoga Park, Calif., in a session to be held, August 27. The paper will describe additions and refinements to previously established automatic abstracting methods and will discuss in details tlhe preparation of an "Edit" program to input documents texts, a "Cue Dictionary" program which inputs the fixed word list and an "Abstracting" program which selects and outputs document sentences. Abstracts are produced by four basic methods: Cue method, Key method, Title method, and Location method.

A paper by R. J. Tritschler, IBM Corp., Poughkeepsie, N. Y. suggests that "'perfect' indexing does not exist . . ." Entitled, "Effective Information Searching Strategies Without 'Perfect' Indexing," the paper examines several existing strategies and then suggests that increased emphasis be placed on one that is relatively tolerant of "imperfect" indexing.

The general procedure to be discussed consists of counting the number of search-matched index terms and then calculating a relevance factor for each item found, thus enabling the final search output to be prepared in order of probable relevance.

The FIRE information processing system, designed to automate paper work connected with engineering tasks, will be discussed by J. R. Berry, American Aviation, Inc., Downey, Calif. The system enables users, unfamiliar with the use of computers, to perform all of the functions relating to file maintenance and information retrieval. An easy-to-learn language is involved.

"Computer-Produced Indexes" by D. C. Roper and W. D. Timberlake of IBM Corporation, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. describes an operating general-purposes program system for creating multiple indexes using a small computer. By this method, author, source, code, subject heading, and keyword in title indexes may be requested singly or in any combination.

A. W. Holt, Applied Data Systems, Princeton, N. J., will discuss a system of tree organization and Data Basis for Retrieval," immediately following the contributed paper session.

Conventional computer memory is an oriented path but other organizations may be superimposed through programming to match the needs of representing complex state-of-affairs for query systems.

A special panel discussion on information retrieval is scheduled for Wednesday morning, Aug. 28. Moderated by Louis C. Ray, System Development Corporation, Santa Monica, Calif., panelists will be: Jack Belzer, Western Reserve University; John C. Costello, Jr., Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, O., and Ronald E. Wyllys, also of System Development Corporation.

The panel will survey current approaches to developing a theoretical base for information retrieval work.

Special attention will be given to underdeveloped areas of the subject and to pragmatic approaches to the design of IR systems. Audience participation will be urged.

An independent session will be held on problems involved in sorting and merging techniques in order to discuss them in more detail. A. B. Barnes, H. Fallon, C. B. Hensley, M. E. Kane, A. Resnick, and A. J. Sowarby, all of IBM Corporation, Yorktown Heights, N. Y. and T. R. Savage of Documentation, Inc., Washington, D. C. have prepared a paper on "Selective Dissemination of Information (SDI-4): An IBM 1401 and 7090 Data Processing System." "A Tree Structure System for Sorting, Search and Maintenance" will be detailed by Leon Bloom, Litton Systems, Inc., Canoga Park, Calif. Betty J. Gassner, Department of the Air Force, New York, N. Y., will present a paper on "Sorting by Replacement Selecting."

Other papers in the session on sorting and merging are: "The Organization of Structured Filed," B. J. Dzubak and C. R. Warburton, IBM Corporation, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. and "An Economical Subroutinized Sorting Technique," J. L. Kenney, also of IBM in Poughkeepsie.

"Expanding the Editing Function in Language Data Processing" is the title of an invited paper to be presented Thursday morning, Aug. 19 by L. B. Doyle, Systems Development Corporation, Santa Monica, Calif. The paper visualizes situations in which computer processed text serves as a springboard for application of human intellect through necessary "post editing." This may produce publications of a quality not previously possible.

BROCHURE STUDY — Mrs. E. Ray Campbell of Denver, secretary of the board of directors of the Colorado Mental Health Association studies a brochure on the state's work-study program in mental health at the University of Colorado. Looking on, left to right are John N. Evans of Denver, executive director of the association, Judy Fredricks of Manitou Springs and Judith Watson of Colorado Springs, student interns. The students will spend eight weeks this summer, working and studying in state institutions. They had been presented grant checks from the association by Mrs. Campbell.

Drivers Set Grisly Death Record in State

Colorado motorists compiled another all-time grisly traffic death record for the month of May. Following closely on the heels of the record death toll for March, two of the first five months of 1963 have now set new records for traffic deaths, according to State Patrol Chief Gilbert Carrel.

Fifty traffic deaths recorded in May topped the previous high for that month set in 1960 when 46 were killed in traffic. The March toll of 42 also set a new record for that month.

The five-month traffic death count was 186 ,compared with 148 for the same period in 1962—a 25 per cent increase. The previous five-year average for the five-month period, January thru May, was 143.

Carrel said one of the most disturbing aspects of the five-month toll is that it is well ahead of the death toll for the same period in 1961 when the state recorded its all-time high in traffic deaths, 492. At the end of five months that year, 170 traffic deaths had been reported.

The Chief urged drivers to practice defensive driving during the dangerous driving months ahead, and to shield themselves from traffic trouble by obeying all traffic laws.

Driver Injured As Bike, Car Collide Here

Robert James Hutchings, 21, of Ent, suffered abrasions on both his arms, his forehead and face, and lacerations on his nose and upper lip when his motorcycle collided with a car at Bijou and Weber Streets Saturday night, police reported. Hutchings told police he would go to the Ent Infirmary for treatment.

Ben Juan Padilla, 24, of Denver was driving the car which was north bound on Weber and making a left turn into Bijou when the accident happened, police said.

Hutchings was going south on Weber in the right lane, according to the report.

Wise Water Use Saves Trees, Shrubs

Wise water management can save trees and shrubs. To put it another way, the unwise use of water can do severe damage. Unwise water use is resulting in the death of trees and shrubs in many communities in Colorado this year.

The symptoms, called winter injury, on trees and shrubs are closely related to watering practices. Wise watering practices for the annual flowers and vegetables and lawn grasses are not always compatible with the wise use of water for trees and shrubs.

Warm, almost hot, dry winds in Colorado remove large quantities of water from the leaves. Tree roots must be in good condition to supply the water lost by transpiration.

The tree or shrub stems must also be in good conditions to transport the water from the roots to the leaves. Root cells can be injured by low temperatures during the winter. Low temperature injury is much more likely to occur when the soil is dry. Natural soil organisms enter the injured cells, and roots slowly break down.

Sunscald injury and frost cracks on the main stems are cuased by rapid changes of temperature. Soft succulent wood is much more likely to be injured than mature wood.

With these things known, then, every gardener should try to grow trees and shrubs that are in good condition to take what our climate provides. This means keeping trees and shrubs on the dry side in late summer and early fall.

It also means avoiding over-fertilization, particularly with nitrogen. If nitrogen is necessary, it should be used after leaf fall or in early spring. Fertilizing and heavy watering in the late summer and early fall produces late succulent wood quick susceptible to winter injury.

Because dry soil can get much colder than wet frozen soil, the soil should be thoroly soaked after leaf fall. And, in dry, open winters, winter watering may be necessary.

Battery Reported Taken From Car

Mrs. James Parker of 1826 E. Platte Ave. reported to the sheriff's office Saturday that a Hester 8-volt battery worth $45 had been taken out of her car.

According to Deputy Sheriffs Bernard Barry and Bob Walters she knows the person who took it. He returned an Atlas 15-volt instead which she cannot use.

Student Engaged In Mental Health Study at CU

Judith Watson og 2811 Illinois St., a student at Reed College, is participating in the fourth annual Colorado Summer Work-Study Program in Mental Health which began Monday at the University of Colorado.

The program provides two-weeks of on-campus study and eight weeks of combined institutional experience and seminars in the field of mental health, all granting academic credit and offering some financial compensation to the 40 participating students.

The program started with one week on the Boulder campus for lectures, readings and discussions. The following eight weeks the students will work at nine mental health institutions in the state. During their period of work at the institutions they will visit the other organizations for discussions and tours.

The final week will find them returning to CU for evaluation.

Co-sponsors are the Colorado State Department of Institutions, the University of Colorado Bureau of Sociological Research, the Colorado Association for Mental Health, the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education and the Grant Foundation of New York.

One of the primary goals of the program is to provide possible recruiting opportunities of able students for institutions, according to Asst. Prof. Merle Adams of the CU Sociology Department and director of the project.

"The program also provides an academic experience, and a career testing opportunity for the students wroking in a real life setting," Adams said.

VA Loans Can Be Restored Officials Say

Veterans who have used their GI loan guaranty benefits may have their eligibility restored under certain conditions, E.R. Benke, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Denver, said today.

Eligibility may be restored for World War II veterans up to July 25, 1967 for veterans of the Korean Conflict, up to Jan. 31, 1975, he said.

Following are conditions under which the eligibility may be restored.

1. If the veteran, through no fault of his own, is forced to sell his home for reasons of health, employment, or other compelling reasons.
2. If his property is taken by a Government agency for public use.
3. If his property is destroyed by a natural hazard.
4. If in service, and transferred by military orders and disposes of his home, provided VA is released from liability on that property.
5. If he disposes of his home and moves to another town because of a new and better job (even though the job change is voluntary), providing the VA is released from liability on this loan.

Benke stressed that the VA must be released from liability on the veteran's original property.

If he sells his home and permits the buyer to take over his GI loan on that propery, the VA is still responsible for the guaranty on that loan, and cannot restore his eligibility until that liability has been removed, he explained.

Louis Unser One of Latest To Sign for Peak Hill Climb

Entries to the 41st annual Pikes Peak Hill Climb to be held July 4 are beginning to stack up almost as high as the famous mountain.

Latest entries include Louis Unser of Cascade, "The Old Man of the Mountain" and all time winner of the climb, and Orville Nance of Colorado Springs, who finished fourth last year.

Meanwhile, spokesmen named officials for the climb and said that advance tickets for the "race to the clouds" went on sale today at the Sertoma ticket booth at Tejon Street and Pikes Peak Avenue.

Unser is the all-time winner in the Hill Climb with nine victories to his credit including six records. He won it five times in a row from 1934 to 1939 excluded when no race was held.

Unser also won it three times in a row in 1941 and then when the race continued after the war, in 1946 and 1947. He was the first man to break the 16 minute mark making the climb in 1938 in 15:49.9.

His nephew, Bobby, "The Young Man of the Mountain," has won six of his last seven starts in the race, including the last five in a row. He was the first man to make the climb in under 13 minutes and did it last year in record 12:50.8.

Another nephew, Al, finished second last year in 12:54.6 while Louis came in 12th with his fastest time to date — 14:32.4.

Louis will be driving Chuck Mauro's 220 cu. in Offenhauser Special from Wheatridge. It will mark his 32nd climb. Seven Unsers in two generations have raced up the Peak with Louis and Bobby holding 15 victories between them.

Nance finished fourth in last year's race, his best placing in eight years. In his first attempt, in 1956, his car flipped. Up until 1960, he finished out of the running but in 1960 he finished 10th and has been climbing upwards in the standings ever since.

A Palmer High School graduate, Nance is a crane operator for Wicker Transfer Co. and has been racing stocks, sprints and championship cars for the past 12 years. The 35-year old local resident is one of three brothers in racing and will be driving a car sponsored by J. L. Case & Co.

Officials for the 41st annual Hill Climb will be headed by James Reilly, USAC Rocky Mountain Zone Supervisor. Reilly, who is also president of the Pikes Peak Auto Hill Climb Association, will be chief steward of the 12.42 mile race against time.

Jay Holton, president of the El Paso County Sheriff's Posse, said that his volunteer group will be fully mobilized for the climb, both on July 3 and the day of the race. He said his group has been fully deputised to enforce the "no fireworks" ban in the National Forest and to stop acts of rowdyism and other misdemeanors the night before the race.

The Posse has also been authorized to issue citations to the Justice court at Cripple Creek. Holton said his group would be on hand to aid residents camping out all night on the Peak and will aid in finding parking spaces for spectators.

All proceeds from the Sertoma ticket sales will be used by the local organization to build their Sertoma recreation center and park at Fountain and Institution.

Mrs. Ad Muller and the Ladies Auxiliary will be in charge of the booth which will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday thru Thursday and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Fridays. The weekly schedule will prevail on Saturday.

Tickets for the climb are $2.50 for adults with children under 12 admitted free of charge.

Locate Your Private Shangri-La

By DR. JOSEPH PECK

There is no universal prescription for a successful retirement scheme. Each man who is approaching this period of his life must become his own analyst, getting to know his physical and mental make-up better than ever before so he can work out the right prescription for his retirement years.

This is going to be a chore, because never before in your life were you truly the architect of your own fate. It will call for some serious thought and common sense.

The first thing to do is decide what kind of man you are.

Most likely to enjoy his business menopause is the man who, though he enjoys people when thrown into contact with them, suffers no feelings of anxiety when left to his own resources. If he happens to have a wife who can remake her life to complement his disposition, they will be reasonably contented most anyplace as long as they have each other.

The other great classification includes those individuals who suffer acutely when they find themselves alone. The first man was something of an egotist, perfectly satisfied with himself and his own company, while the other needs the crowd to feel at ease. Neither man is happy in the environment that means so much to the other.

It should not be too hard to classify yourself. Do not try to change at this late date.

Next in importance is whether you move easily or are content to stay where you are.

If you are a Vermont man, pick a neighborhood full of Vermont people, even if it be on a tropical isle. If you grew up in the mountains of the northeast or northwest, do not expect to get a lifelong thrill out of Florida, California or the desert.

The hottest places on the list of Shangri-Las for oldsters today are Phoenix, Ariz., and similar desert spots. To one who has lived many years near the sage brush, rattlesnakes and rabbits, that country looks familiar and, therefore, beautiful. But to one who was raised in a more wooded and greener landscape, it looks as though the Creator had finished up his work with an enormous blowtorch.

Dont' Expect Perfection

Don't move anyplace with the idea that it is going to be perfect or a close facsimile of the golden shore. If you are not willing to put up with a lot of nature's peculiar and unfamiliar moods, you had better stay right where you are. The grass may look greener just over the fence, but close examination will show that it grows burrs too.

In picking your retirement location, remember that climate is not everything. Social and religious environment have a great deal to do with your prospective happiness and that means, of course, that you will not be very comfortable unless your wife can find a social atmosphere similar to that which she left behind.

So I repeat: study yourself, your wife and the spot you have been dreaming about where you won't have to shovel snow. Your first choice may have to last you till the end and I have seen some wonderful dreams shattered because men did not look before they leaped. At retirement age it is not so easy to pick yourself up and start out anew.

While we are on the subject of where to live during the retirement years, I would like to tell you something about these communities that are being built exclusively for senior citizens.

Boredom Kills

Apparently the builders of these communities have spared no expense to make them just as pictured in the prospectus. The houses are beautiful. The facilities for play are ample; the streets are wide and crooked enough to discourage Grandpa from letting out his hot rod. The fairways on the golf courses in desert communities are covered with Bermuda grass, the greatest curse ever placed upon a man who has undergone a rural upbringing. The palm trees give promise of grace and beauty to the landscape.

No children or young people are allowed on the grounds except as visitors, so there is a quiet atmosphere exceeded only by Forest Lawn cemetery in Los Angeles. The human form divine is not a common sight on the streets of these communities.

These human used car lots are springing up all over the Southwest like measles on the face of a redhaired kid and, for the life of me, I cannot see where the profit is unless every owner has his own magic genie to make up for the overhead.

I find a dreary sameness about these places that belongs to all such subdivisions. Somehow they are reminiscent of rabbit hutches.

If I am going to live in a community such as this, I want to see new houses, old houses, squat houses and tall houses, painted houses and weathered houses — kids playing in the dirt and old folks sunning themselves upon the broad verandas and, most of all, tree-lined streets with the branches meeting, so that the roadway looks like a tunnel of love where boys and girls can steal kisses, ragged lawns and untrimmed lilac bushes and all the other sweet confusion of a small American village.

I am sure if I were to move to such a well-ordered and dreary community, the bells would toll for me pretty quickly. Boredom kills men and this would be boredom raised to the nth degree.

Walker, Hargis Will Speak At Rally Slated Saturday

Former Gen. Edwin A. Walker and Dr. Billy James Hargis, two of the nation's leading anti-communist conservatives, will speak here Saturday at a rally in the City Auditorium.

The pair will also carry their Americanism rally into Pueblo. They will speak at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Pueblo City Auditorium.

The rally here will begin at 7 p.m.

It will mark Walker's first speaking appearance in this area. According to Hargis, head of the Christian Crusade Anti-Communist Youth University in Manitou Springs, the general will spend most of the summer at The Summit in Manitou lecturing at classes.

He and Hargis recently completed a nationwide speaking tour which carried them into 38 cities in 25 states.

The controversial Walker, who was placed in a mental institution by order of the federal government during the race roits at the University of Mississippi last fall and later released, was shot at last month by an unknown assailant.

He was released from the mental hospital after Dr. Charles Smith, government psychiatrist, who ordered Walker held, testified he had never examined the man.

Walker was relieved of his command in Germany two years ago by President Kennedy for indoctrinating troops under his command with anti-communist and conservative ideas.

He was offered a command of a larger force in the South Pacific, but declined. Since then he has been a leading speaker against liberalism and communism.

During the rally Saturday, Gen. Walker will discuss, "The Choice Before U.S. or U.N.?"

Dr. Hargis, founder and director of the anti-communist movement, Christian Crusade, said that the former general will speak intermitently at The Summit during the summer university sessions which are open to the Public.

Hargis said he will discuss "Americas's Divorcement From God" at the rally.

"We are indeed fortunate to get Gen. Walker to Colorado for these appearances," Hargis said. "He is a very busy man. Tremendous crowds have heard him all over the United States because people want to meet in person this man who has given up so much for his convictions."

The fiery evangelist has described Walker as "walking history."

"We urge all freedom-loving patriots thruout Colorado to support these two rallies and work for capacity attendance in both cities on these dates. This will be Gen. Walker's only appearance in Colorado," Hargis said.

Hargis said that admission to the rally will be a $1 contribution to Hargis' Christian Crusade at the door of the auditorium.

School Aid Given To Orphans Of Veterans

Orphans of deceased veterans planning to enter school this fall under the War Orphans Education Assitance program should file application immediately, E. R. Benke, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Denver, advised today.

Vocational or educational counseling, to assist the orphan in the selection of a goal and the development of a program, is required.

After counseling, an educational plan must be submitted showing the selection goal, the program of education, school he plans to attend, and an estimate of the total cost of the education.

Final VA approval for the program cannot be given until all of the above has been accomplished, Benke said.

The program is for children of deceased veterans whose death was the result of service-connected disability or disease.

Generally, only those orphans between the ages of 18 and 23 who have finished high school, or if not high school graduates, have passed their compulsory school age, are eligible.

However, vocational or restorative training may be authorized for an orphan with physical or mental disability at an earlier age.

Education or training up to 36 months, with monthly allowances of up to $110, may be authorized. Monthly allowances for those taking special restorative training may be increased.

Orphans or their guardians interested in the program should contact the VA office at the Denver Federal Center for further information, Benke said.

Valuable Car Radio Stolen Here Sunday

A $100 car radio was stolen from an automobile belonging to James Kash of 110 Hayes Dr. Sunday, the sheriff's office reported Sunday.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Orvis said the vehicle was parked outside Kash's home and that the antenna and power leads had been cut and the support screws taken out. The radio is a Mercury de luxe model from a 1958 Mercury station wagon.

ACM National Conference To Offer Information Aids

Selective dissemination of information (SDI) to keep technical personnel abreast of the mounting flood of scientific and technican information is now feasible with computer based systems. This is accomplished by use of a "keyword profile" which indicates the interest of the system users.

The profile is automatically compared with keywords extracted from published articles.

Depending on the degree of match, a reply care which includes the abstract is prepared to notify the user of the availability of the information. If the abstract is not adequate, the reply card serves as an order form for the document itself.

SDI will be discussed in detail at the 1963 ACM National Conference to be held in Denver, Colorado Aug. 27-30, by A. B. Barnes and A. Resnick, IBM Corp., Yorktown Heights, N. Y. It is just one of a number of offerings in the general subject area of information retrieval which will be featured at the conference.

"New Methods in Automatic Abstracting" will be detailed by H. P. Edmundson of Thompson Ramo Wooldridge, Inc., Canoga Park, Calif., in a session to be held, August 27. The paper will describe additions and refinements to previously established automatic abstracting methods and will discuss in details tlhe preparation of an "Edit" program to input documents texts, a "Cue Dictionary" program which inputs the fixed word list and an "Abstracting" program which selects and outputs document sentences. Abstracts are produced by four basic methods: Cue method, Key method, Title method, and Location method.

A paper by R. J. Tritschler, IBM Corp., Poughkeepsie, N. Y. suggests that "'perfect' indexing does not exist. . ." Entitled, "Effective Information Searching Strategies Without 'Perfect' Indexing," the paper examines several existing strategies and then suggests that increased emphasis be placed on one that is relatively tolerant of "imperfect" indexing.

The general procedure to be discussed consists of counting the number of search-matched index terms and then calculating a relevance factor for each item found, thus enabling the final search output to be prepared in order of probable relevance.

The FIRE information processing system, designed to automate paper work connected with engineering tasks, will be discussed by J. R. Berry, American Aviation, Inc., Downey, Calif. The system enables users, unfamiliar with the use of computers, to perform all of the functions relating to file maintenance and information retrieval. An easy-to-learn language is involved.

"Computer-Produced Indexes" by D. C. Roper and W. D. Timberlake of IBM Corporation, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. describes an operating general-purposes program system for creating multiple indexes using a small computer. By this method, author, source, code, subject heading, and keyword in title indexes may be requested singly or in any combination.

A. W. Holt, Applied Data Systems, Princeton, N. J., will discuss a system of tree organization and Data Basis for Retrieval," immediately following the contributed paper session.

Conventional computer memory is an oriented path but other organizations may be superimposed through programming to match the needs of representing complex state-of-affairs for query systems.

A special panel discussion on information retrieval is scheduled for Wednesday morning, Aug. 28. Moderated by Louis C. Ray, System Development Corporation, Santa Monica, Calif., panelists will be: Jack Belzer, Western Reserve University; John C. Costello, Jr., Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, O., and Ronald E. Wyllys, also of System Development Corporation.

The panel will survey current approaches to developing a theoretical base for information retrieval work.

Special attention will be given to underdeveloped areas of the subject and to pragmatic approaches to the design of IR systems. Audience participation will be urged.

An independent session will be held on problems involved in sorting and merging techniques in order to discuss them in more detail. A. B. Barnes, H. Fallon, C. B. Hensley, M. E. Kane, A. Resnick, and A. J. Sowarby, all of IBM Corporation, Yorktown Heights, N. Y. and T. R. Savage of Documentation, Inc., Washington, D. C. have prepared a paper on "Selective Dissemination of Information (SDI-4): An IBM 1401 and 7090 Data Processing System." "A Tree Structure System for Sorting, Search and Maintenance" will be detailed by Leon Bloom, Litton Systems, Inc., Canoga Park, Calif. Betty J. Gassner, Department of the Air Force, New York, N. Y., will present a paper on "Sorting by Replacement Selecting."

Other papers in the session on sorting and merging are: "The Organization of Structured Filed," B. J. Dzubak and C. R. Warburton, IBM Corporation, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. and "An Economical Subroutinized Sorting Technique," J. L. Kenney, also of IBM in Poughkeepsie.

"Expanding the Editing Function in Language Data Processing" is the title of an invited paper to be presented Thursday morning, Aug. 19 by L. B. Doyle, Systems Development Corporation, Santa Monica, Calif. The paper visualizes situations in which computer processed text serves as a springboard for application of human intellect through necessary "post editing." This may produce publications of a quality not previously possible.

BROCHURE STUDY — Mrs. E. Ray Campbell of Denver, secretary of the board of directors of the Colorado Mental Health Association studies a brochure on the state's work-study program in mental health at the University of Colorado. Looking on, left to right are John N. Evans of Denver, executive director of the association, Judy Fredricks of Manitou Springs and Judith Watson of Colorado Springs, student interns. The students will spend eight weeks this summer, working and studying in state institutions. They had been presented grant checks from the association by Mrs. Campbell.

Drivers Set Grisly Death Record in State

Colorado motorists compiled another all-time grisly traffic death record for the month of May. Following closely on the heels of the record death toll for March, two of the first five months of 1963 have now set new records for traffic deaths, according to State Patrol Chief Gilbert Carrel.

Fifty traffic deaths recorded in May topped the previous high for that month set in 1960 when 46 were killed in traffic. The March toll of 42 also set a new record for that month.

The five-month traffic death count was 186 ,compared with 148 for the same period in 1962—a 25 per cent increase. The previous five-year average for the five-month period, January thru May, was 143.

Carrel said one of the most disturbing aspects of the five-month toll is that it is well ahead of the death toll for the same period in 1961 when the state recorded its all-time high in traffic deaths, 492. At the end of five months that year, 170 traffic deaths had been reported.

The Chief urged drivers to practice defensive driving during the dangerous driving months ahead, and to shield themselves from traffic trouble by obeying all traffic laws.

Driver Injured As Bike, Car Collide Here

Robert James Hutchings, 21, of Ent, suffered abrasions on both his arms, his forehead and face, and lacerations on his nose and upper lip when his motorcycle collided with a car at Bijou and Weber Streets Saturday night, police reported. Hutchings told police he would go to the Ent Infirmary for treatment.

Ben Juan Padilla, 24, of Denver was driving the car which was north bound on Weber and making a left turn into Bijou when the accident happened, police said.

Hutchings was going south on Weber in the right lane, according to the report.

Wise Water Use Saves Trees, Shrubs

Wise water management can save trees and shrubs. To put it another way, the unwise use of water can do severe damage. Unwise water use is resulting in the death of trees and shrubs in many communities in Colorado this year.

The symptoms, called winter injury, on trees and shrubs are closely related to watering practices. Wise watering practices for the annual flowers and vegetables and lawn grasses are not always compatible with the wise use of water for trees and shrubs.

Warm, almost hot, dry winds in Colorado remove large quantities of water from the leaves. Tree roots must be in good condition to supply the water lost by transpiration.

The tree or shrub stems must also be in good conditions to transport the water from the roots to the leaves. Root cells can be injured by low temperatures during the winter. Low temperature injury is much more likely to occur when the soil is dry. Natural soil organisms enter the injured cells, and roots slowly break down.

Sunscald injury and frost cracks on the main stems are cuased by rapid changes of temperature. Soft succulent wood is much more likely to be injured than mature wood.

With these things known, then, every gardener should try to grow trees and shrubs that are in good condition to take what our climate provides. This means keeping trees and shrubs on the dry side in late summer and early fall.

It also means avoiding overfertilization, particularly with nitrogen. If nitrogen is necessary, it should be used after leaf fall or in early spring. Fertilizing and heavy watering in the late summer and early fall produces late succulent wood quick susceptible to winter injury.

Because dry soil can get much colder than wet frozen soil, the soil should be thoroly soaked after leaf fall. And, in dry, open winters, winter watering may be necessary.

Battery Reported Taken From Car

Mrs. James Parker of 1826 E. Platte Ave. reported to the sheriff's office Saturday that a Hester 8-volt battery worth $45 had been taken out of her car.

According to Deputy Sheriffs Bernard Barry and Bob Walters she knows the person who took it. He returned an Atlas 12-volt instead which she cannot use.

Student Engaged In Mental Health Study at CU

Judith Watson og 2811 Illinois St., a student at Reed College, is participating in the fourth annual Colorado Summer Work-Study Program in Mental Health which began Monday at the University of Colorado.

The program provides two-weeks of on-campus study and eight weeks of combined institutional experience and seminars in the field of mental health, all granting academic credit and offering some financial compensation to the 40 participating students.

The program started with one week on the Boulder campus for lectures, readings and discussions. The following eight weeks the students will work at nine mental health institutions in the state. During their period of work at the institutions they will visit the other organizations for discussions and tours.

The final week will find them returning to CU for evaluation.

Co-sponsors are the Colorado State Department of Institutions, the University of Colorado Bureau of Sociological Research, the Colorado Association for Mental Health, the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education and the Grant Foundation of New York.

One of the primary goals of the program is to provide possible recruiting opportunities of able students for institutions, according to Asst. Prof. Merle Adams of the CU Sociology Department and director of the project.

"The program also provides an academic experience, and a career testing opportunity for the students wroking in a real life setting," Adams said.

VA Loans Can Be Restored Officials Say

Veterans who have used their GI loan guaranty benefits may have their eligibility restored under certain conditions, E.R. Benke, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Denver, said today.

Eligibility may be restored for World War II veterans up to July 25, 1967 for veterans of the Korean Conflict, up to Jan. 31, 1975, he said.

Following are conditions under which the eligibility may be restored:

1. If the vereran, through no fault of his own, is forced to sell his home for reasons of health, employment, or other compelling reasons.
2. If his property is taken by a Government agency for public use.
3. If his property is destroyed by a natural hazard.
4. If in service, and transferred by military orders and disposes of his home, provided VA is released from liability on that property.
5. If he disposes of his home and moves to another town because of a new and better job (even though the job change is voluntary), providing the VA is released from liability on this loan.

Benke stressed that the VA must be released from liability on the veteran's original property.

If he sells his home and permits the buyer to take over his GI loan on that propery, the VA is still responsible for the guaranty on that loan, and cannot restore his eligibility until that liability has been removed, he explained.

Locate Your Private Shangri-La

Entries to the 41st annual Pikes Peak Hill Climb to be held July 4 are beginning to stack up almost as high as the famous mountain.

Latest entries include Louis Unser of Cascade, "The Old Man of the Mountain" and all time winner of the climb, and Orville Nance of Colorado Springs, who finished fourth last year.

Meanwhile, spokesmen named officials for the climb and said that advance tickets for the "race to the clouds" went on sale today at the Sertoma ticket booth at Tejon Street and Pikes Peak Avenue.

Unser is the all-time winner in the Hill Climb with nine victories to his credit including six records. He won it five times in a row from 1934 to 1939 excluded when no race was held.

Unser also won it three times in a row in 1941 and then when the race continued after the war, in 1946 and 1947. He was the first man to break the 16 minute mark making the climb in 1938 in 15:49.9.

His nephew, Bobby, "The Young Man of the Mountain," has won six of his last seven starts in the race, including the last five in a row. He was the first man to make the climb in under 13 minutes and did it last year in record 12:50.8.

Another nephew, Al, finished second last year in 12:54.6 while Louis came in 12th with his fastest time to date — 14:32.4.

Louis will be driving Chuck Mauro's 220 cu. in Offenhauser Special from Wheatridge. It will mark his 32nd climb. Seven Unsers in two generations have raced up the Peak with Louis and Bobby holding 15 victories between them.

Nance finished fourth in last year's race, his best placing in eight years. In his first attempt, in 1956, his car flipped. Up until 1960, he finished out of the running but in 1960 he finished 10th and has been climbing upwards in the standings ever since.

A Palmer High School graduate, Nance is a crane operator for Wicker Transfer Co. and has been racing stocks, sprints and championship cars for the past 12 years. The 35-year old local resident is one of three brothers in racing and will be driving a car sponsored by J. L. Case & Co.

Officials for the 41st annual Hill Climb will be headed by James Reilly, USAC Rocky Mountain Zone Supervisor. Reilly, who is also president of the Pikes Peak Auto Hill Climb Association, will be chief steward of the 12.42 mile race against time.

Wheat Ridge Sweeps Pair From Ent Squad

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Lanky Pete Benjamin, a bargain-basement-out during most of the afternoon, delivered key late-inning blows in both games of a doubleheader Sunday to lead Wheat Ridge to a sweep of the set from the Ent American Legion nine at Peterson Field's diamond.

The double defeat left the Colorado Springs club with a 1-2 record in league action heading into Tuesday night's 7:30 p.m. return match with Aurora's defending state champions. Ent downed Aurora in an earlier contest but will undoubtedly have to improve on Sunday's performances if a repeat of that is to take place Tuesday. Aurora established itself as the team to beat when the Denver suburban nine squeezed out a win over Billings, Mont., the defending Legion national champion, Saturday night.

Wheat Ridge rode the pitching of a pair of softballing righthanders to the surprising 4-2 and 3-1 sweep of Sunday's twin bill. Ent also enjoyed fine hurling from Tom Johnson and Leroy Porterfield but continued weak play in the outfield plus failure to deliver with men on base provided the northern team with all the margin it needed.

Johnson gave up just eight hits in the nine inning opener but four of them, including a damaging triple by Benjamin, were bunched in the eighth as Wheat Ridge broke a 2-2 deadlock with a pair of tallies.

In the seven inning nightcap, Portefield allowed seven safeties but fanned 11, with the strikeout pitch taking him out of several early jams. Then, after a single and base-on-balls in the sixth, Benjamin picked up an inside pitch and slapped it over the left field fence for a three-run homer. Ironically, Portefield struck out the side in the same frame.

Benjamin had popped up twice and reached base on an error before cracking his triple in the first game. In two trips preceeding his second game homer, he had grounded weakly to second and fanned.

Ent outhit the visitors 10-8 in the opener and matched the winners' seven safeties in the nightcap. But the local club was generally ineffective with runners on base, The soft breaking pitches of Wheat Ridge hurlers Al Raisch and Barry Kushner had most of the order tied in knots. In addition four Ent runners were cut down attempting to steal.

Wheat Ridge grabbed an early 1-0 lead in the first game by pushing across a second inning run on only one hit. Ent picked up an unearned tally in the top of the fifth to tie it but Raish's triple and a single by Ken Frazier gave the visitors the lead again in the bottom of the frame.

Ent then forced another tie in the sixth as Mike Hinton led off with a triple and came across on Mike Teague's single. The local club had the leading run on third in the seventh and on second in the eighth but failed to push it across both times. Suddenly, in the bottom of the eighth Wheat Ridge erupted for four consecutive hits to ice the contest.

In the second game, neither team could take advantage of early scoring opportunities. Teague tripled to lead off the fourth but was stranded when Hal Meller grounded back to the box, Lloyd Crawford fanned, and Bill Russ skied to right.

Wheat Ridge had runners as far as second in every inning except the first but Porterfield slammed the door each time until the sixth. In that frame, Phil Smith led off with a single and Don Alley walked. Porterfield then got Al Cluck on strikes but Benjamin followed with his blast over the left field barrier and the crusher had been applied.

Ent got one unearned run across in the bottom of the sixth and had the tying markers at first and second when Crawford strayed too far off base and was picked off. In the seventh Ent again had the potential tying runs on when Teague flied to left to end the game.

Hasty House Stops Ent In Legion

The Hasty House nine took a doubleheader from the unbeaten Ent "B" squad Sunday at the Security Park diamond to highlight the weekend action in the American Legion "B" division.

Bob Kochis, who turned in a 4-1 loss and won record for the state AAA finalist Wasson last spring, threw a four-hitter to register a 10-4 whacking over Dwight Helm's Ent crew while John McCaffery pitched Hasty to its second victory, 4-2.

Ent's 15-year-old ace hurler, Phil Johnson took his first loss of the season in that opening tilt as his teammates went on an eight-error binge. Johnson had previously recorded two no-hitters in his last two starts, but against Hasty House he received poor support from his fielders.

Johnson was tapped for 11 hits as the Hasty bombers exploded against the Ent pitching whiz. Johnson still managed to strike out 11 batsmen while giving up two walks.

In other Legion B games played Sunday, West Side continued to lead the league as they registered their fourth straight win without defeat in taking a doubleheader from Rotary, 7-2 and 5-3. Dan Gieck hurled a five-hitter in the opener and Rich Tafoya was credited with the second.

Security swept two from Rush, 10-1 and 13-2, to even their record at 2-2, and Air Academy split with Latin America Club with the Flyers winning the first game, 7-4, and Latin America coming back in the nightcap, 7-5.

Prior to Sunday's games, the Ent team had only allowed three runs scored on them for a 4-0 record. But the Hasty squad proved too strong in both hitting and fielding. Kochis fanned 13 Ent batters while giving up four walks.

McCaffery's victory in the second game allowed the Hasty House team to pull near the top in league standings with a 3-1 record. Their previous loss came from the Air Academy High team.

The Hasty House nine belted out nine hits in the second game to push across four runs, including Jim Bortos' four-bagger blast over the 350-foot center field fence. Bortos bagged his homer in the bottom of the opening frame off Ent pitcher Barrie Riddoch with one man on base.

Moose Wins 2nd Open

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Julius (Moose) Boros, the oldest man ever to win the National Open golf tournament, is a hulking, plodding, pleasant fellow who rearely shows emotion but lifts a disdianful eyebrow when anyone mentions the Big Three.

"I felt a little reluctant to accept that big check," Boros quipped with $16,000 in his baggy pants after a 1-under par 70 Sunday had swept him to his second Open title in a three-way playoff with ailing Arnold Palmer and young Jacky Cupit.

"I thought it was already in the bank for one of the Big Three."

Boros wouldn't dwell on the subject but it was plain he shared the feeling of many professionals that the public has been led unjustly to believe that golf starts and stops these days with Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

The fact that he whipped the mighty Palmer by six shots—even though Arnold was off his feed, said he felt lousy and rushed away from the course with hardly a word—obviously was a great satisfaction to the 6-foot, 200-pound veteran from Connecticut.

Since Boros turned professional in 1947, he has performed as well as anyone in America's premier championship with nine finishes in the top 10. He has won the Open twice, the first time in 1952, and has been second twice, third once, fourth twice, fifth one and ninth once.

Although at 43 he is 10 years older than any of the Big Three and 20 years older than Nicklaus, who failed to make the 36-hole cut here while Player ended back in the pack, Boros has been the finest player on the PGA tour in the last two months. He has won three championships since May 12, beginning with the Colonial National Invitation and continuig thru the Buick Open before the big one, and in that period alone has pocketed nearly $45,000 of his 1963 total of $59,680. His career earnings top $300,000.

"He is a great player," said Cupit, who finished three strokes behind Boros with a 2-over-par 73. "I think he rates as one of the best three players in golf right now."

Boros showed no false modesty about his abilities after the last shots had been fired at the 6,870-yard, par 35-36—71 old course of the Country Club.

With Cupit away shakily and Palmer far off his game and finally out of it completely with a triple bogey 7 at the 11th hole, Boros took control with birdies after brilliant close-in iron shots on the fourth and fifth holes. He ran in a 10-foot uphill curling putt for another birdie at the ninth to make the turn in a 2-under-par 33 and then clinched matters with a 10-footer for a birdie at the 17th when Cupit was making a mild challenge.

"I just go out there and hit the ball," he said. "I don't have any plan. When I feel right, when I'm hitting the ball, I can play well on any golf course."

McKinley, Ralston Bright Hopes for U.S. in Tennis

By GEOFFREY MILLER

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—America's hopes of winning the Wimbledon men's singles championship—regarded as the most glamorous in amateur tennis—are the brititest in eight years.

McKinley, fourth-seeded, was paired against Colin Drysdale of South Africa and Ralston was down to meet Laci Legenstein, Austria, in other first round matches.

Ralston, a student at Southern California, is the new collegiate champion of the United States. He won the NCAA crown Saturday at Princeton, N.J.

With Rod Laver, of Australia, the Wimbledon winner the last two years, now a professional, the U.S. hopes of winning are considered the brightest since Tony Trabert took the title back to America in 1955.

McKinley, crushed by Laver in the final two years ago, has been training hard since April.

"I'm in good shape and I'm more relaxed than last year," the 22-year-old U.S. Davis Cupper said. "I'm optimistic, but at Wimbledon every match is good."

Last year McKinley, bothered by an arm injury, was upset in the second round by Britain's Mike Hann.

Betting on all sports events is legal in Britain. The odds offered by the bookies show Emerson favored at 7-4 with Manuel Santana of Spain the second choice at 4-1. McKinley and Rafael Osuna, of Mexico another student at Southern Cal, at 13-2 with Ralston and Bob Hewitt of Australia next at 8-1. Ramanathan Krishnan of India and Martin Mulligan, Australia, are 9-1.

Plummer Chosen Top WAC Athlete

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Adolph Plummer, the University of New Mexico senior who shattered the world record for the 440-yard dash, was chosen today as the Western Athletic Conference athlete-of-the-year.

Plummer nosed out another star, Arizona State University's Henry Carr, 51-47, in voting by Associated Press member newspapers and broadcast stations in the WAC area.

Plummer's brilliant, and somewhat fantastic :44.9 clocking for the quarter mile came in the WAC track and field championships May 25.

The 6-foot-4 Brooklyn, N.Y., runner outsprinted his old rival, A-State's Ulis Williams, for the first time in bettering the world standard of :45.7 set by Glenn Davis of Ohio State in 1958.

Plummer, who claims he began running in the Air Force only because it meant better duty, said to Williams after the race, "Man, that's really cutting."

And it was, as Williams also beat the old record in :45.6.

Carr also earned his share of glory. Seven times within four months he equaled or bettered the world record for the 220-yard dash.

The 6-foot-3 Detroit, Mich., sophomore has a best of :20.3—also a new mark. The old standard was :20.5.

Carr also ran a leg on A-State's mile relay team—the greatest ever in collegiate competition. The team's 3:04.5 is pending as a world record. The old mark was 3:05.6.

The muscular speedster, who also plays football, led A-State to the first WAC track title by winning the 100 and 220-yard dashes and running on the winning 440 and mile relay teams.

Fortie was the No. 1 crowd pleaser of the WAC's first football season. He was second nationally in rushing with 1,149 yards, second in passing with 814, second in scoring with 86 points and was named to The Associated Press All-America second team.

The 5-11, 167-pound senior's best game was against Arizona, when he passed and rushed for 343 yards in a losing cause. Fortie's heroics often were in losing efforts, as the Cougars were just 5-5.

Others receiving votes:

American Track Team Appears Ready for Reds

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — America's best track and field athletes have made it clear they intend to protect their country's perfect track record against Russia with their record-busting show in the 75th AAU meet here.

A world record 9.1 seconds by husky Bob Hayes of Florida A&M in the 100-yard dash, the first dead heat in AAU history and a dramatic mile race topped the list.

Six meet records fell, two were equalled and an American record was tied. Marks in 10 of the 19 events were the best this season in the United States.

The AAU Track and Field Committee named a team of 51 men and two alternates to represent the j.s. in four major European meet, starting with the Russian meet in Moscow July 20-21.

The team, to be coached by Payton Jordan of Stanford, includes 19 men who scored in the meet with Russia last year, 10 who have scored two straight years and one—Hayes Jones, of Detroit—who has scored in the 110 meter high hurdles in all four Russian meets. Jones tied the meet records of 13.4 in the high hurdles Friday.

Ulis Williams of Arizona State, who again equalled his meet record of 45.8 seconds in the 440-yard dash Saturday, has taken the 400 meters against Russia two straight years. Ralph Boston, the AAU broad jump winner again at 26-10, has won the event two straight years.

Dyrol Burleson of Eugene, Ore., whose blazing finish in the mile set a meet record of 3:56.7, said he felt certain he could leave his insurance job long enough for the Russian meet, but couldn't make the others in Poland, West Germany and England.

Committee Chairman J. B. Haralson indicated the AAU might send burleson to the single meet. Little Tom O'Hara of Chicago Loyola, a close second at 3:56.9 and Marine Lt. Cary Weisiger third at 3:58.5, both were named to the U.S. team.

Jim Beatty of Los Angeles, the favorite and record holder, was fourth at 3:59.2 but was named to the team for the 5,000 meters. Beatty is a two-time winner of the 1,500 meters against Russia.

Wheat Ridge Sweeps Pair From Ent Squad

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Lanky Pete Benjamin, a bargain-basement-out during most of the afternoon, delivered key late-inning blows in both games of a doubleheader Sunday to lead Wheat Ridge to a sweep of the set from the Ent American Legion nine at Peterson Field's diamond.

The double defeat left the Colorado Springs club with a 1-2 record in league action heading into Tuesday night's 7:30 p.m. return match with Aurora's defending state champions. Ent downed Aurora in an earlier contest but will undoubtedly have to improve on Sunday's performances if a repeat of that is to take place Tuesday. Aurora established itself as the team to beat when the Denver suburban nine squeezed out a win over Billings, Mont., the defending Legion national champion, Saturday night.

Wheat Ridge rode the pitching of a pair of softballing righthanders to the surprising 4-2 and 3-1 sweep of Sunday's twin bill. Ent also enjoyed fine hurling from Tom Johnson and Leroy Porterfield but continued weak play in the outfield plus failure to deliver with men on base provided the northern team with all the margin it needed.

Johnson gave up just eight hits in the nine inning opener but four of them, including a damaging triple by Benjamin, were bunched in the eighth as Wheat Ridge broke a 2-2 deadlock with a pair of tallies.

In the seven inning nightcap, Portefield allowed seven safeties but fanned 11, with the strikeout pitch taking him out of several early jams. Then, after a single and base-on-balls in the sixth, Benjamin picked up an inside pitch and slapped it over the left field fence for a three-run homer. Ironically, Portefield struck out the side in the same frame.

Benjamin had popped up twice and reached base on an error before cracking his triple in the first game. In two trips preceeding his second game homer, he had grounded weakly to second and fanned.

Ent outhit the visitors 10-8 in the opener and matched the winners' seven safeties in the nightcap. But the local club was generally ineffective with runners on base. The soft breaking pitches of Wheat Ridge hurlers Al Raisch and Barry Kushner had most of the order tied in knots. In addition four Ent runners were cut down attempting to steal.

Wheat Ridge grabbed an early 1-0 lead in the first game by pushing across a second inning run on only one hit. Ent picked up an unearned tally in the top of the fifth to tie it but Raish's triple and a single by Ken Frazier gave the visitors the lead again in the bottom of the frame.

Ent then forced another tie in the sixth as Mike Hinton led off with a triple and came across on Mike Teague's single. The local club had the leading run on third in the seventh and on second in the eighth but failed to push it across both times. Suddenly, in the bottom of the eighth Wheat Ridge erupted for four consecutive hits to ice the contest.

In the second game, neither team could take advantage of early scoring opportunities. Teague tripled to lead off the fourth but was stranded when Hal Meller grounded back to the box, Lloyd Crawford fanned, and Bill Russ skied to right.

Wheat Ridge had runners as far as second in every inning except the first but Porterfield slammed the door each time until the sixth. In that frame, Phil Smith led off with a single and Don Alley walked. Porterfield then got Al Cluck on strikes but Benjamin followed with his blast over the left field barrier and the crusher had been applied.

Ent got one unearned run across in the bottom of the sixth and had the tying markers at first and second when Crawford strayed too far off base and was picked off. In the seventh Ent again had the potential tying runs on when Teague flied to left to end the game.

Hasty House Stops Ent In Legion

The Hasty House nine took a doubleheader from the unbeaten Ent "B" squad Sunday at the Security Park diamond to highlight the weekend action in the American Legion "B" division.

Bob Kochis, who turned in a 4-1 loss and won record for the state AAA finalist Wasson last spring, threw a four-hitter to register a 10-4 whacking over Dwight Helm's Ent crew while John McCaffery pitched Hasty to its second victory, 4-2.

Ent's 15-year-old ace hurler, Phil Johnson took his first loss of the season in that opening tilt as his teammates went on an eight-error binge. Johnson had previously recorded two no-hitters in his last two starts, but against Hasty House he received poor support from his fielders.

Johnson was tapped for 11 hits as the Hasty bombers exploded against the Ent pitching whiz. Johnson still managed to strike out 11 batsmen while giving up two walks.

In other Legion B games played Sunday, West Side continued to lead the league as they registered their fourth straight win without defeat in taking a doubleheader from Rotary, 7-2 and 5-3. Dan Gleck hurled a five-hitter in the opener and Rich Tafoya was credited with the second.

Security swept two from Rush, 10-1 and 13-2, to even their record at 2-2, and Air Academy split with Latin America Club with the Flyers winning the first game, 7-4, and Latin America coming back in the nightcap, 7-5.

Prior to Sunday's games, the Ent team had only allowed three runs scored on them for a 4-0 record. But the Hasty squad proved too strong in both hitting and fielding. Kochis fanned 13 Ent batters while giving up four walks.

McCaffery's victory in the second game allowed the Hasty House team to pull near the top in league standings with a 3-1 record. Their previous loss came from the Air Academy High team.

The Hasty House nine belted out nine hits in the second game to push across four runs, including Jim Bortos' four-bagger blast over the 350-foot center field fence. Bortos bagged his homer in the bottom of the opening frame off Ent pitcher Barrie Riddoch with one man on base.

Moose Wins 2nd Open

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Julius (Moose) Boros, the oldest man ever to win the National Open golf tournament, is a hulking, plodding, pleasant fellow who rearely shows emotion but lifts a disdianful eyebrow when anyone mentions the Big Three.

"I felt a little reluctant to accept that big check," Boros quipped with $16,000 in his baggy pants after a 1-under par 70 Sunday had swept him to his second Open title in a three-way playoff with ailing Arnold Palmer and young Jacky Cupit.

"I thought it was already in the bank for one of the Big Three."

Boros wouldn't dwell on the subject but it was plain he shared the feeling of many professionals that the public has been led unjustly to believe that golf starts and stops these days with Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

The fact that he whipped the mighty Palmer by six shots—even though Arnold was off his feed, said he felt lousy and rushed away from the course with hardly a word—obviously was a great satisfaction to the 6-foot, 200-pound veteran from Connecticut.

Since Boros turned professional in 1947, he has performed as well as anyone in America's premier championship with nine finishes in the top 10. He has won the Open twice, the first time in 1952, and has been second twice, third once, fourth twice, fifth one and ninth once.

Although at 43 he is 10 years older than any of the Big Three and 20 years older than Nicklaus, who failed to make the 36-hole cut here while Player ended back in the pack, Boros has been the finest player on the PGA tour in the last two months. He has won three championships since May 12, beginning with the Colonial National Invitation and continuig thru the Buick Open before the big one, and in that period alone has pocketed nearly $45,000 of his 1963 total of $59,680. His career earnings top $300,000.

"He is a great player," said Cupit, who finished three strokes behind Boros with a 2-over-par 73. "I think he rates as one of the best three players in golf right now."

Boros showed no false modesty about his abilities after the last shots had been fired at the 6,870-yard, par 35-36—71 old course of the Country Club.

With Cupit away shakily and Palmer far off his game and finally out of it completely with a triple bogey 7 at the 11th hole, Boros took control with birdies after brilliant close-in iron shots on the fourth and fifth holes. He ran in a 10-foot uphill curling putt for another birdie at the ninth to make the turn in a 2-under-par 33 and then clinched matters with a 10-footer for a birdie at the 17th when Cupit was making a mild challenge.

"I just go out there and hit the ball," he said. "I don't have any plan. When I feel right, when I'm hitting the ball, I can play well on any golf course."

By GEOFFREY MILLER

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—America's hopes of winning the Wimbledon men's singles championship—regarded as the most glamorous in amateur tennis—are the britltest in eight years.

McKinley, fourth-seeded, was paired against Colin Drysdale of South Africa and Ralston was down to meet Laci Legenstein, Austria, in other first round matches.

Ralston, a student at Southern California, is the new collegiate champion of the United States. He won the NCAA crown Saturday at Princeton, N.J.

With Rod Laver, of Australia, the Wimbledon winner the last two years, now a professional, the U.S. hopes of winning are considered the brightest since Tony Trabert took the title back to America in 1955.

McKinley, crushed by Laver in the final two years ago, has been training hard since April.

"I'm in good shape and I'm more relaxed than last year," the 22-year-old U.S. Davis Cupper said. "I'm optimistic, but at Wimbledon every match is good."

Last year McKinley, bothered by an arm injury, was upset in the second round by Britain's Mike Hann.

Betting on all sports events is legal in Britain. The odds offered by the bookies show Emerson favored at 7-4 with Manuel Santana of Spain the second choice at 4-1. McKinley and Rafael Osuna, of Mexico another student at Southern Cal, at 13-2 with Ralston and Bob Hewitt of Australia next at 8-1. Ramanathan Krishnan of India and Martin Mulligan, Australia, are 9-1.

Plummer Chosen Top WAC Athlete

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Adolph Plummer, the University of New Mexico senior who shattered the world record for the 440-yard dash, was chosen today as the Western Athletic Conference athlete-of-the-year.

Plummer nosed out another star, Arizona State University's Henry Carr, 51-47, in voting by Associated Press member newspapers and broadcast stations in the WAC area.

Plummer's brilliant, and somewhat fantastic :44.9 clocking for the quarter mile came in the WAC track and field championships May 25.

The 6-foot-4 Brooklyn, N.Y., runner outsprinted his old rival, A-State's Ulis Williams, for the first time in bettering the world standard of :45.7 set by Glenn Davis of Ohio State in 1958.

Plummer, who claims he began running in the Air Force only because it meant better duty, said to Williams after the race, "Man, that's really cutting."

And it was, as Williams also beat the old record in :45.6.

Carr also earned his share of glory. Seven times within four months he equaled or bettered the world record for the 220-yard dash.

The 6-foot-3 Detroit, Mich., sophomore has a best of :20.3—also a new mark. The old standard was :20.5

Carr also ran a leg on A-State's mile relay team—the greatest ever in collegiate competition. The team's 3:04.5 is pending as a world record. The old mark was 3:05.6.

The muscular speedster, who also plays football, led A-State to the first WAC track title by winning the 100 and 220-yard dashes and running on the winning 440 and mile relay teams.

Fortie was the No. 1 crowd pleaser of the WAC's first football season. He was second nationally in rushing with 1,149 yards, second in passing with 814, second in scoring with 86 points and was named to The Associated Press All-America second team.

The 5-11, 167-pound senior's best game was against Arizona, when he passed and rushed for 343 yards in a losing cause. Fortie's heroics often were in losing efforts, as the Cougars were just 5-5.

Others receiving votes:

American Track Team Appears Ready for Reds

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — America's best track and field athletes have made it clear they intend to protect their country's perfect track record against Russia with their record-busting show in the 75th AAU meet here.

A world record 9.1 seconds by husky Bob Hayes of Florida A&M in the 100-yard dash, the first dead heat in AAU history and a dramatic mile race topped the list.

Six meet records fell, two were equalled and an American record was tied. Marks in 10 of the 19 events were the best this season in the United States.

The AAU Track and Field Committee named a team of 51 men and two alternates to represent the j.s. in four major European meet, starting with the Russian meet in Moscow July 20-21.

The team, to be coached by Payton Jordan of Stanford, includes 19 men who scored in the meet with Russia last year, 10 who have scored two straight years and one—Hayes Jones, of Detroit—who has scored in the 110 meter high hurdles in all four Russian meets. Jones tied the meet records of 13.4 in the high hurdles Friday.

Ulis Williams of Arizona State, who again equalled his meet record of 45.8 seconds in the 440-yard dash Saturday, has taken the 400 meters against Russia two straight years. Ralph Boston, the AAU broad jump winner again at 26-10, has won the event two straight years.

Dyrol Burleson of Eugene, Ore., whose blazing finish in the mile set a meet record of 3:56.7, said he felt certain he could leave his insurance job long enough for the Russian meet, but couldn't make the others in Poland, West Germany and England.

Committee Chairman J. B. Haralson indicated the AAU might send burleson to the single meet. Little Tom O'Hara of Chicago Loyola, a close second at 3:56.9 and Marine Lt. Cary Weisiger third at 3:58.5, both were named to the U.S. team.

Jim Beatty of Los Angeles, the favorite and record holder, was fourth at 3:59.2 but was named to the team for the 5,000 meters. Beatty is a two-time winner of the 1,500 meters against Russia.

Seattle, Tacoma Split Coast League Twin Bill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seattle and Tacoma split a Pacific Coast League baseball doubleheader Sunday, but Seattle fans couldn't really complain after the Rainiers' 10-0 victory in the opener.

Bill Tuttle hit a grand slam homer in the game as Bill Spanswich pitched a five-hit shutout. Tacoma won the second contest 9-1.

In other PCL action, Spokane edged San Diego 4-3, Salt Lake City split with Portland, with Salt Lake winning the first game 3-2 and losing the nightcap 9-1, and and Hawaii downed Dallas-Fort Worth 7-5. A scheduled doubleheader between Denver and Oklahoma City was rained out at Oklahoma City.

Tuttle knocked out his grand slam homer to cap a five-run third inning. In the second game in Seattle, Tacoma came up with four double plays to stop the Rainiers. Seattle was scoreless until the seventh frame as Bill Hands picked up the win for Tacoma.

At Spokane, Ken McMullen doubled in Dick Nen in the 10th inning as the Indians downed the Padres. Sa Diego took an early lead when Chico Ruiz homered with one on in the third frame.

It was home run day at Portland, with the big blows deciding each game of the doubleheader. In the first contest, Bob Will hit two homers for Salt Lake City. In the nightcap, Portland sluggers hit four home runs.

Bouton Continues Success Story As Yankees Increase Loop Lead

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

From so-so finisher to super starter-finisher in six weeks—that's the success story of Jim Bouton.

The hefty youngster wrote another winning chapter Sunday in the New York Yankees' 8-0 romp over the Boston Red Sox, firing a four-hitter that helped the Bombers edge a bit further in front in the American League race.

For Bouton, a routine reliever until pressed into the starting rotation six weeks ago, it was victory No. 10. He has nailed eight of those in his 10 starts and has lost just once since his bullpen days—by a 10-0 score.

For the Yanks, it was the third straight victory after an opening game loss in the set at Boston and it pushed the once-surging Red Sox five lengths off the pace.

Next on the Yankees' agenda is a four-game stand at Chicago starting tonight against the second-place White Sox, who slipped two games behind Sunday in a split with Cleveland.

Pete Ward's two-run single in the eighth inning gave Chicago a 2-1 decision over the Indains before Cleveland right-hander Barry Latman tossed a five-hit 2-0 shutout at the White Sox.

Elsewhere in the AL — Al Smith's key hits and Stu Miller's neat relief highlighted Baltimore's 4-1 victory over Minnesota; the Detroit Tigers broke loose for eight runs in the eighth inning and crushed Kansas City 11-2, and Tom Cheney pulled the Washington Senators out of a 10-game losing slump, allowing only four hits in a 4-0 shutout over the Los Angeles Angels.

The Yanks, on the way to their 10th victory in the last 11 games, built up a 4-0 lead as Bouton held the Red Sox hitless until Dick Stuart's leadoff double in the fifth inning. Roger Maris helped put the finishing touches on the rout with his 14th homer in the eighth and a run-scoring single in the ninth.

Bouton, 10-2, recorded his sixth complete game and lowered his earned run average to 2.06. Earl Wilson, forced out with minor shoulder injury suffered in a first-inning collision with teammate Ed Bressoud, was the loser.

Lefty Jack Kralick blanked the White Sox until two were out in the eighth inning of the first game, then singles by Al Weis and Floyd Robinson and a walk loaded the bases, setting the stage for Ward's deciding hit. Ray Herbert won it, with strong two-inning relief from Hoyt Wilhelm.

Latman struck out seven and did not allow a walk in the Tribe's second game victory. Cleveland got its two runs in the first against towering rookie Dave DeBusschere, combining singles by Willie Kirkland and Tito Francona, a hit batsman and an error.

Smith homered, doubled and singled for Baltimore, driving in two runs, scoring one and setting up another. Miller turned the Twins back without a hit after replacing Steve Barber with the bases full and one out in the seventh. Barber won his 11th against five defeats, with Dick Stigman the loser.

The Tigers managed only four singles in its eight-run eighth against the Athletics, but also had the aid of Kansas City's wild pitching and inept fielding.

Bubba Phillips had a triple and three singles in Detroit's 10-hit offense. The A's clipped Mickey Lolich for 11 hits, but the rookie southpaw went the distance as the Tigers beat Kansas City for the third time in a row. Detroit had lost 10 straight before taking on the A's, who have dropped seven of their last eight.

Cheney, notching his fourth shutout for the last-place Senators, permitted only one Angel beyond second base. Larry Osborne, with three hits, and Ed Bribkman, with a two-run double and single, paced Washington's attack. Dan Osinski was the Los Angeles starter and loser.

Onrushing Reds Near Lead in Senior Circuit

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Willey is the only state of Mainer in the major leagues. Warren Spahn is the only Warren Spahn.

To their unique status each added a sparkling performance Sunday.

Willey pitched his third shutout of the season, became the only New York Mets starter who has won as many as he has lost and played the key role in pitching the club out of the National League cellar for the first time ever as late as June.

Spahn beat the San Francisco Giants 10-4 for his 10th victory, eighth complete game and 337th career win, and hit his 33rd home run, high for National League pitchers.

Spahn's victory kept the second place Giants from moving up on the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, who fell to the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3.

While the leaders were faltering, the Cincinnati Reds charged to within one game of the top by sweeping a double header from the punchless Houston Colts, 4-0 and 8-1. The Colts fell into 10th place.

Willey won the first game of a doubleheader over the Philadelphia Phils 5-0, and Tracy Stallard, with ninth-inning help from Al Jackson, won the second 4-1.

In the American League, the New York Yankees walloped the Boston Red Sox 8-0 for their 10th win in 11 games, and fattened their league lead to two games. The second-place Chicago White Sox split with Cleveland, winning 2-1 and losing 2-0. Baltimore edged Minnesota 4-1, Washington took Los Angeles 4-0 and Detroit topped Kansas City 11-2.

Willey, 32, was born in Cherryfield, Maine, and even speaks to umpires with a broad A. He set the Phils down with two hits, triples by Johnny Callison in the fourth and Tony Taylor in the sixth, and evened his record at 6-6, best on the Mets.

The Mets had been last since May 10, and were in the same spot from May on last year.

Jimmy Piersall hit his first homer as a Met in the first game, his 100th of his career, and celebrated the occasion by circling the bases running backwards. Triples by Sammy Taylor and Al Moran and Ron Hunt's homer were the big blows in the second game.

Spahn gave up homers to Harvey Kuenn and Tom Haller and trailed 3-2 after Hank Aaron's 21st home run for the Braves. With one out in the fifth, the fantastic 42-year-old left-hander homered off Jack Sanford to tie the score. That set off a seven-run inning.

Bob Purkey threw the first game shutout for the Reds over the Colts, the first complete game this season for the sore-armed right-hander who won 23 games last year. It was the fourth straight shutout defeat for the Colts, tying a major league mark, and the sixth straight victory for the Reds.

They made it seven in the second game behind Joe Nuxhall and Don Zanni, who pitched the last two innings. Houston finally scored in the second inning, after 40 scoreless innings.

Johnny Edwards hit a three-run homer for the Reds in the opener and Bob Skinner, Vada Pinson and Jesse Gonder homered in the second game.

Jim Gilliam's three-run homer off Ernie Broglio carried the Dodgers to victory and to within 1½ games of the lead. Gilliam hit it in the fifth after a walk and Maury Wills' single.

The winning pitcher was Bob Miller, who took over for starter Johnny Podres in the first after Dick Groat had hit a two-run homer. Miller went six and allowed the other run, and Ron Peranowski finished up.

Miss Wright Takes Rest After Victory

"I'll play this week on Long Island and then head for Texas and a little fishing," Miss Wright said Sunday after winning her second straight Women's Western Open Championship with a 4-under-par 292 in the 72-hole classic at the Maple Bluff Country Club.

Miss Wright, the top money winner since 1961, pocketed $1,200 boosting her earnings for the year to $12,332. She has won 7 of the 11 tournaments she has played this season.

Miss Wright fired a 4-over-par 78 and trailed by six strokes after the first round. Then she put together successive rounds of 70, 71 and 73 as the rest of the field of more than 100 amateurs and pros wilted on the narrow, tricky course.

Bouton Continues Success Story As Yankees Increase Loop Lead

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

From so-so finisher to super starter-finisher in six weeks—that's the success story of Jim Bouton.

The hefty youngster wrote another winning chapter Sunday in the New York Yankees' 8-0 romp over the Boston Red Sox, firing a four-hitter that helped the Bombers edge a bit further in front in the American League race.

For Bouton, a routine reliever until pressed into the starting rotation six weeks ago, it was victory No. 10. He has nailed eight of those in his 10 starts and has lost just once since his bullpen days—by a 10-0 score.

For the Yanks, it was the third straight victory after an opening game loss in the set at Boston and it pushed the once-surging Red Sox five lengths off the pace.

Next on the Yankees' agenda is a four-game stand at Chicago starting tonight against the second-place White Sox, who slipped two games behind Sunday in a split with Cleveland.

Pete Ward's two-run single in the eighth inning gave Chicago a 2-1 decision over the Indains before Cleveland right-hander Barry Latman tossed a five-hit 2-0 shutout at the White Sox.

Elsewhere in the AL — Al Smith's key hits and Stu Miller's neat relief highlighted Baltimore's 4-1 victory over Minnesota; the Detroit Tigers broke loose for eight runs in the eighth inning and crushed Kansas City 11-2; and Tom Cheney pulled the Washington Senators out of a 10-game losing slump, allowing only four hits in a 4-0 shutout over the Los Angeles Angels.

The Yanks, on the way to their 10th victory in the last 11 games, built up a 4-0 lead as Bouton held the Red Sox hitless until Dick Stuart's leadoff double in the fifth inning. Roger Maris helped put the finishing touches on the rout with his 14th homer in the eighth and a run-scoring single in the ninth.

Bouton, 10-2, recorded his sixth complete game and lowered his earned run average to 2.06. Earl Wilson, forced out with minor shoulder injury suffered in a first-inning collision with teammate Ed Bressoud, was the loser.

Lefty Jack Kralick blanked the White Sox until two were out in the eighth inning of the first game, then singles by Al Weis and Floyd Robinson and a walk loaded the bases, setting the stage for Ward's deciding hit. Ray Herbert won it, with strong two-inning relief from Hoyt Wilhelm.

Latman struck out seven and did not allow a walk in the Tribe's second game victory. Cleveland got its two runs in the first against towering rookie Dave DeBusschere, combining singles by Willie Kirkland and Titi Francona, a hit batsman and an error.

Smith homered, doubled and singled for Baltimore, driving in two runs, scoring one and setting up another. Miller turned the Twins back without a hit after replacing Steve Barber with the bases full and one out in the seventh. Barber won his 11th against five defeats, with Dick Stigman the loser.

The Tigers managed only four singles in its eight-run eighth against the Athletics, but also had the aid of Kansas City's wild pitching and inept fielding.

Bubba Phillips had a triple and three singles in Detroit's 10-hit offense. The A's clipped Mickey Lolich for 11 hits, but the rookie southpaw went the distance as the Tigers beat Kansas City for the third time in a row. Detroit had lost 10 straight before taking on the A's, who have dropped seven of their last eight.

Cheney, notching his fourth shutout for the last-place Senators, permitted only one Angel beyond second base. Larry Osborne, with three hits, and Ed Bribkman, with a two-run double and single, paced Washington's attack. Dan Osinski was the Los Angeles starter and loser.

Miss Wright Takes Rest After Victory

"I'll play this week on Long Island and then head for Texas and a little fishing," Miss Wright said Sunday after winning her second straight Women's Western Open Championship with a 4-under-par 292 in the 72-hole classic at the Maple Bluff Country Club.

Miss Wright, the top money winner since 1961, pocketed $1,200 boosting her earnings for the year to $12,332. She has won 7 of the 11 tournaments she has played this season.

Miss Wright fired a 4-over-par 78 and trailed by six strokes after the first round. Then she put together successive rounds of 70, 71 and 73 as the rest of the field of more than 100 amateurs and pros wilted on the narrow, tricky course.

Onrushing Reds Near Lead in Senior Circuit

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

To their unique status each added a sparkling performance Sunday.

Willey pitched his third shutout of the season, became the only New York Mets starter who has won as many as he has lost and played the key role in pitching the club out of the National League cellar for the first time ever as late as June.

Spahn beat the San Francisco Giants 10-4 for his 10th victory, eighth complete game and 337th career win, and hit his 33rd home run, high for National League pitchers.

Spahn's victory kept the second place Giants from moving up on the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, who fell to the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3.

While the leaders were faltering, the Cincinnati Reds charged to within one game of the top by sweeping a double header from the punchless Houston Colts, 4-0 and 8-1. The Colts fell into 10th place.

Willey won the first game of a doubleheader over the Philadelphia Phils 5-0, and Tracy Stallard, with ninth-inning help from Al Jackson, won the second 4-1.

In the American League, the New York Yankees walloped the Boston Red Sox 8-0 for their 10th win in 11 games, and fattened their league lead to two games. The second-place Chicago White Sox split with Cleveland, winning 2-1 and losing 2-0. Baltimore edged Minnesota 4-1, Washington took Los Angeles 4-0 and Detroit topped Kansas City 11-2.

Willey, 32, was born in Cherryfield, Maine, and even speaks to umpires with a broad A. He set the Phils down with two hits, triples by Johnny Callison in the fourth and Tony Taylor in the sixth, and evened his record at 6-6, best on the Mets.

The Mets had been last since May 10, and were in the same spot from May on last year.

Jimmy Piersall hit his first homer as a Met in the first game, his 100th of his career, and celebrated the occasion by circling the bases running backwards. Triples by Sammy Taylor and Al Moran and Ron Hunt's homer were the big blows in the second game.

Spahn gave up homers to Harvey Kuenn and Tom Haller and trailed 3-2 after Hank Aaron's 21st home run for the Braves. With one out in the fifth, the fantastic 42-year-old left-hander homered off Jack Sanford to tie the score. That set off a seven-run inning.

Bob Purkey threw the first game shutout for the Reds over the Colts, the first complete game this season for the sore-armed right-hander who won 23 games last year. It was the fourth straight shutout defeat for the Colts, tying a major league mark, and the sixth straight victory for the Reds.

They made it seven in the second game behind Joe Nuxhall and Don Zanni, who pitched the last two innings. Houston finally scored in the second inning, after 40 scoreless innings.

Johnny Edwards hit a three-run homer for the Reds in the opener and Bob Skinner, Vada Pinson and Jesse Gonder homered in the second game.

Jim Gilliam's three-run homer off Ernie Broglio carried the Dodgers to victory and to within 1½ games of the lead. Gilliam hit it in the fifth after a walk and Maury Wills' single.

The winning pitcher was Bob Miller, who took over for starter Johnny Podres in the first after Dick Groat had hit a two-run homer. Miller went six and allowed the other run, and Ron Peranowski finished up.

Seattle, Tacoma Split Coast League Twin Bill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seattle and Tacoma split a Pacific Coast League baseball doubleheader Sunday, but Seattle fans couldn't really complain after the Rainiers' 10-0 victory in the opener.

Bill Tuttle hit a grand slam homer in the game as Bill Spanswich pitched a five-hit shutout. Tacoma won the second contest 3-1.

In other PCL action, Spokane edged San Diego 4-3, Salt Lake City split with Portland, with Salt Lake winning the first game 3-2 and losing the nightcap 9-1, and and Hawaii downed Dallas-Fort Worth 75-. A scheduled doubleheader between Denver and Oklahoma City was rained out at Oklahoma City.

Tuttle knocked out his grand slam homer to cap a five-run third inning. In the second game in Seattle, Tacoma came up with four double plays to stop the Rainiers. Seattle was scoreless until the seventh frame as Bill Hands picked up the win for Tacoma.

At Spokane, Ken McMullen doubled in Dick Nen in the 10th inning as the Indians downed the Padres. Sa Diego took an early lead when Chico Ruiz homered with one on in the third frame.

It was home run day at Portland, with the big blows deciding each game of the doubleheader. In the first contest, Bob Will hit two homers for Salt Lake City. In the nightcap, Portland sluggers hit four home runs.

Goren on Bridge

By CHARLES H. GOREN

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

By CHARLES H. GOREN

Q. 1—As South you hold:
Spades, 9-5; Hearts, Q-10-7-2; Diamonds, Q-4; Clubs, A-K-9-8-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 Dia.	1 Spd.	2 Clbs.
Pass	2 Dia.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — Three diamonds. Raising with only a doubleton honor may seem a little risky, but is acceptable after partner has rebid his suit when no convenient call is available. Partner may now be in position to try three notrump.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
Hearts, A-10-5-4; Diamonds, A-K-Q-10-5; Clubs, K-9-6-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Dia.	Pass	1 Spd.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two clubs. Although you are in possession of a fine hand caution should be the byword, since no fit has as yet been established. A rebid of two clubs is best calculated to offer encouragement to partner to continue without crowding the auction.

Q. 3—As South you hold
Spades, A-10; Hearts, A-Q-10-5; Diamonds, K-10-6; Clubs, A-J-6-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Clb.	Dbl.	Pass	1 Dia.

What do you bid now?

A. — One notrump The tens made this hand a shade too strong to open with one notrump. When the bid is employed at this juncture in single-handed competition with the opposition, partner should play you for a very good hand.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
Spades, A-K-9; Hearts, 7-4; Diamonds, K-Q-2; Clubs, A-Q-9-7-5.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 Spd.	Pass	3 Clbs.	Pass
3 Spds.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. Your main concern is with the heart situation (partner could have a sound opening bid without either top heart honor) and Blackwood will not help you to the answer. The best procedure is to make a false cue bid of four diamonds and follow it up by overbidding the game in spades. If partner can stop the opponents from winning two heart tricks, he will be able to proceed to a slam on even the barest of minimums.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
Spades, 6-3; Hearts, 7-2; Diamonds, 10-6-3; Clubs, A-K-10-8-5-4.

Your partner opens with one 8otrump.

What is your response?

A.—Three notrump. True, you can't count up to the required 26 points, but the compensating feature of a six card suit headed by the two top honors makes the bid a reasonable speculation. Since partner must not make a one notrump opening without at least Qx or x x x in clubs, chances of running the entire suit are good.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
Spades, K-10-7-4; Hearts, 6-3; Diamonds, K-Q-J-9-3; Clubs, 4-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Dia.	Pass
1 Hrt.	Pass	1 Spd.	Pass
1 N.T.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner has shown a minimum type opening and opposite your nine points no game can be in contemplation. You do not have reason to seek a better parking place and a pass is clearly indicated.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
Spades, 7-6; Hearts, K-Q-10-5; Diamonds, A-J-4-2; Clubs, A-J-10.

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 Hrt.	2 Clbs.	Pass
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — Two diamonds. Although chances for game are just about nil since partner was unable to make a free bid, some further competition should be offered to prevent the opponents from making off with a cheap part score. You may succeed in driving them one level higher than they can afford to go.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
Spades, 4-2; Hearts, A-Q-J-9-5-2; Diamonds, Q-J-2; Clubs, 7.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
3 Dia.	Pass	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Three hearts. This holding does not of itself contain the prescribed values for a competitive bid at the three level but, under the circumstances, such action is recommended. West has announced a very weak hand and East did not have enough to go on so your partner is definitely marked with some values. If he has a good fit, there may even be a game in the offing.

Frankfurt City Reported to Be 'Very American'

By JOHN BAUSMAN

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —A red sandstone church, built in unusual circular form and located in downtown Frankfurt, was a special historical significance for Germans.

It is the St. Paul's church and, along with Frankfurt's convenient central location, is one of the main reasons why President Kennedy is stopping off at this fifth largest city of West Germany Tuesday.

The neo-classical St. Paul's church, or Paulskirche as it is known to Germans, was built in the early 19th century and seems architecturally insignificant when compared with Europe's inspiring cathedrals.

But the Paulskirche has the king of tradition that suits Kennedy and provides an appropriate setting for his major speech in Germany.

It was here that the German states held a national assembly in 1848 in an attempt to unify the country under a liberal constitution. The effort failed, but the church remained a symbol of German liberal nationalism.

Like more than a third of all Frankfurt buildings, it was destroyed in World War II. Soon after the war, money was collected for its reconstruction as a congress hall and memorial to mark the 100th anniversary of the original Paulskirche assembly.

The modern design of many other buildings in rebuilt Frankfurt has given the city what some Germans regard as an "American" look. The continuous presence of American soldiers in and around the town since the end of World War II also has had its influence.

Across the Main River in the old Sachsenhausen section are crooked little streets where crowded taverns sell sour-tasting apple wine and strong-smelling cheese.

Frankfurt is the home of 680,000 persons and, excluding West Berlin, is West Germany's fifth largest city, after Hamburg, Munich, Cologne and Essen. It is the country's chief banking center, continuing in the tradition of the famous banking family of Rothschild.

Another occasion that brought early visitors to the city was the election and coronation of German emperors of the Holy Roman Empire. The first of 24 emperors to be crowned in Frankfurt was Frederick Barbaróssa in 1152.

The original emperor's hall on the old Town Square, the scene of lavish coronation feasts, was destroyed in World War II.

Titan Is Ready For War But Not For Peace Job

By RALPH DIGHTON

NORTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The silo-launched, super-payload Titan 2 is ready for war—but not for its prime peacetime job: lofting the two-man Gemini capsule into space.

The Air Force and the civilian space agency have begun intensive research to reduce bone-rattling vibrations set up during the burning of Titan 2's 430,000-pound-thrust first-stage engine. They say they are close to solving the problem.

These longitudinal vibrations are enough to bounce an astronaut up and down so hard he would have difficulty operating his controls for several critical seconds during launch. They do not interfere with Titan 2's effectiveness as a missile.

Its nuclear payload is designed to withstand much worse jolting —even the nearby explosion of an antimissile rocket would not put the giant warhead out of action.

Human payloads, however, are more delicate. No one is sure just how much jouncing an astronaut can take, but there is general agreement that the one-half "G" stress would at least impair the effectiveness of the two men in a Gemini capsule.

The "G" stands for gravity. An extra half gravity load means the astronauts would be bouncing up and down just as if they were driving on an extremely bumpy road at high speed.

The worst of it is, the bouncing comes at a critical times—when the astronauts must make decisions and push buttons to eject themselves in case the missile should blow up on the pad.

In Atlas-boosted Mercury capsules, malfunction detection is automatic. In the Titan-Gemini system, however, plans call for the final decision to rest with the pilots.

The cause of the vibration is secret.

Since Titan 2 is the core around which huge solid rockets will be strapped to form Titan 3 — proposed booster for many future space vehicles, such as the X20 Dyna-Soar orbital glider—they vibration problem has caused much concern.

Brig. Gen. John L. McCoy, Titan boss in the blassitic systems division here, acknowledges the vibration problem, but says he is confident it will be whipped.

"The Gemini calendar calls for manned launchings in late 1964 or 1965," General McCoy said in an interview. "The Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration have common objectives in man-rating the Titan 2. I am confident we will have the Titan 2 ready in time to meet NASA's schedule."

McCoy said centrifuge tests are under way to determine exactly how much vibration an astronaut can take and still function effectively, and certain secret modifications are being made of the Titan 2 to reduce vibration to this level.

"We are very close to solving the problem," he said. "We are doing several things to help meet NASA's requirements. For instance, in some test launchings the Titan 2 carries parts of the malfunction detection system piggyback. This is several hundred pounds the combat bird would not carry, but it is helping us reach a solution.

"We also are carrying piggyback some elements of the Gemini guidance system and redundant actuators for flight control—all to increase the reliability of Titan 2 as a man vehicle."

McCoy also disclosed for the first time that Titan 2, although capable of carrying a bigger weapon farther than Titan 1, costs much less.

In a wide-ranging interview based on Titan 2's recent achievement of operational status, McCoy placed the cost of the 54 Titan 1's now operational to $200 million for ech of six squadrons.

Total cost of the 54 Titan 2's to be emplaced by the end of the year, he said, will run about 30 per cent less.

The reason: Titan 1 must be elevated from its silo before firing. Titan 2 is launched from the bottom of its 155-foot concrete pit and much costly, elevator hardware and electrical systems have been eliminated.

The exact yield of Titan warheads is classified, but published reports place it in the multimegaton range, equivalent to millions of tons of TNT.

The tital thrust of Titan 2's two stages, 530,000 pounds, is an indication of how much more it can carry than the Atlas, which has 360,000 pounds of thrust.

The dog was one of 20 entries in the class which attracted exhibitors from Nebraska, Okahoma and Kansas as well as Colorado.

Judge for the event was H. Wilson from Wisconsin.

Four Injured In Collision

Four persons were injured in a head-on collision 6 miles west of Divide on U.S. Highway 24 Saturday night, the State Patrol reported.

A passenger in one of the cars, Joseph Mock (no age given) of Johnstown, Pa., was taken to Penrose Hospital by private car with facial injuries. The driver of the car, Walter T. Kiser, 54, 3100 Wood Ave., was uninjured, according to the report.

Three persons in the other car were also taken to Penrose by private car.

Lawson Noble, 54, 710 Iowa St. received a bump on the head in the wreck. Mabel Noble, 50, of the same address, received a facial injury and David Noble, 11, suffered bruises and abrasions.

According to State Patrolman Donald Hower, the car driven by Kiser was east bound on U.S. 24 when it passed another vehicle and met the Noble car head-on in a curve. Hower estimated there was $500 worth of damage done to each car.

Instigator of Imperial Plays Back for 'Partner'

Memories of the first melodrama at the Imperial Hotel in Cripple Creek were revived last Friday night when Howard (Doc) Yates of Denver, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, revisited the Imperial for the first time in several years to see this summer's production, "My Partner."

It was "Doc" Yates, then secretary of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, who put in a request for "some kind of entertainment" that led to the organization of the Imperial Players.

Yates was arranging a dinner party at the Imperial Hotel in the fall of 1947 for the National Chamber of Commerce Secretaries Association who were to meet in Colorado Springs. He called Wayne and Dorothy Mackin, who had only recently purchased the historic Imperial and reopened it as a tourist hostelry, and asked that they provide some kind of entertainment for his guests.

The Mackins had read a letter in Molly Mayfield's column from a co-operative group of young actors who were looking for a mountain location for their melodrama company. When contacted by the Mackins, they agreed to do a one night stand for the convention group. The production was such a success that the Mackins asked the players to return the next summer for the first annual melodrama season.

Since that time "Doc" Yates has taken a special interest in the Cripple Creek enterprise. He was one of a group of Chamber of Commerce managers who were guests last Friday night of the Mackins for dinner and the 1963 production of "My Partner" or "A Rose With A Broken Stem."

Yates was recently elected president of the Rocky Mountain Region Association of secretaries of Chambers of Commerce. He is also an ex-vice president of the State Chamber of Commerce. With him on the trip to Cripple Creek were Mrs. Yates and their daughter, Mrs. Tom Bloom and her children, Barbara and Charles, from Idaho Falls, Ida.

JFK Cautions Negro Leadership

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy cautioned a divided Negro leadership Saturday against violent demonstrations—or those that breed violence — in their antisegregation drive.

He reportedly questioned the wisdom of a mass demonstration in Washington—which might converge 100,000 marchers on Capitol Hill — but the Nergo leaders indicated it will be carried out if the administration's civil rights legislation is blocked by a Senate filibuster.

The President did not ask for a complete halt to demonstrations which have been staged recently in the streets of scores of Southern and Northern cities. And, after the White House session, Negro spokesmen who differ on some points agreed there is no prospect of an end to demonstrations until their causes are resolved.

But all pledged every effort to keep them peaceful.

Both Negro and white desegregation leaders assured the President of their all-out support for his pending civil rights legislation. Some Negroes told newsmen that demonstrations will be used to dramatize this support and these manifestations may be climaxed in August by a mass march on Washington.

Saturday's White House conference concluded, at least temporarily, Kennedy's unprecedented series of personal appeals to small groups of leaders from many fields for a voluntary and peaceful end to segregation in public places, private business, housing, labor unions, churches and schools.

Before leaving Washington for a 10-day trip to Europe, Kennedy took another step to help Negroes get jobs when he signed an order setting forth procedures under which funds can be denied to employers on federal projects who deny employment to Negroes on a racial basis or allow unions to do so.

It seemed obvious that one aim of Saturday's White House meeting of 30 desegregation advocates was to achieve some greater degree of unity and cooperation among Negro leaders whose division over methods — and financing—has come forcefully into the open in the past week.

Underscoring this objective was the fact that the President before the general meeting had one private, 30-minute session with Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and another with the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

It was Wilkins who in a speech last Sunday charged that other groups "furnish the noise" while the NAACP does the hard, continuing work "and pays the bills" in desegregation campaign.

For years, the NAACP confined its activities largely to court attacks on segregation. In recent months it has been becoming more militant but not so much so as some other groups, notably the Congress of Racial Equality. Wilkins castigated CORE severely in his Sunday talk.

King had no comment Saturday on Wilkins' criticism of the SCLC. Wilkins said King is a friend of his and the Sunday speech should not be regarded as evidence of a split between their two organizations.

James Farmer, national secretary of CORE, was among those at Saturday's session but he had no comment on Wilkins' indictments of CORE.

King told newsmen that in their talk Kennedy questioned the advisability of the proposed Washington demonstrations — on the ground that they might cost the administration program votes in Congress and might lead to violence.

"I told him," King said, "that massive demonstrations in Washington would support his efforts and legislation rather than stand in the way of implementation."

King said he disagrees with the theory that a march of 100,000 persons could not be carried out without violence.

King added that if a filibuster develops and blocks a vote in the Senate — which is generally regarded as almost certain — "we will have no alternative but to have some creative, nonviolent, peaceful demonstrations" at the capital.

Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union and one of the white participants, said he could see no objection to some Washington demonstration.

Beach Riot by Youths Broken Up by Police

JONES BEACH, N.Y. (AP) — Police broke up a free-for-all in a beach parking lot Sunday and hauled off 10 bathing-suit-clad young men on disorderly conduct charges.

"Too much beer, too much sun and too much youth," was one park policeman's description of the disturbance involving about 100 youths fighting with fists and beer cans.

A few black eyes and bloody noses were the only injuries.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

By CHARLES H. GOREN

Q. 1—As South you hold: Spades, 9-5; Hearts, Q-10-7-2; Diamonds, Q-4; Clubs, A-K-9-8-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 Dia.	1 Spd.	2 Clbs.
Pass	2 Dia.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — Three diamonds. Raising with only a doubleton honor may seem a little risky, but is acceptable after partner has rebid his suit when no convenient call is available. Partner may now be in position to try three notrump.

Q. 2—As South you hold: Hearts, A-10-5-4; Diamonds, A-K-Q-10-5; Clubs, K-9-6-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Dia.	Pass	1 Spd.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two clubs. Although you are in possession of a fine hand caution should be the byword, since no fit has as yet been established. A rebid of two clubs is best calculated to offer encouragement to partner to continue without crowding the auction.

Q. 3—As South you hold Spades, A-10; Hearts, A-Q-10-5; Diamonds, K-10-6; Clubs, A-J-6-2.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Clb.	Dbl.	Pass	1 Dia.

What do you bid now?

A. — One notrump. The tens made this hand a shade too strong to open with one notrump. When the bid is employed at this juncture in single-handed competition with the opposition, partner should play you for a very good hand.

Q. 4—As South you hold: Spades, A-K-9; Hearts, 7-4; Diamonds, K-Q-2; Clubs, A-Q-9-7-5.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 Spd.	Pass	3 Clbs.	Pass
3 Spds.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. Your main concern is with the heart situation (partner could have a sound opening bid without either top heart honor) and Blackwood will not help you to the answer. The best procedure is to make a false cue bid of four diamonds and follow it up by overbidding the game in spades. If partner can stop the opponents from winning two heart tricks, he will be able to proceed to a slam on even the barest of minimums.

Q. 5—As South you hold: Spades, 6-3; Hearts, 7-2; Diamonds, 10-6-3; Clubs, A-K-10-8-5-4.

Your partner opens with one 8otrump.

What is your response?

A.—Three notrump. True, you can't count up to the required 26 points, but the compensating feature of a six card suit headed by the two top honors makes the bid a reasonable speculation. Since partner must not make a one notrump opening without at least Qx or x x x in clubs, chances of running the entire suit are good.

Q. 6—As South you hold: Spades, K-10-7-4; Hearts, 6-3; Diamonds, K-Q-J-9-3; Clubs, 4-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Dia.	Pass
1 Hrt.	Pass	1 Spd.	Pass
1 N.T.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner has shown a minimum type opening and opposite your nine points no game can be in contemplation. You do not have reason to seek a better parking place and a pass is clearly indicated.

Q. 7—As South you hold: Spades, 7-6; Hearts, K-Q-10-5; Diamonds, A-J-4-2; Clubs, A-J-10.

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 Hrt.	2 Clbs.	Pass
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — Two diamonds. Although chances for game are just about nil since partner was unable to make a free bid, some further competition should be offered to prevent the opponents from making off with a cheap part score. You may succeed in driving them one level higher than they can afford to go.

Q. 8—As South you hold: Spades, 4-2; Hearts, A-Q-J-9-5-2; Diamonds, Q-J-2; Clubs, -7.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
3 Dia.	Pass	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Three hearts. This holding does not of itself contain the prescribed values for a competitive bid at the three level but, under the circumstances, such action is recommended. West has announced a very weak hand and East did not have enough to go on so your partner is definitely marked with some values. If he has a good fit, there may even be a game in the offing.

Frankfurt City Reported to Be 'Very American'

By JOHN BAUSMAN

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —A red sandstone church, built in unusual circular form and located in downtown Frankfurt, was a special historical significance for Germans.

It is the St. Paul's church and, along with Frankfurt's convenient central location, is one of the main reasons why President Kennedy is stopping off at this fifth largest city of West Germany Tuesday.

The neo-classical St. Paul's church, or Paulskirche as it is known to Germans, was built in the early 19th century and seems architecturally insignificant when compared with Europe's inspiring cathedrals.

But the Paulskirche has the king of tradition that suits Kennedy and provides an appropriate setting for his major speech in Germany.

It was here that the German states held a national assembly in 1848 in an attempt to unify the country under a liberal constitution. The effort failed, but the church remained a symbol of German liberal nationalism.

Like more than a third of all Frankfurt buildings, it was destroyed in World War II. Soon after the war, money was collected for its reconstruction as a congress hall and memorial to mark the 100th anniversary of the original Paulskirche assembly.

The modern design of many other buildings in rebuilt Frankfurt has given the city what some Germans regard as an "American" look. The continuous presence of American soldiers in and around the town since the end of World War II also has had its influence.

To the American visitor the city still is very German, with outdoor cafes, beer and sausage stands, fountains and flower pots on busy squares.

Frankfurt is the home of 680,000 persons and, excluding West Berlin, is West Germany's fifth largest city, after Hamburg, Munich, Cologne and Essen. It is the country's chief banking center, continuing in the tradition of the famous banking family of Rothschild.

Another occasion that brought early visitors to the city was the election and coronation of German emperors of the Holy Roman Empire. The first of 24 emperors to be crowned in Frankfurt was Frederick Barbarossa in 1152.

The original emperor's hall on the old Town Square, the scene of lavish coronation feasts, was destroyed in World War II.

Titan Is Ready For War But Not For Peace Job

By RALPH DIGHTON

NORTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The silo-launched, super-payload Titan 2 is ready for war—but not for its prime peacetime job: lofting the two-man Gemini capsule into space.

The Air Force and the civilian space agency have begun intensive research to reduce bone-rattling vibrations set up during the burning of Titan 2's 430,000-pound-thrust first-stage engine. They say they are close to solving the problem.

These longitudinal vibrations are enough to bounce an astronaut up and down so hard he would have difficulty operating his controls for several critical seconds during launch. They do not interfere with Titan 2's effectiveness as a missile.

Its nuclear payload is designed to withstand much worse jolting —even the nearby explosion of an antimissile rocket would not put the giant warhead out of action.

Human payloads, however, are more delicate. No one is sure just how much jouncing an astronaut can take, but there is general agreement that the one-half "G" stress would at least impair the effectiveness of the two men in a Gemini capsule.

The "G" stands for gravity. An extra half gravity load means the astronauts would be bouncing up and down just as if they were driving on an extremely bumpy road at high speed.

The worst of it is, the bouncing comes at a critical times—when the astronauts must make decisions and push buttons to eject themselves in case the missile should blow up on the pad.

In Atlas-boosted Mercury capsules, malfunction detection is automatic. In the Titan-Gemini system, however, plans call for the final decision to rest with the pilots.

The cause of the vibration is secret.

Since Titan 2 is the core around which huge solid rockets will be strapped to form Titan 3 — proposed booster for many future space vehicles, such as the X20 Dyna-Soar orbital glider—they vibration problem has caused much concern.

Brig. Gen. John L. McCoy, Titan boss in the blassitic systems division here, acknowledges the vibration problem, but says he is confident it will be whipped.

"The Gemini calendar calls for manned launchings in late 1964 or 1965," General McCoy said in an interview. "The Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration have common objectives in man-rating the Titan 2. I am confident we will have the Titan 2 ready in time to meet NASA's schedule."

McCoy said centrifuge tests are under way to determine exactly how much vibration an astronaut can take and still function effectively, and certain secret modifications are being made of the Titan 2 to reduce vibration to this level.

"We are very close to solving the problem," he said. "We are doing several things to help meet NASA's requirements. For instance, in some test launchings the Titan 2 carries parts of the malfunction detection system piggyback. This is several hundred pounds the combat bird would not carry, but it is helping us reach a solution.

"We also are carrying piggyback some elements of the Gemini guidance system and redundant actuators for flight control—all to increase the reliability of Titan 2 as a man vehicle."

McCoy also disclosed for the first time that Titan 2, although capable of carrying a bigger weapon farther than Titan 1, costs much less.

In a wide-ranging interview based on Titan 2's recent achievement of operational status, McCoy placed the cost of the 54 Titan 1's now operational to $200 million for ech of six squadrons.

Total cost of the 54 Titan 2's to be emplaced by the end of the year, he said, will run about 30 per cent less.

The reason: Titan 1 must be elevated from its silo before firing. Titan 2 is launched from the bottom of its 155-foot concrete pit and much costly, elevator hardware and electrical systems have been eliminated.

The exact yield of Titan warheads is classified, but published reports place it in the multimegaton range, equivalent to millions of tons of TNT.

The tital thrust of Titan 2's two stages, 530,000 pounds, is an indication of how much more it can carry than the Atlas, which has 360,000 pounds of thrust.

Four Injured In Collision

Four persons were injured in a head-on collision 6 miles west of Divide on U.S. Highway 24 Saturday night, the State Patrol reported.

A passenger in one of the cars, Joseph Mock (no age given) of Johnstown, Pa., was taken to Penrose Hospital by private car with facial injuries. The driver of the car, Walter T. Kiser, 54, 3100 Wood Ave., was uninjured, according to the report.

Three persons in the other car were also taken to Penrose by private car.

Lawson Noble, 54, 710 Iowa St. received a bump on the head in the wreck. Mabel Noble, 50, of the same address, received a facial injury and David Noble, 11, suffered bruises and abrasions.

According to State Patrolman Donald Hower, the car driven by Kiser was east bound on U.S. 24 when it passed another vehicle and met the Noble car head-on in a curve. Hower estimated there was $500 worth of damage done to each car.

Instigator of Imperial Plays Back for 'Partner'

Memories of the first melodrama at the Imperial Hotel in Cripple Creek were revived last Friday night when Howard (Doc) Yates of Denver, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, revisited the Imperial for the first time in several years to see this summer's production, "My Partner."

It was "Doc" Yates, then secretary of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, who put in a request for "some kind of entertainment" that led to the organization of the Imperial Players.

Yates was arranging a dinner party at the Imperial Hotel in the fall of 1947 for the National Chamber of Commerce Secretaries Association who were to meet in Colorado Springs. He called Wayne and Dorothy Mackin, who had only recently purchased the historic Imperial and reopened it as a tourist hostelry, and asked that they provide some kind of entertainment for his guests.

The Mackins had read a letter in Molly Mayfield's column from a co-operative group of young actors who were looking for a mountain location for their melodrama company. When contacted by the Mackins, they agreed to do a one night stand for the convention group. The production was such a success that the Mackins asked the players to return the next summer for the first annual melodrama season.

Since that time "Doc" Yates has taken a special interest in the Cripple Creek enterprise. He was one of a group of Chamber of Commerce managers who were guests last Friday night of the Mackins for dinner and the 1963 production of "My Partner" or "A Rose With A Broken Stem."

Yates was recently elected president of the Rocky Mountain Region Association of secretaries of Chambers of Commerce. He is also an ex-vice president of the State Chamber of Commerce. With him on the trip to Cripple Creek were Mrs. Yates and their daughter, Mrs. Tom Bloom and her children, Barbara and Charles, from Idaho Falls, Ida.

JFK Cautions Negro Leadership

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy cautioned a divided Negro leadership Saturday against violent demonstrations—or those that breed violence — in their antisegregation drive.

He reportedly questioned the wisdom of a mass demonstration in Washington—which might converge 100,000 marchers on Capitol Hill — but the Nergo leaders indicated it will be carried out if the administration's civil rights legislation is blocked by a Senate filibuster.

The President did not ask for a complete halt to demonstrations which have been staged recently in the streets of scores of Southern and Northern cities. And, after the White House session, Negro spokesmen who differ on some points agreed there is no prospect of an end to demonstrations until their causes are resolved.

But all pledged every effort to keep them peaceful.

Both Negro and white desegregation leaders assured the President of their all-out support for his pending civil rights legislation. Some Negroes told newsmen that demonstrations will be used to dramatize this support and these manifestations may be climaxed in August by a mass march on Washington.

Saturday's White House conference concluded, at least temporarily, Kennedy's unprecedented series of personal appeals to small groups of leaders from many fields for a voluntary and peaceful end to segregation in public places, private business, housing, labor unions, churches and schools.

Before leaving Washington for a 10-day trip to Europe, Kennedy took another step to help Negroes get jobs when he signed an order setting forth procedures under which funds can be denied to employers on federal projects who deny employment to Negroes on a racial basis or allow unions to do so.

It seemed obvious that one aim of Saturday's White House meeting of 30 desegregation advocates was to achieve some greater degree of unity and cooperation among Negro leaders whose division over methods — and financing—has come forcefully into the open in the past week.

Underscoring this objective was the fact that the President before the general meeting had one private, 30-minute session with Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and another with the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

It was Wilkins who in a speech last Sunday charged that other groups "furnish the noise" while the NAACP does the hard, continuing work "and pays the bills" in desegregation campaign.

For years, the NAACP confined its activities largely to court attacks on segregation. In recent months it has been becoming more militant but not so much so as some other groups, notably the Congress of Racial Equality. Wilkins castigated CORE severely in his Sunday talk.

King had no comment Saturday on Wilkins' criticism of the SCLC. Wilkins said King is a friend of his and the Sunday speech should not be regarded as evidence of a split between their two organizations.

James Farmer, national secretary of CORE, was among those at Saturday's session but he had no comment on Wilkins' indictments of CORE.

King told newsmen that in their talk Kennedy questioned the advisability of the proposed Washington demonstrations — on the ground that they might cost the administration program votes in Congress and might lead to violence.

"I told him," King said, "that massive demonstrations in Washington would support his efforts and legislation rather than stand in the way of implementation."

King said he disagrees with the theory that a march of 100,000 persons could not be carried out without violence.

King added that if a filibuster develops and blocks a vote in the Senate — which is generally regarded as almost certain — "we will have no alternative but to have some creative, nonviolent, peaceful demonstrations" at the capital.

Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union and one of the white participants, said he could see no objection to some Washington demonstration.

Beach Riot by Youths Broken Up by Police

JONES BEACH, N.Y. (AP) — Police broke up a free-for-all in a beach parking lot Sunday and hauled off 10 bathing-suit-clad young men on disorderly conduct charges.

"Too much beer, too much sun and too much youth," was one park policeman's description of the disturbance involving about 100 youths fighting with fists and beer cans.

A few black eyes and bloody noses were the only injuries.

The arrested youths, all white, were jailed in Mineola to await arraignment today.

10 Rioters Will Be Put on Trial In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) —The Roman Catholic government of President Mngo Dinh Diem announced Saturday it would shortly put on trial 10 youths arrested in a riot last Sunday. The move heightened tension among Buddhist leaders.

Buddhists have demanded the government release all persons arrested in connection with the riot as a sign of its good faith in carrying out an agreement it signed with Buddhist leaders last Sunday. But a police communique read over Saigon Radio announced start of the trial on charges of assaulting the police.

The agreement was aimed at settling a six-week politico-religious crisis arising from Buddhist charges of government religious descrimination.

A Buddhist spokesman made it clear Saturday that although a "paper" agreement exists, nothing so far has actually been settled.

He described the present relations between the government and Buddhist leaders as a "cold war."

He said if the government does not carry out the agreement of last Sunday to Buddhist satisfaction within two weeks Buddhist leaders will again take up the public struggle.

"We will do something much bigger than before," the spokesman said.

He would not say exactly what Buddhist leaders would do if the government does not carry out the agreement, but it was assumed that the Buddhists would again open their campaign of public protests and possibly more ritual suicides.

The police communique Saturday said 251 persons were arrested Sunday. Most of them were apparently students, but the Buddhist spokesman said Saturday that except for perhaps some women, most remain in jail.

10 Rioters Will Be Put on Trial In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — The Roman Catholic government of President Mngo Dinh Diem announced Saturday it would shortly put on trial 10 youths arrested in a riot last Sunday. The move heightened tension among Buddhist leaders.

Buddhists have demanded the government release all persons arrested in connection with the riot as a sign of its good faith in carrying out an agreement it signed with Buddhist leaders last Sunday. But a police communique read over Saigon Radio announced start of the trial on charges of assaulting the police.

The agreement was aimed at settling a six-week politico-religious crisis arising from Buddhist charges of government religious descrimination.

A Buddhist spokesman made it clear Saturday that although a "paper" agreement exists, nothing so far has actually been settled.

He described the present relations between the government and Buddhist leaders as a "cold war."

He said if the government does not carry out the agreement of last Sunday to Buddhist satisfaction within two weeks Buddhist leaders will again take up the public struggle.

"We will do something much bigger than before," the spokesman said.

He would not say exactly what Buddhist leaders would do if the government does not carry out the agreement, but it was assumed that the Buddhists would again open their campaign of public protests and possibly more ritual suicides.

The police communique Saturday said 251 persons were arrested Sunday. Most of them were apparently students, but the Buddhist spokesman said Saturday that except for perhaps some women, most remain in jail.

No Major Race Violence Seen

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas, once a world symbol of resistance to integration, has so far been spared from the latest and most electrifying rash of racial troubles.

There has been no major racial violence in the state since Little Rock high schools opened on a desegregated basis in September 1959. City police put down with billy clubs and fire hoses a last-ditch march by segregationists then.

There have been minor scuffles, some demonstrations, and a few freedom riders. But integration is advancing in Arkansas on a comparatively peaceful basis.

The Little Rock School Board last week extended integration to its elementary schools, the last phase of school desegregation in the capital city. The first and fourth grades will be integrated in September and more than 110 Negroes will attend once all-white elementary schools, junior highs and high schools.

About 12 other school districts in the state have begun the desegregation process. The University of Arkansas and state colleges all admit Negroes, although few have applied.

Texarkana College, in the Arkansas-Texas border city, lowered its racial barriers to two Negro women two weeks ago. Twenty white college students staged an impromptu protest march.

Lunch counter and movie theatre desegregation was accomplished in Little Rock by a biracial committee.

When the Pine Bluff City Park was integrated two weeks ago, a Negro boy was beaten by a group of white youths. Five were arrested. The Negro was not seriously hurt.

A Negro church at Gillett, 40 miles east of Pine Bluff in southeast Arkansas, was damaged by a dynamite blast last Wednesday, but Sheriff Herold Woodson said it probably was the work of a "transient fanatic." There has been no racial unrest in the small town, he said.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus has stood in the background of the racial picture since his attempt to defy federal court authority in the Little Rock school crisis of 1957. Faubus sent National Guardsmen to Little Rock Central High School to keep nine Negroes out, but President Eisenhower sent federal troops to enforce federal court-ordered integration.

Viet Nam Releases Buddhist Rioters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Government announced Saturday the release of 241 Buddhist rioters, but a spokesman for the religious sect indicated there is still danger of more violence.

Unrest among the Buddhists, the predominant religious sect in South Viet Nam, is threatening the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, which is largely Roman Catholic. The situation has grave implications for the United States, which is supporting the government in its anti-Communist war.

The demonstrators were arrested in rioting Sunday, hours after government and Buddhist leaders reached an agreement in principle on their differences. Ten demonstrators are still being held on charges of assaulting policemen.

Buddhist monks agreed to halt all demonstrations for two weeks to give the government a chance to implement the agreement—including a key demand for release of all arrested for Buddhist activity.

New Delay Seen In Atom-Tipped Anti-Sub Rocket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy's high priority nuclear-tipped anti-submarine missile, Subroc, has suffered new delays and rising development costs as a result of the submarine Thresher's loss last April.

It also was learned Saturday that there has been a setback, because of the tragedy, in development of a new type of sonor system described as a "major improvement" in underwater detection capabilities.

Both the troubled-plagued Subroc and the new sonar, known as BQQ2, were to be tested in the Thresher, which was the first of a large class of high-speed submersibles under construction for the Navy.

Subroc is designed to be fired from a submerged sub, fly through the air to its target and dive underwater for the kill.

At the time the Thresher was lost, the Navy said it was not carrying Subrocs but it offered no additional information.

Congressional testimony just published, and further inquiries in the Navy, now have brought out that expensive testing equipment for Subroc and the new sonar went to the bottom with the Thresher.

Another factor that may or may not affect Subroc's future testing is the restriction the Navy still has on deep diving by the nuclear submarine Plunger, a sister ship of Thresher. Plunger will be the test ship for Subroc. Restrictions to shallow diving were ordered after Thresher's loss and are still in effect, the Navy said Saturday.

New Vice President Is Appointed at CU

BOULDER (AP) — Regents of the University of Colorado announced today the appointment of Dr. Glenn Barnett of the University of Texas as vice president for student affairs.

At Colorado Dr. Barnett will be in charge of all student-related activities, including those now handled by Arthur H. Kiendl Jr., as dean of students.

SHOULD YOU BE THINKING ABOUT RETIREMENT?

WHETHER YOU'RE 35 OR 55, it's time you gave serious thought to "R-Day"—the day when you will retire. That's the advice of Gifford R. Hart, author of "Retirement—a New Outlook for the Individual." Now his observations on a long-range approach to retiring have been compiled in a new booklet—"Planning Ahead For Retirement"—which is yours for the asking from New York Life.

According to Mr. Hart (who retired at a comparatively early age), the more planning you put into retirement, the more it will yield in return.

WHY PLAN AHEAD?

For one thing, it's important to be psychologically armed against possible "retirement shock." Though there seems to be no statistical truth in tales of physical deterioration or inevitable sudden death when a man retires, there are emotional factors to consider. If you have thoughtfully mapped out when you can retire, where you and your wife would like to live, how you can spend your newly earned leisure most profitably, you're almost sure to make mental adjustments with greater ease. And Mr. Hart's booklet can help you do this.

A NEW LIFE—EMOTIONALLY, FINANCIALLY

"For the first time in years you're free—free from tension, among other things, but also free from certain larger responsibilities and duties which, though they may have weighed heavily on you at times, did nevertheless help fill your days with a sense of accomplishment and purpose. This is something you may miss . . . this feeling of worthwhileness."

Along with the need for feeling worthwhile, you'll also want the stability of economic security. Without prejudice, Mr. Hart reviews a number of ways that you can start saving now to supplement Social Security and other minimal retirement income. Most of all, "forget the word 'retirement.' . . . Think of your emergence from business as graduation, or rebirth or escape: the long delayed chance to live your life as it should be lived . . ."

FIRSTHAND ADVICE—YOURS FREE

Although each individual's case varies, there are basic steps that all men should be taking to assure a richer, fuller retirement. And so Gifford Hart's program is of universal interest to younger and older people alike. For your free copy of this informative booklet, send the coupon, or ask your New York Life Agent. The New York Life Agent in Your Community is a Good Man to Know.

Viet Nam Releases Buddhist Rioters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— The Government announced Saturday the release of 241 Buddhist rioters, but a spokesman for the religious sect indicated there is still danger of more violence.

Unrest among the Buddhists, the predominant religious sect in South Viet Nam, is threatening the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, which is largely Roman Catholic. The situation has grave implications for the United States, which is supporting the government in its anti-Communist war.

The demonstrators were arrested in rioting Sunday, hours after government and Buddhist leaders reached an agreement in principle on their differences. Ten demonstrators are still being held on charges of assaulting policemen.

Buddhist monks agreed to halt all demonstrations for two weeks to give the government a chance to implement the agreement—including a key demand for release of all arrested for Buddhist activity.

SHOULD YOU BE THINKING ABOUT RETIREMENT?

WHETHER YOU'RE 35 OR 55, it's time you gave serious thought to "R-Day"—the day when you will retire. That's the advice of Gifford R. Hart, author of "Retirement—a New Outlook for the Individual." Now his observations on a long-range approach to retiring have been compiled in a new booklet —"Planning Ahead For Retirement"—which is yours for the asking from New York Life.

According to Mr. Hart (who retired at a comparatively early age), the more planning you put into retirement, the more it will yield in return.

WHY PLAN AHEAD?

For one thing, it's important to be psychologically armed against possible "retirement shock." Though there seems to be no statistical truth in tales of physical deterioration or inevitable sudden death when a man retires, there are emotional factors to consider. If you have thoughtfully mapped out when you can retire, where you and your wife would like to live, how you can spend your newly earned leisure most profitably, you're almost sure to make mental adjustments with greater ease. And Mr. Hart's booklet can help you do this.

"For the first time in years you're free—free from tension, among other things, but also free from certain larger responsibilities and duties which, though they may have weighed heavily on you at times, did nevertheless help fill your days with a sense of accomplishment and purpose. This is something you may miss . . . this feeling of worthwhileness."

Along with the need for feeling worthwhile, you'll also want the stability of economic security. Without prejudice, Mr. Hart reviews a number of ways that you can start saving now to supplement Social Security and other minimal retirement income. Most of all, "forget the word 'retirement.' . . . Think of your emergence from business as graduation, or rebirth or escape: the long delayed chance to live your life as it should be lived . . ."

FIRSTHAND ADVICE—YOURS FREE

Although each individual's case varies, there are basic steps that all men should be taking to assure a richer, fuller retirement. And so Gifford Hart's program is of universal interest to younger and older people alike.
